Flood Of Charges Fired At Demos By G. O. P. Leaders

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—Top republicans accused the Democrats today of preventing victory in Korea, allowing theft of atomic secrets through incompetency, encouraging inflation, and making a farce of corruption investigations.

"Before we can steer the United States to its rightful position in world affairs, we must have Republican leaders in the Senate and the House. Their report, entitled "Republican Accomplishments in the 82nd Congress," obviously was intended as a presidential and congressional campaign document.

In it the two Republicans defended the GOP 80th Congress, attacked vigorously in 1948 by President Truman. The two lawmakers contended that only Republican efforts had saved the country during the 82nd Congress which they said had "muddled to a dismal end" without resolving "the critical issues of our times."

The Republican leaders said the Democratic Congress "failed to bring peace to our nation or to recover for the United States the advantage we once enjoyed in world affairs."

"When the 82nd Congress adjourned, our servicemen were still fighting in Korea and they were held back from victory by the Democrat administration," the report declared.

"Having plunged us into an unnecessary war in Korea, Democrats do not know how to get us out."

Asserting that the Korean War "need never have happened" if American troops had not been withdrawn from the peninsula in 1949, Bridges and Martin said "the Truman administration compounded its tragic mistakes in Korea by tying the hands of the American forces fighting and dying there."

"So determined was the administration to avoid a military victory in Korea that the President summarily dismissed Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose brilliant strategy at Inchon reversed the Communist drive, the report added.

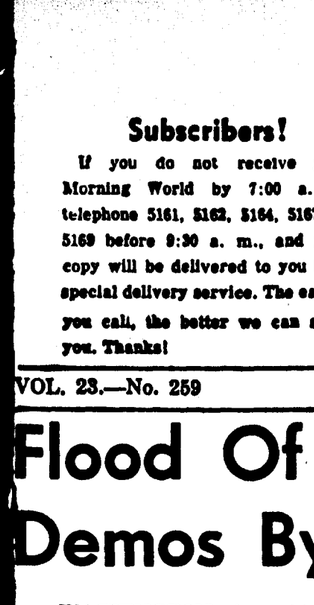

The two Republicans said their party members had "exposed the tactics of the administration which included many inflationary steps to create the appearance of prosperity in order to influence the 1952 elections, while demanding more controls to keep inflation in check."

"Democrats boast of prosperity but their prosperity rests upon government spending, increasing debt, mounting taxes, skyrocketing prices and war," the GOP leaders asserted.

They said President Truman's failure to apply the Taft-Hartley law in the steel strike "cost labor millions of dollars in lost wages and set back the nation's defense for many months."

Turning to the issue of corruption in government, they said the administration had no answer to this probem "except to promise an executive cleanup that ended in a complete farce."

Two important milestones were observed the second week in August by Krafco Container Corporation. This organization has a big plant near Brown Paper Mill near West Monroe.

New officers were elected at a special meeting of the board of directors August 13 at Krafco's principal corrugated container plant in West Monroe. Immediately after the meeting it was announced that Krafco Container had purchased Kraftex Enterprises, Ltd. of Dallas, which has nation-wide distribution of corrugated shipping containers.

It was disclosed that in the four years since formation of the company, Krafco Container's Louisiana plant has become one of the world's largest producers of corrugated boxes.

New chairman of the board of Krafco Container Corporation is George W. Scrimshaw of Dallas, who will retain his duties as president. Other new officers are W. B. Scott, vice - president and general manager; John C. Hunt, Jr., vice - president in charge of sales; C. W. Dodgen, Jr., vice - president in charge of finance. H. G. ## Navy Will Conduct Balloon Experiments

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — The Navy sought today to forestall a rash of flying-saucer reports by announcing plans to launch a series of cross - country balloon flights next week.

The primary purpose of the flight is to "study atmospheric radio wave propagations characteristics by use of balloon-borne electronic equipment," the Navy said in a news release.

Navy spokesmen declined to elaborate. Projects of this kind normally are kept secret, but it was acknowledged this one was being announced in advance to prevent it from adding to public speculation about strange objects in the sky.

The balloons, 37 feet in diameter, will be unmanned and harmless, the Navy said. But they will have aboard delicate electronic equipment which the Navy hopes to recover.

The balloons will be released near Tillamook, Ore., because of the prevailing winds, they are expected to float across the country from west to east.

The first probably will be launched next Monday. Four or five others will be sent up, singly, later this month or early in September

FLASH FLOOD KILLS ELEVEN

35 Others Missing In Terrorized English Village

LYNTON, Eng., Aug. 16 (AP) — Eleven persons were killed and 35 missing today in violent flash floods that spread terror and destruction through Southwest England.

An avalanche of water roared out of the night and struck the slumbering coastal resort village of Lynmouth with the force of a battering ram. Part of the village was swept out to sea, houses and all. Most of what was left was flattened.

Most of Lynmouth's 2,000 residents and vacationers were taken out to nearby Lynton and other towns in the surrounding hills above the sea.

Screams rose above the roar of the waters as scores of residents struggled from their crumbling homes amid the rising floods and sought safety in the hills. Rescuers formed human chains stretching up a 600-foot cliff, passing many of the victims from the flood waters to the dry hills.

Stevenson Silent On Tidelands

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 16 (AP) —Texas' new Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, Price Daniel, has received no answer to his letter asking Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois how he stood on the tidelands question.

Daniel sent three special questions last Wednesday to the Democratic presidential nominee. He also enclosed a brief supporting state ownership of tidelands.

Daniel asked Stevenson if he favored restoration and confirmation of the ownership of lands beneath navigable waters within original state boundaries to the respective states; if he were President would he veto legislation favoring the states; and if he should make such a veto would he have lawsuits filed against the remaining 25 coastal and great lakes states the same as has been done against Texas, California and Louisiana.

Daniel at present is state attorney general and has led Texas' fight in Washington to retain state ownership of Texas' oil-rich submerged lands offshore.

He won the Democratic nomination this summer for the U. S. Senate post being vacated by retiring Sen. Tom Connally, Democrat of Texas.

Gov. Allan Shivers also has asked ship of the tidelands. Shivers said yesterday he planned to go to Illinois next week to see Stevenson to talk about campaign issues.

NEW STUDENTS WILL REGISTER

Transfer Pupils Also To Report Monday At Neville High School

Registration for new pupils and transfer students at Neville High School begins Monday, Paul J. Neal, principal, announced yesterday.

Students previously registered for the 1952-53 school session total 972. These students who have filled out schedules do not have to register again. However, students entering Neville for the first time should register as soon as possible so that their academic records may be obtained from the last school in which they were enrolled. These records are needed so that they may be properly registered. Several days time is required to secure transcripts from former schools.

Included among the entering students who do not have to register are those coming into Neville from the various sixth grades in the Monroe city grammar schools, who filled out their schedules last spring. However, these persons are cordially invited to visit Neville and become familiar with the building and the classroom locations.

Because of the greatly increased enrollment and for other reasons, school officials have announced that lockers will be assigned to all students. These will be located near their respective home rooms. Any student may have his locker assigned before school starts by inquiring in the office at Neville High beginning Monday.

Pre - school registration will continue at Neville from Monday through Friday. A teachers workshop will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 2 through 4, and school begins at 8:30 a.m. Friday, Sept. 5. Neville High School students will be furnished free transportation from the various sections of the city as has been done for several years. Bus routes will be announced later.

Fighting Slackens In Korea

SEOUL, Sunday, Aug. 17 (AP)—An uneasy quiet settled over bloody Bunker Hill early today after U. S. Marines—some of them battling with their fists—beat back the seventh Chinese assault in a week.

The Reds apparently were regrouping. They had paid dearly for their furious efforts to recapture the Western Korean hill on the east border of the Panmunjom truce conference site.

At an early hour Sunday, the Chinese had failed to mount a new attack in 24 hours. They hurled their seventh blow against Bunker Hill at 12:30 a.m. Saturday. The Leathernecks routed the 400-man attacking force in two hours of bitter fighting.

Marine Sgt. Ramond Chenette, 27, of Worcester, Mass., a moustachioed machine gunner, said some of the fighting was "hand to hand right in the foxholes."

"We were fist fighting, he added. "And there were loads of hand grenades flying around. We really clobbered them."

LEWIS TELLS 475,000 MINERS TO STOP WORK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — John L. Lewis, in a move apparently designed to reduce a vast stockpile of coal above ground, today told his 475,000 soft and hard coal diggers to quit work for a five-day "memorial period" starting Aug. 25

The stop-work order, unexpected by top industry officials, seemed aimed at strengthening the Lewis bargaining position in negotiations already underway for a new work contract. The smaller the coal supply the more pressure there is on industry to come to terms with Lewis

Lewis described the work stoppage as a period of mourning for miners killed in pit disasters.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of American, has already served notice that his soft and hard coal contracts will expire the end of September. These expiring contracts, and all Lewis coal contracts since 1941, have contained a clause which allows Lewis to call a five-day "memorial period."

Lewis has called such periods only twice before: first in the spring of 1947 to commemorate the deaths of 111 miners in the Centralia, Ill., mine disaster; and once in the spring of 1949 to protest the appointment of Dr. James Boyd as director of the Bureau of Mines.

First inkling that Lewis had in-

Reporter Poses As Communist

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 16 (AP)—The San Diego Union in a series of articles beginning tomorrow discloses how one of its reporters, posing as a European Communist, has twice been smuggled into the United States from Mexico in recent weeks.

The reporter, Gene Fuson, lived with wetbacks and smugglers during his three-month investigation of the alien smuggling racket. He said he paid only $20 to obtain fraudulent birth and border crossing permits in Tijuana, Mex.

Fuson said at the bottom of his investigations he found the California underground, which he termed a multimillion-dollar alien smuggling racket.

"They handle all comers," Fuson says. "Even after I told them I was a Czech Communist who had reached Tijuana via South America, I paid my passage, and they did the rest. The price was $40.

Fuson, who spoke Spanish throughout his investigation, conducted his masquerade so effectively that once the U. S. border Patrol captured him 30 miles north of the border...and deported him with 23 real aliens to Mexico.

Ike Faction Is Outvoted

ALEXANDRIA, La., Aug. 16 (AP)—Old Guard Louisiana Republicans defeated an Eisenhower leader's bid for control of the GOP State Central Committee today but the rival factions united to name a state campaign manager.

National Committeeman John Minor Wisdom, who backed Dwight D. Eisenhower all the way in a rough party conflict, was turned down by a 27-25 vote on his plan to enlarge the committee.

He then gave up a move to replace the committee chairman, N. Bryant James, who supported Sen. Robert A. Taft prior to the Chicago convention.

The opposition was led by John E. Jackson, New Orleans attorney who has led the Louisiana party for years and also supported Taft. Wisdom unseated Jackson at Chicago for the national committeeman post.

The two joined forces as Wisdom made the motion that the central committee back the Eisenhower campaign. Jackson seconded it.

At one point, the chairman quickly cut off a member who suggested the committee back a Taft-MacArthur ticket. Member Paul Marshall of New Orleans was ruled out of order.

Chairman James insisted harmony prevailed at the session, adding "There were no hard feelings, only legal differences."

But an Eisenhower leader bitterly denied this.

"Any harmony here was superficial and any idea of an expanded Republican Party in this state is out the window.

"The old faction is the same as it ever was. How can we encourage people to come into our party under such conditions?"

After the meeting, Wisdom was silent on the harmony question.

The test vote on who controlled the committee came on Wisdom's move to gain central committee seats for six or seven new members chosen by new parish (county) executive committees.

Wisdom, pleading for party harmony, contended the Louisiana GOP must expand and that the only way to do so was to recognize committee members from areas of the state never before represented.

But the Old Guard controlled the committee and Wisdom's move was defeated. His group then abandoned the plan to replace James with J. Pauline Duhe of New Iberia.

Wisdom conceded the "test vote indicated he could not be elected."

However, Wisdom's choice of a state campaign manager and finance manager was upheld.

Theodore H. Lyons of New Orleans an executive of a wholesale drug firm, was unanimously chosen campaign manager. Chosen finance manager was Roy M. Watson, also of New Orleans.

Lyons asserted, admist a burst of applause, that Eisenhower will win and will carry Louisiana "if we work as a team."

Greatly outnumbered in Louisiana, Republicans have only 2,000 registered voters against more than one million Democrats.

Louisiana hasn't turned Republican in a presidential election since it gave the edge to Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876.

Wisdom said GOP strategy in Louisiana is to draw Democratic votes with three main appeals:

1. The need for a change in Washington.

2. The advantage of a strong two-party system.

3. Strong emphasis that Eisenhower is backed by a GOP platform plank favoring state control of submerged oil lands off Louisiana, Texas and California.

An avalanche of water roared out of the night and struck the slumbering coastal resort village of Lynmouth with the force of a battering ram. Part of the village was swept out to sea, houses and all. Most of what was left was flattened.

Most of Lynmouth's 2,000 residents and vacationers were taken out to nearby Lynton and other towns in the surrounding hills above the sea.

Screams rose above the roar of the waters as scores of residents struggled from their crumbling homes amid the rising floods and sought safety in the hills. Rescuers formed human chains stretching up a 600-foot cliff, passing many of the victims from the flood waters to the dry hills.

Stevenson Silent On Tidelands

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 16 (AP) —Texas' new Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, Price Daniel, has received no answer to his letter asking Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois how he stood on the tidelands question.

Daniel sent three special questions last Wednesday to the Democratic presidential nominee. He also enclosed a brief supporting state ownership of tidelands.

Daniel asked Stevenson if he favored restoration and confirmation of the ownership of lands beneath navigable waters within original state boundaries to the respective states; if he were President would he veto legislation favoring the states; and if he should make such a veto would he have lawsuits filed against the remaining 25 coastal and great lakes states the same as has been done against Texas, California and Louisiana.

Daniel at present is state attorney general and has led Texas' fight in Washington to retain state ownership of Texas' oil-rich submerged lands offshore.

He won the Democratic nomination this summer for the U. S. Senate post being vacated by retiring Sen. Tom Connally, Democrat of Texas.

Gov. Allan Shivers also has asked ship of the tidelands. Shivers said yesterday he planned to go to Illinois next week to see Stevenson to talk about campaign issues.

Youth Arrested For Bike Theft

A 17-year-old youth is in the West Monroe jail today because he did not know how to operate a motor-bike.

The youth allegedly stole the bike from the yard of a friend Thursday night. He was unable to get it started and pushed it to the West Side service station where he phoned a Monroe repair shop to pick it up for repairs.

Local police in conjunction with the owner of the repair shop apprehended the youth when he called for the bike Saturday morning.

West Monroe police are waiting for the return of the bike's owner, John Schepis of West Monroe, before they decide on the final disposition of the case. Schepis is out of town and cannot be contacted according to police.

NEW STUDENTS WILL REGISTER

Transfer Pupils Also To Report Monday At Neville High School

Registration for new pupils and transfer students at Neville High School begins Monday, Paul J. Neal, principal, announced yesterday.

Students previously registered for the 1952-53 school session total 972. These students who have filled out schedules do not have to register again. However, students entering Neville for the first time should register as soon as possible so that their academic records may be obtained from the last school in which they were enrolled. These records are needed so that they may be properly registered. Several days time is required to secure transcripts from former schools.

Included among the entering students who do not have to register are those coming into Neville from the various sixth grades in the Monroe city grammar schools, who filled out their schedules last spring. However, these persons are cordially invited to visit Neville and become familiar with the building and the classroom locations.

Because of the greatly increased enrollment and for other reasons, school officials have announced that lockers will be assigned to all students. These will be located near their respective home rooms. Any student may have his locker assigned before school starts by inquiring in the office at Neville High beginning Monday.

Pre - school registration will continue at Neville from Monday through Friday. A teachers workshop will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 2 through 4, and school begins at 8:30 a.m. Friday, Sept. 5. Neville High School students will be furnished free transportation from the various sections of the city as has been done for several years. Bus routes will be announced later.

Fighting Slackens In Korea

SEOUL, Sunday, Aug. 17 (AP)—An uneasy quiet settled over bloody Bunker Hill early today after U. S. Marines—some of them battling with their fists—beat back the seventh Chinese assault in a week.

The Reds apparently were regrouping. They had paid dearly for their furious efforts to recapture the Western Korean hill on the east border of the Panmunjom truce conference site.

At an early hour Sunday, the Chinese had failed to mount a new attack in 24 hours. They hurled their seventh blow against Bunker Hill at 12:30 a.m. Saturday. The Leathernecks routed the 400-man attacking force in two hours of bitter fighting.

Marine Sgt. Ramond Chenette, 27, of Worcester, Mass., a moustachioed machine gunner, said some of the fighting was "hand to hand right in the foxholes."

"We were fist fighting," he added. "And there were loads of hand grenades flying around. We really clobbered them."

LEWIS TELLS 475,000 MINERS TO STOP WORK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP) — John L. Lewis, in a move apparently designed to reduce a vast stockpile of coal above ground, today told his 475,000 soft and hard coal diggers to quit work for a five-day "memorial period" starting Aug. 25

The stop-work order, unexpected by top industry officials, seemed aimed at strengthening the Lewis bargaining position in negotiations already underway for a new work contract. The smaller the coal supply the more pressure there is on industry to come to terms with Lewis

Lewis described the work stoppage as a period of mourning for miners killed in pit disasters.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of American, has already served notice that his soft and hard coal contracts will expire the end of September. These expiring contracts, and all Lewis coal contracts since 1941, have contained a clause which allows Lewis to call a five-day "memorial period."

Lewis has called such periods only twice before: first in the spring of 1947 to commemorate the deaths of 111 miners in the Centralia, Ill., mine disaster; and once in the spring of 1949 to protest the appointment of Dr. James Boyd as director of the Bureau of Mines.

First inkling that Lewis had in-

Reporter Poses As Communist

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 16 (AP)—The San Diego Union in a series of articles beginning tomorrow discloses how one of its reporters, posing as a European Communist, has twice been smuggled into the United States from Mexico in recent weeks.

The reporter, Gene Fuson, lived with wetbacks and smugglers during his three-month investigation of the alien smuggling racket. He said he paid only $20 to obtain fraudulent birth and border crossing permits in Tijuana, Mex.

Fuson said at the bottom of his investigations he found the California underground, which he termed a multimillion-dollar alien smuggling racket.

"They handle all comers," Fuson says. "Even after I told them I was a Czech Communist who had reached Tijuana via South America, I paid my passage, and they did the rest. The price was $40.

Fuson, who spoke Spanish throughout his investigation, conducted his masquerade so effectively that once the U. S. border Patrol captured him 30 miles north of the border and deported him with 23 real aliens to Mexico.

UNHAPPY ALY KHAN

Prince Aly Khan, looking anything but happy, leaves the home of his wife, Actress Rita Hayworth, in Hollywood, Calif., after visiting with her for more than five hours. He said another visit is planned later in the day, but "no comment" was his only reply when asked if a reconciliation was possible. (AP Wirephoto)

Ike Faction Is Outvoted

ALEXANDRIA, La., Aug. 16 (AP)—Old Guard Louisiana Republicans defeated an Eisenhower leader's bid for control of the GOP State Central Committee today but the rival factions united to name a state campaign manager.

National Committeeman John Minor Wisdom, who backed Dwight D. Eisenhower all the way in a rough party conflict, was turned down by a 27-25 vote on his plan to enlarge the committee.

He then gave up a move to replace the committee chairman, N. Bryant James, who supported Sen. Robert A. Taft prior to the Chicago convention.

The opposition was led by John E. Jackson, New Orleans attorney who has led the Louisiana party for years and also supported Taft. Wisdom unseated Jackson at Chicago for the national committeeman post.

The two joined forces as Wisdom made the motion that the central committee back the Eisenhower campaign. Jackson seconded it.

At one point, the chairman quickly cut off a member who suggested the committee back a Taft-MacArthur ticket. Member Paul Marshall of New Orleans was ruled out of order.

Chairman James insisted harmony prevailed at the session, adding "There were no hard feelings, only legal differences."

But an Eisenhower leader bitterly denied this.

"Any harmony here was superficial and any idea of an expanded Republican Party in this state is out the window.

"The old faction is the same as it ever was. How can we encourage people to come into our party under such conditions?"

After the meeting, Wisdom was silent on the harmony question.

The test vote on who controlled the committee came on Wisdom's move to gain central committee seats for six or seven new members chosen by new parish (county) executive committees.

Wisdom, pleading for party harmony, contended the Louisiana GOP must expand and that the only way to do so was to recognize committee members from areas of the state never before represented.

But the Old Guard controlled the committee and Wisdom's move was defeated. His group then abandoned the plan to replace James with J. Pauline Duhe of New Iberia.

Wisdom conceded the "test vote indicated he could not be elected."

However, Wisdom's choice of a state campaign manager and finance manager was upheld.

Theodore H. Lyons of New Orleans an executive of a wholesale drug firm, was unanimously chosen campaign manager. Chosen finance manager was Roy M. Watson, also of New Orleans.

Lyons asserted, admist a burst of applause, that Eisenhower will win and will carry Louisiana "if we work as a team."

Greatly outnumbered in Louisiana, Republicans have only 2,000 registered voters against more than one million Democrats.

Louisiana hasn't turned Republican in a presidential election since it gave the edge to Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876.

Wisdom said GOP strategy in Louisiana is to draw Democratic votes with three main appeals:

1. The need for a change in Washington.

2. The advantage of a strong two-party system.

3. Strong emphasis that Eisenhower is backed by a GOP platform plank favoring state control of submerged oil lands off Louisiana, Texas and California.

FIRNBERG HOME GUTTED BY FIRE

A report from the scene said the house was "gutted". Firemen were still on the scene late last night battling the conflagration.

A witness said that someone, who was not identified was rescued from the inferno.

Engines 102 and 104 at 9 p.m. answered the alarm, telephoned in by a neighbor. Firemen headed off the flames before they spread to adjoining dwellings.

The sides of the building, of brick construction, remained standing.

City Closes Playgrounds After Successful 10 Weeks

Television Can Revive 'Lincoln-Douglas' Debates

We always said television would grow up and amount to something some day. Now it's got its big chance.

There's talk of a series of hour-long debates between Adlai Stevenson, speaking in the affirmative on whether the Democratic Party is a good thing, and General Eisenhower, taking the negative.

This would be the biggest thing of its kind since Lincoln and Douglas squared off in a similar engagement in 1858.

Scheduled at any hour except maybe 4 a. m., a televised Stevenson-Eisenhower debate on the big campaign issues would have a larger audience than the entire population of the United States in 1858, which was just under 30,000,000.

Stevenson is reported interested in the idea, and small wonder. The Lincoln-Douglas debates were held right around Springfield, Ill., the section where Stevenson was raised and where he now holds forth as governor.

Furthermore, the Lincoln-Douglas debates were first suggested and then personally arranged for by Stevenson's grandfather on his mother's side, Jesse Fell, who was a friend of both Lincoln and Douglas.

Too, Stevenson has been likened to Lincoln both as to certain qualities of mind and their similarly lean and lucid styles of writing and speaking. That would stand him in good stead in debate.

Despite Eisenhower's personal magnetism and his good mind, which would do well by him in a TV debate, he could hardly be blamed for declining to tangle with a man as well adapted to that field of endeavor as is Stevenson.

But aside from and above the qualifications and inclinations of the participants in any such debate, is the overriding consideration of the value such a thing would be to the country as a whole.

It would bring to the voters in dramatic form the issues to be decided and the Democratic and Republican ideas for solving them. At the moment the differences of the two nominees on certain big issues is not too clear.

On foreign policy, for instance they're pretty much together. Both are Internationalists with a capital "I." On many domestic issues they are not far apart, both being middle-of-the-roaders, government economy advocates, and anti-big government.

A television meeting between the two would be sure to bring out sharply, though, those points on which they do disagree and it's important for the public to know exactly what those points are and what each nominee intends to do about them.

It's the big, shifting mass of independent voters that would be most influenced by a clear, dramatic presentation such as the TV debates would allow. And it would be certainly a valuable gift to the Democratic tradition if that clear, dramatic presentation takes place this year, and every four years from now on.

The value of TV in letting the public get an inside look at politics has been demonstrated at congressional hearings and at the recent party convention in Chicago both were great stimulants to public interest in government.

Girls Lazy?

Some have trouble thrust upon them and others go around sticking their necks out. Like this Boston University professor, Lowell S. Trowbridge. He says the reason girls in the United States are getting married younger and younger is that they are too lazy to go to work.

It is hard work to get a job and even harder work to keep it, the professor says. That isn't the way employes tell it, but let that pass. "How much easier it is to slip into a housecoat, put on the percolator, push down the toaster, kiss hubby goodbye and sit down to an after-breakfast cigarette and the morning paper." This is quoting the professor.

When the baby gets croup and the mortgage payments eat into the budget for frocks and shoes, "the big, beautiful bubble bursts" and the disappointed young wife, "spoiled by overindulgent parents," dissolves into tears and blames her husband for not being a vice president. That, severely paraphrased, is the gist of what else this reckless man had to say.

Whatever may be said about the professor's conclusions, his basic premise is false. Girls get married as early as it is possible to hook a husband because for countless generations society has scorned the old maid. Few girls believe that housekeeping is easier than stenography or running a classroom or a lunch counter, and those few are soon disillusioned.

And that "after-breakfast cigarette and the morning paper," professor, is strictly for the brides. When the babies come . . .

Tomorrow's Highways

Highway engineers predict the highways of tomorrow will be superfast turnpikes, four to six lanes wide, without [illegible] or crossroads, paid for by those who use them in the form of toll fees.

Pennsylvania opened the first of these roads a dozen years ago. Today eight states have them and many others are planning to follow the example. The latest to be put into use is the New Jersey speedway, which runs 118 miles across the state from the George Washington Bridge entrance to New York City to the Delaware Memorial Bridge.

When first planned, it was estimated 8,000,000 cars would use the first year. In service only six months, it has been used by 15,000,000 cars and trucks [illegible] and will earn, according to [illegible], $14,000,000 yearly. Toll fees average [illegible].

[illegible] toll road is the solution to [illegible], which has become acute as [illegible] in number of motor vehicles.

George E. Sokolsky: THESE DAYS

IT'S A WELL-PAYING JOB

It used to be that the Presidency was a great honor but brought little revenue to the incumbent. Presidents used to find it hard to make ends meet out of the wages paid by the American government.

Those days have changed. Under the Independent Offices Appropriation Act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, the President of the United States gets $150,000, including an expense allowance of $50,000 on which he does not pay any income tax. That expense allowance is a sheer non-taxable gift, because the very next paragraph of the act deals with salaries and expenses. The President gets $1,807,643 to cover salaries and expenses of the White House office, the total being expendable as he likes, on certificate from the President without further ado. Also the President's travel and entertainment expenses are not subject to audit.

The President is also allowed $1 million to use at his discretion in emergency matters, like sending agents abroad for such purposes as he considers necessary. He also gets $341,200 plus $26,000 to take care of the White House and its grounds and some more traveling expenses.

Altogether, this is a goodly sum of money and out of it the President, even though he must spend a great deal of it, ought to be able to save a penny or so, which is more than most of us can do these days, particularly as we are squeezed between high taxes and the high cost of living.

The President's greatest advantage is having about $50,000 of straight cash payment to which no income tax is applied. He is the only citizen of this country who enjoys this advantage. If he holds on to that money, he can save at least $200,000 in a four-year term, or $400,000 should he be re-elected. Today, hardly anybody can manage to save that kind of money on a salary. It is real riches.

In connection with the possibility of savings, I saw a table the other day which is most interesting:

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After a year of self-imposed idleness, Betty Grable says she won't be taking any more studio suspensions.

The famous blonde is finishing up "The Farmer Takes a Wife" after a year off studio salary. I asked her if she'd ever take a suspension again.

"Never," she replied positively. "I wanted a rest and I got it. I've never been particular about the kind of pictures I've been in. Now I'm ready for anything. If they want to shoot a remake of 'Smoky,' I'm their girl. I've been in the business too long to worry about parts."

The new blonde at 20th-Fox—Marilyn Monroe—has been cast in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." I asked Betty if she wanted the role.

"A lot of people said I should be in it, but there was only one reason—the title," she replied. "As far as the role is concerned, I wasn't enthused. I think Marilyn fits it perfectly, and it's good box office to team her with Jane Russell.

"The only reason I would have wanted to do the picture was that the studio had put out a lot of money for it. They've never paid eight dollars for a story for me. (Now, Betty, you know that's not quite correct.) They've all been remakes or something. The only story I ever was really eager to do was 'Annie Get Your Gun.' But the studio let MGM get it."

No picture has been announced for Betty, but she doesn't expect much time with her children and horses. "I can't believe they'll keep paying me that big salary and not keep me working," she remarked.

You can't say that movies aren't out of this world. Currently on the stages is "Abbott and Costello Go to Mars." Now "Road to the Moon" has been announced for Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dotty Lamour. I'll bet the A. and C. film makes Bing mad. "Road to the Moon" was his idea, and he wanted to do it before anybody else got into the act . . .

Frank Lovejoy is cool when asked about his reported feud with Ida Lupino, who directed his last picture. "Being directed by a woman is nothing new to me," he replied. "I was directed in my first Broadway show by Antoinette Perry." But still no comment on Ida.

Now low in television advertising was reached this week on a political commentator's show. An interview with a vice presidential candidate (Senator Sparkman) was interrupted for a laxative commercial. The interview was resumed and then concluded in time for a hair remover ad to come on the screen. Ugh.

I. M. Roberts, Jr. INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Associated Press News Analyst

The Chinese and North Korean Communists seem to have gotten their wires crossed about war objectives.

The increasingly heavy Allied bombings of North Korean towns may have something to do with it.

The Aug. 15 celebration of Korean liberation from Japan provided the occasion for the trading of all sorts of messages between Communist leaders like Stalin, Mao Tse Tung of China and Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea.

Kim told his Parliament that North Korea would be satisfied to get out of the war without being beaten. He'll take an armistice which makes it clear "the Americans are not the winners and the Koreans the losers in this war."

Kim, right there on the ground when Pyongyang recently took a beating from U. S. bombers, was much less truculent than the Reds usually are. His words added to the belief in Allied circles that even the Russian agents in North Korea are becoming war-weary.

Mao, on the other hand, whose "volunteers" intervened in the war just in time to prevent Allied forces from completing their sweep to the Yalu River and victory, doesn't seem to be cowed. His cities haven't been bombed and the casualties his forces have suffered are of small moment in sprawling China.

Mao sent word that he was right in there as North Korea's ally until "complete victory."

Stalin contented himself with some generalities, but Pravda, official Soviet newspaper, stressed Soviet support for North Korea and China. There was no indication that Russia, which has lost some planes and equipment but suffered no casualties, was ready for North Korea to get out of the war.

Kim also sought to cheer his people with talk about Russian aid. When the bombs are falling, however, the North Koreans can hardly be blamed if they wonder whether they of the south Koreans have the most effective allies.

As between the Chinese and the North Koreans, it is hard to say who is entitled to the most pity for the roles they have been forced into in this war. Korean interests have been ruthlessly trampled in the interest of Russian imperialism.

For China's part, she has been dragged into a war against the United States, the only real friend the Chinese people ever had in the world. He. alliance with Russia is a violation of all geopolitical concepts. There is not the slightest possibility that it can last beyond this abortive moment in Chinese history.

But the Chinese Communists have obtained some material aid from Russia.

The North Koreans, on the other hand, have never stood to get anything except a kicking around.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Amendments to the list of strategic items banned for shipment to Soviet Russia and its satellite countries will be announced within the next month.

It will increase the number of banned materials from the original 313 to nearly 500. And thus will the net be drawn tighter by the 61 cooperating non-Communist countries to choke off the Soviet bloc's war-making potential.

When the first of these lists of strategic materials was drawn up in 1949, it contained only 150 items—principally implements of war. The next year the list grew to 200. Last year it was 265.

The full list is of course too long for presentation here. In broad categories, however, it now covers all munitions, everything used in the production of atomic energy, metal-working machinery, chemical and petroleum producing and refining equipment, electric power industrial equipment, transportation equipment, electronic and precision instruments, and strategic metals, chemicals, petroleum and rubber products.

These lists are made public by main headings. Soviet purchasing agents know all the categories of military supply items which they must cross off their open shopping lists and try to procure only by smuggling or on the black market.

But a certain surprise element must be maintained in this economic cold warfare. If a bit of intelligence comes in that Soviet buyers are in the market for, say, platinum mesh for vacuum tubes, then the game becomes one of closing to them all sources of supply for electronic equipment.

No Desire to Cut off all Trade

Task forces of U. S. government experts and engineers from American private industry are working constantly to revise the list of strategic items they would keep from the Soviet. But the ban is not complete

If this were a hot war, the compiling of a list of articles banned for trade would be easy. It would include everything. This was the rule applied by the U. S. Board of Economic Warfare in the war against Germany and Japan. And there was no regard for costs.

But in this present cold war, there is no desire to cut off all trade with the Communist countries. Some trade between East and West Europe is considered necessary to promote western European recovery.

Italy, for instance, must have wheat and coal to live. And somehow she must earn the money to buy wheat and coal. So she is allowed to sell citrus fruits to the Soviet.

Not all machinery is banned for shipment to the Soviet either. Drilling machines that will bore up to three holes simultaneously are allowed to go through. When it gets to four holes and above, however, that's considered precision machinery and is banned.

Shipments of goods from European countries to Soviet bloc countries, made in accordance with trade agreements in effect before the embargoes on strategic materials were put into effect, also have to be allowed to go through.

That was the rule that had to be applied in the case of the Danish tanker recently delivered to the Soviet Union. It had been ordered in 1948, before the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was set up. Money had been paid by

Guest Columnist

HOLLYWOOD, August 16.—Since returning to Hollywood from the stage for 20th Century - Fox's "My Cousin Rachel," a filmization of Daphne du Maurier's best - selling romantic mystery novel, I have had three questions put to me frequently.

They are: 1. Why did you go on the stage? 2. Why did you stay away so long? 3. How does the experience effect yor future? They are easy to answer.

An actress, like a writer or a doctor, should try to master many media within her field in order to develop her over-all artistry. By developing a rapport for her audience from a stage she learns how to reach her audience from behind the cameras.

There were personal reasons, too, for my return to the stage. Except for amateur performances in high school and in the community theater at Saratoga, Calif., my stage experience had been limited to an engagement in Max Reinhardt's "Midsummer Night's Dream," which brought me to pictures in the same role.

As a result, I had always suffered stage fright, sometimes even before the camera. The way to conquer this, I had learned in public speaking classes in school, was to deliberately expose myself to situations I feared. In 1946, after I had made 32 films, I still felt the need of stage experience and went back east for stock performances in "What Every Woman Knows." It gave me a feeling of confidence that I had lacked and was so satisfying that after making "The Snake Pit" and "The Heiress" I went back for more. I toured in "Romeo and Juliet" for 100 performances and in "Candida" for 332 performances. Not only did I gain the satisfaction of playing two difficult roles, sometimes to one-night stands, but it gave me a feeling of confidence before crowds.

Shortly after the tours ended on Broadway I returned to Hollywood and was invited to speak at a testimonial dinner of Judy Garland. Normally I would have been scared to death talking before so many people. Having faced 442 crowds in the plays, I was able to stand up and speak my piece as easily as a scene from Act Two.

As for the reasons for staying away from Hollywood almost four years there are two — first, the stage was so completely engrossing that time stood still; second, I would rather be forgotten than remembered in a bad movie.

I have heard actors say 'I don't like the part I've been offered but if I don't do something soon the public will forget me.' This is not true. Vivian Leigh did not make a picture in Hollywood for 12 years after "Gone With the Wind." She came back only when she got the role she wanted in "A Street Car Named Desire."

After "The Heiress" and "The Snake Pit" I felt that to take a lesser role would be a betrayal of the public as well as myself. That's why I held out for something of the calibre of "My Cousin Rachel."

I first heard of the book in a newspaper story quoting the authoress as saying she wanted one of four women to play "Rachel" — Vivien Leigh, Greta Garbo, Alida Valli, or myself. The book had not yet been published in this country and I sent to England for it. I read it and was fascinated. I read it again and was enthralled. Miss du Maurier had achieved something rare and great. "Rachel" is all things to all people. She is at one and the same time a glamorous woman and a suspected murderess to the young man who falls in love with her and who fears she is trying to poison him. Around her is built a convincing web of circumstantial evidence both inculpating and exonerating her. Producer Nunnally Johnson has followed the book faithfully in his script and Director Henry Koster is retaining these same shadings of guilt and innocence. To the end, the characters in the story as well as the film's audience, do not know whether Rachel is a killer or a lovable woman. I'm sure this will intrigue the audience as much as it does me.

It's a characterization role, as most of my roles have been, but it's characterization with glamour and romance — with English stage star Richard Burton — something I couldn't pass up in a part.

On the whole, my ambition is to go on doing as I have been doing —to work only in pictures to which I can respond, to take only those parts upon which I can throw some light, illumine in some way.

Bascom Timmons IN WASHINGTON

The big whipcrackers in the United States senate, regardless of which candidate captures the presidency, will be Senator Robert A. Taft, often referred to as Mr. Republican and Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, leader of the southern wing of the Democratic party.

That should carry a note of comfort for those who vaguely favor a change and at the same time are disturbed by the thought of it. Unless the administration in power has an overwhelming majority in Congress, as in the earlier years of the New Deal, the senate functions as the balance wheel of the federal government, checking the executive branch, as the Constitution intended it should, from exercising dictatorial powers.

Since the prospects in the November election are not for a landslide, but rather for continued Democratic control of the senate, which means that they will apply the brakes through a combination of Republican and southern Democratic votes.

To the inquiry, "Would that be a change?" the most logical answer is "Yes, in the sense that a new administration, whether Republican or Democrat will try to do the things which the Truman administration has shrugged off". And in the effort to accomplish have to rely on the Taft - Byrd leadership, which doesn't exactly become a coalition, but at times functions like one.

The senate now has 49 Democrats and 46 Republicans with one vacancy, but an overturn by the Republicans is not nearly as simple as that narrow margin would seem to indicate. Of the 33 seats to be filled 19 are now held by Republicans and 14 by Democrats. But more Republicans than Democratic seats are in jeopardy, and many observers think the Democrats have an excellent chance for a net gain of several seats, including some of those which the Republicans grabbed unexpectedly in 1946, when the GOP-controlled 80th Congress, so frequently excoriated by President Truman came into power.

To those who are dubious about the possibility of a Democratic senate under a Republican president, it should be pointed out that in such an event Mr. Eisenhower would have to lean heavily on the Taft-Byrd strength and counsel. Americans can smile at that, recalling the bitterness of the Re-

Hal Boyle NOTEBOOK

Or is its length—and the manner of his death—prescribed by higher powers even before his birth?

The possibility that they are merely pawns of hate has interested fools and philosophers since men first looked up at the stars and asked the eternal "Why?"

A baby falls from a seventh floor window and lives. . . another tumbles two floors and dies. Why? Is it doom or chance?

The other day a transient, sleeping 30 feet from a road, was killed when a passing car was forced off the highway and ran over him in the dark. Probably no man had napped at that exact spot since the beginning of time . . . And no car wheel had passed over it. What brought man and vehicle disastrously together at the exact moment . . . chance or destiny?

Life is full of such mishaps, and many people say, "Well, it was just in the cards" or "Everything is a matter of odds." And for some reason it comforts them, perhaps because they don't have to blame themselves for what happens.

War brings out this type of fatalism in many. "If a shell or a bullet has your number on it, well, brother, that's it," they say. However, I never knew a fellow like that who didn't duck like everybody else when a shell burst nearby.

All of which is preamble for a true-life story that has just come to our desk — an eerie little happening that DeMaupassant or O. Henry might have fashioned into a macabre tale.

The setting is in that continent of darkness — Africa. And the events were brought out at an inquest court in Salisbury, South Africa, which was investigating the death leap of a native fisherman into a river infested with crocodiles.

The crippled fisherman in time returned to his task, fishing the same river. Years later he again was seized by a crocodile. This time he was rescued by a companion who stabbed the crocodile with a spear.

At the hospital doctors amputated Mudungwe's left arm.

Returning to his village he refused to eat or talk and sat alone, brooding.

One day he jumped up, muttering, "Crocodile calling me, crocodile calling me." He ran to the river, leaped in and was immediately dragged under and killed by a crocodile.

A policeman, summoned by the villagers, shot the reptile to death. When the villagers hauled it out, they were awed to find it was blind in both eyes and bore the scars of spear wounds on its body.

The duel between Mudungwe and his crocodile was over. What brought them together three times? Chance or destiny?

Television Can Revive 'Lincoln-Douglas' Debates

We always said television would grow up and amount to something some day. Now it's got its big chance.

There's talk of a series of hour-long debates between Adlai Stevenson, speaking in the affirmative on whether the Democratic Party is a good thing, and General Eisenhower, taking the negative.

This would be the biggest thing of its kind since Lincoln and Douglas squared off in a similar engagement in 1858.

Scheduled at any hour except maybe 4 a. m., a televised Stevenson-Eisenhower debate on the big campaign issues would have a larger audience than the entire population of the United States in 1858, which was just under 30,000,000.

Stevenson is reported interested in the idea, and small wonder. The Lincoln-Douglas debates were held right around Springfield, Ill., the section where Stevenson was raised and where he now holds forth as governor.

Furthermore, the Lincoln-Douglas debates were first suggested and then personally arranged for by Stevenson's grandfather on his mother's side, Jesse Fell, who was a friend of both Lincoln and Douglas.

Too, Stevenson has been likened to Lincoln both as to certain qualities of mind and their similarly lean and lucid styles of writing and speaking. That would stand him in good stead in debate.

Despite Eisenhower's personal magnetism and his good mind, which would do well by him in a TV debate, he could hardly be blamed for declining to tangle with a man as well adapted to that field of endeavor as is Stevenson.

But aside from and above the qualifications and inclinations of the participants in any such debate, is the overriding consideration of the value such a thing would be to the country as a whole.

It would bring to the voters in dramatic form the issues to be decided and the Democratic and Republican ideas for solving them. At the moment the differences of the two nominees on certain big issues is not too clear.

On foreign policy, for instance they're pretty much together. Both are Internationalists with a capital "I." On many domestic issues they are not far apart, both being middle-of-the-roaders, government economy advocates, and anti-big government.

A television meeting between the two would be sure to bring out sharply, though, those points on which they do disagree and it's important for the public to know exactly what those points are and what each nominee intends to do about them.

It's the big, shifting mass of independent voters that would be most influenced by a clear, dramatic presentation such as the TV debates would allow. And it would be certainly a valuable gift to the Democratic tradition if that clear, dramatic presentation takes place this year, and every four years from now on.

The value of TV in letting the public get an inside look at politics has been demonstrated at congressional hearings and at the recent party convention in Chicago both were great stimulants to public interest in government.

Girls Lazy?

Some have trouble thrust upon them and others go around sticking their necks out. Like this Boston University professor, Lowell S. Trowbridge. He says the reason girls in the United States are getting married younger and younger is that they are too lazy to go to work.

It is hard work to get a job and even harder work to keep it, the professor says. That isn't the way employes tell it, but let that pass. "How much easier it is to slip into a housecoat, put on the percolator, push down the toaster, kiss hubby goodbye and sit down to an after-breakfast cigarette and the morning paper." This is quoting the professor.

When the baby gets croup and the mortgage payments cut into the budget for frocks and shoes, "the big, beautiful bubble bursts" and the disappointed young wife, "spoiled by overindulgent parents," dissolves into tears and blames her husband for not being a vice president. That, severely paraphrased, is the gist of what else this reckless man had to say.

Whatever may be said about the professor's conclusions, his basic premise is false. Girls get married as early as it is possible to hook a husband because for countless generations society has scorned the old maid. Few girls believe that housekeeping is easier than stenography or running a classroom or a lunch counter, and those few are soon disillusioned.

And that "after-breakfast cigarette and the morning paper," professor, is strictly for the brides. When the babies come . . .

Tomorrow's Highways

Highway engineers predict the highways of tomorrow will be superfast turnpikes, four to six lanes wide, without stoplights or crossroads, paid for by those who use them in the form of toll fees.

Pennsylvania opened the first of these roads a dozen years ago. Today eight states have them and many others are planning to follow the example. The latest to be put into service is the New Jersey speedway, which runs 118 miles across the state from the George Washington Bridge entrance into New York City to the Delaware Memorial Bridge.

When first planned, it was estimated 8,000,000 cars would use the road the first year. In service only six months, this estimate has been upped to 15,000,000 cars and trucks a year. The speedway cost $225,000,000 and will earn, according to latest estimates, $14,000,000 yearly. Toll fees average 1½ cents a mile.

Engineers say the multi-lane toll road is the solution to the nation's traffic problem, which has become acute as a result of the steady increase in number of motor vehicles.

THESE DAYS

IT'S A WELL-PAYING JOB

It used to be that the Presidency was a great honor but brought little revenue to the incumbent. Presidents used to find it hard to make ends meet out of the wages paid by the American government.

Those days have changed. Under the Independent Offices Appropriation Act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, the President of the United States gets $150,000, including an expense allowance of $50,000 on which he does not pay any income tax. That expense allowance is a sheer non-taxable gift, because the very next paragraph of the act deals with salaries and expenses. The President gets $1,207,643 to cover salaries and expenses of the White House office, the total being expendable as he likes, on certificate from the President without further ado. Also the President's travel and entertainment expenses are not subject to audit.

The President is also allowed $1 million to use at his discretion in emergency matters, like sending agents abroad for such purposes as he considers necessary. He also gets $341,200 plus $26,000 to take care of the White House and its grounds and some more traveling expenses.

Altogether, this is a goodly sum of money and out of it the President, even though he must spend a great deal of it, ought to be able to save a penny or so, which is more than most of us can do these days, particularly as we are squeezed between high taxes and the high cost of living.

The President's greatest advantage is having about $50,000 of straight cash payment to which no income tax is applied. He is the only citizen of this country who enjoys this advantage. If he holds on to that money, he can save at least $200,000 in a four-year term, or $400,000 should he be re-elected. Today, hardly anybody can manage to save that kind of money on a salary. It is real riches.

In connection with the possibility of savings, I saw a table the other day which is most interesting:

| House Furnishings | $1.00 | .79 | .63 | .49 |
| Overall Consumer Dollar | $1.00 | .81 | .71 | .53" |

The reason rent is so out of line is that rent control has more or less kept real estate from following the general economy of the nation. It has also had the effect of increasing the quantity of obsolescent buildings in most cities and has lessened the activity of private endeavor in real estate,

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After a year of self-imposed idleness, Betty Grable says she won't be taking any more studio suspensions.

The famous blonde is finishing up "The Farmer Takes a Wife" after a year off studio salary. I asked her if she'd ever take a suspension again.

"Never," she replied positively. "I wanted a rest and I got it. I've never been particular about the kind of pictures I've been in. Now I'm ready for anything. If they want to shoot a remake of 'Smoky,' I'm their girl. I've been in the business too long to worry about parts."

The new blonde at 20th-Fox—Marilyn Monroe—has been cast in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." I asked Betty if she wanted the role.

"A lot of people said I should be in it, but there was only one reason—the title," she replied. "As far as the role is concerned, I wasn't enthused. I think Marilyn fits it perfectly, and it's good box office to team her with Jane Russell.

"The only reason I would have wanted to do the picture was that the studio had put out a lot of money for it. They've never paid eight dollars for a story for me. (Now, Betty, you know that's not quite correct.) They've all been remakes or something. The only story I ever was really eager to do was 'Annie Get Your Gun.' But the studio let MGM get it."

No picture has been announced for Betty, but she doesn't expect much time with her children and horses. "I can't believe they'll keep paying me that big salary and not keep me working," she remarked.

You can't say that movies aren't out of this world. Currently on the stages is "Abbott and Costello Go to Mars." Now "Road to the Moon" has been announced for Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dotty Lamour. I'll bet the A. and C. film makes Bing mad. "Road to the Moon" was his idea, and he wanted to do it before anybody else got into the act . . .

Frank Lovejoy is cool when asked about his reported feud with Ida Lupino, who directed his last picture. "Being directed by a woman is nothing new to me," he replied. "I was directed in my first Broadway show by Antoinette Perry." But still no comment on Ida.

New low in television advertising was reached this week on a political commentator's show. An interview with a vice presidential candidate (Senator Sparkman) was interrupted for a laxative commercial. The interview was resumed and then concluded in time for a hair remover ad to come on the screen. Ugh.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Associated Press News Analyst

The Chinese and North Korean Communists seem to have gotten their wires crossed about war objectives.

The increasingly heavy Allied bombings of North Korean towns may have something to do with it.

The Aug. 15 celebration of Korean liberation from Japan provided the occasion for the trading of all sorts of messages between Communist leaders like Stalin, Mao Tse Tung of China and Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea.

Kim told his Parliament that North Korea would be satisfied to get out of the war without being beaten. He'll take an armistice which makes it clear "the Americans are not the winners and the Koreans the losers in this war."

Kim, right there on the ground when Pyongyang recently took a beating from U. S. bombers, was much less truculent than the Reds usually are. His words added to the belief in Allied circles that even the Russian agents in North Korea are becoming war-weary.

Mao, on the other hand, whose "volunteers" intervened in the war just in time to prevent Allied forces from completing their sweep to the Yalu River and victory, doesn't seem to be cowed. His cities haven't been bombed and the casualties his forces have suffered are of small moment in sprawling China.

Mao sent word that he was right in there as North Korea's ally until "complete victory."

Stalin contented himself with some generalities, but Pravda, official Soviet newspaper, stressed Soviet support for North Korea and China. There was no indication that Russia, which has lost some planes and equipment but suffered no casualties, was ready for North Korea to get out of the war.

Kim also sought to cheer his people with talk about Russian aid. When the bombs are falling, however, the North Koreans can hardly be blamed if they wonder whether they of the south Koreans have the most effective allies.

As between the Chinese and the North Koreans, it is hard to say who is entitled to the most pity for the roles they have been forced into in this war. Korean interests have been ruthlessly trampled in the interest of Russian imperialism.

For China's part, she has been dragged into a war against the United States, the only real friend the Chinese people ever had in the world. He. alliance with Russia is a violation of all geopolitical concepts. There is not the slightest possibility that it can last beyond this abortive moment in Chinese history.

But the Chinese Communists have obtained some material aid from Russia.

The North Koreans, on the other hand, have never stood to get anything except a kicking around.

IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Amendments to the list of strategic items banned for shipment to Soviet Russia and its satellite countries will be announced within the next month.

It will increase the number of banned materials from the original 313 to nearly 500. And thus will the net be drawn tighter by the 61 cooperating non-Communist countries to choke off the Soviet bloc's war-making potential.

When the first of these lists of strategic materials was drawn up in 1949, it contained only 150 items—principally implements of war. The next year the list grew to 200. Last year it was 265.

The full list is of course too long for presentation here. In broad categories, however, it now covers all munitions, everything used in the production of atomic energy, metal-working machinery, chemical and petroleum producing and refining equipment, electric power industrial equipment, transportation equipment, electronic and precision instruments, and strategic metals, chemicals, petroleum and rubber products.

These lists are made public by main headings. Soviet purchasing agents know all the categories of military supply items which they must cross off their open shopping lists and try to procure only by smuggling or on the black market.

But a certain surprise element must be maintained in this economic cold warfare. If a bit of intelligence comes in that Soviet buyers are in the market for, say, platinum mesh for vacuum tubes, then the game becomes one of closing to them all sources of supply for electronic equipment.

No Desire to Cut off all Trade

Task forces of U. S. government experts and engineers from American private industry are working constantly to revise the list of strategic items they would keep from the Soviet. But the ban is not complete

If this were a hot war, the compiling of a list of articles banned for trade would be easy. It would include everything. This was the rule applied by the U. S. Board of Economic Warfare in the war against Germany and Japan. And there was no regard for costs.

But in this present cold war, there is no desire to cut off all trade with the Communist countries. Some trade between East and West Europe is considered necessary to promote western European recovery.

Italy, for instance, must have wheat and coal to live. And somehow she must earn the money to buy wheat and coal. So she is allowed to sell citrus fruits to the Soviet.

Not all machinery is banned for shipment to the Soviet either. Drilling machines that will bore up to three holes simultaneously are allowed to go through. When it gets to four holes and above, however, that's considered precision machinery and is banned.

Shipments of goods from European countries to Soviet bloc countries, made in accordance with trade agreements in effect before the embargoes on strategic materials were put into effect, also have to be allowed to go through.

That was the rule that had to be applied in the case of the Danish tanker recently delivered to the Soviet Union. It had been ordered in 1946, before the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was set up. Money had been paid by

IN HOLLYWOOD

Guest Columnist

HOLLYWOOD, August 16.—Since returning to Hollywood from the stage for 20th Century - Fox's "My Cousin Rachel," a filmization of Daphne du Maurier's best - selling romantic mystery novel, I have had three questions put to me frequently.

They are: 1. Why did you go on the stage? 2. Why did you stay away so long? 3. How does the experience effect yor future? They are easy to answer.

An actress, like a writer or a doctor, should try to master many media within her field in order to develop her over-all artistry. By developing a rapport for her audience from a stage she learns how to reach her audience from behind the cameras.

There were personal reasons, too, for my return to the stage. Except for amateur performances in high school and in the community theater at Saratoga, Calif., my stage experience had been limited to an engagement in Max Reinhardt's "Midsummer Night's Dream," which brought me to pictures in the same role.

As a result, I had always suffered stage fright, sometimes even before the camera. The way to conquer this, I had learned in public speaking classes in school, was to deliberately expose myself to situations I feared. In 1946, after I had made 32 films, I still felt the need of stage experience and went back east for stock performances in "What Every Woman Knows." It gave me a feeling of confidence that I had lacked and was so satisfying that after making "The Snake Pit" and "The Heiress" I went back for more. I toured in "Romeo and Juliet" for 100 performances and in "Candida" for 332 performances. Not only did I gain the satisfaction of playing two difficult roles, sometimes to one-night stands, but it gave me a feeling of confidence before crowds.

Shortly after the tours ended on Broadway I returned to Hollywood and was invited to speak at a testimonial dinner of Judy Garland. Normally I would have been scared to death talking before so many people. Having faced 442 crowds in the plays, I was able to stand up and speak my piece as easily as a scene from Act Two.

As for the reasons for staying away from Hollywood almost four years there are two — first, the stage was so completely engrossing that time stood still; second, I would rather be forgotten than remembered in a bad movie.

I have heard actors say 'I don't like the part I've been offered but if I don't do something soon the public will forget me.' This is not true. Vivian Leigh did not make a picture in Hollywood for 12 years after "Gone With the Wind." She came back only when she got the role she wanted in "A Street Car Named Desire."

After "The Heiress" and "The Snake Pit" I felt that to take a lesser role would be a betrayal of the public as well as myself. That's why I held out for something of the calibre of "My Cousin Rachel."

I first heard of the book in a newspaper story quoting the authoress as saying she wanted one of four women to play "Rachel" — Vivien Leigh, Greta Garbo, Alida Valli, or myself. The book had not yet been published in this country and I sent to England for it. I read it and was fascinated. I read it again and was enthralled. Miss du Maurier had achieved something rare and great. "Rachel" is all things to all people. She is at one and the same time a glamorous woman and a suspected murderess to the young man who falls in love with her and who fears she is trying to poison him. Around her is built a convincing web of circumstantial evidence both inculpating and exonerating her. Producer Nunnally Johnson has followed the book faithfully in his script and Director Henry Koster is retaining these same shadings of guilt and innocence. To the end, the characters in the story as well as the film's audience, do not know whether Rachel is a killer or a lovable woman. I'm sure this will intrigue the audience as much as it does me.

It's a characterization role, as most of my roles have been, but it's characterization with glamour and romance — with English stage star Richard Burton — something I couldn't pass up in a part.

On the whole, my ambition is to go on doing as I have been doing —to work only in pictures to which I can respond, to take only those parts upon which I can throw some light, illumine in some way.

IN WASHINGTON

The big whipcrackers in the United States senate, regardless of which candidate captures the presidency, will be Senator Robert A. Taft, often referred to as Mr. Republican and Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, leader of the southern wing of the Democratic party.

That should carry a note of comfort for those who vaguely favor a change and at the same time are disturbed by the thought of it. Unless the administration in power has an overwhelming majority in Congress, as in the earlier years of the New Deal, the senate functions as the balance wheel of the federal government, checking the executive branch, as the Constitution intended it should, from exercising dictatorial powers.

Since the prospects in the November election are not for a landslide, but rather for continued Democratic control of the senate, which means that they will apply the brakes through a combination of Republican and southern Democratic votes.

To the inquiry, "Would that be a change?" the most logical answer is "Yes, in the sense that a new administration, whether Republican or Democrat will try to do the things which the Truman administration has shrugged off". And in the effort to accomplish have to rely on the Taft - Byrd leadership, which doesn't exactly become a coalition, but at times functions like one.

The senate now has 49 Democrats and 46 Republicans with one vacancy, but an overturn by the Republicans is not nearly as simple as that narrow margin would seem to indicate. Of the 33 seats to be filled 19 are now held by Republicans and 14 by Democrats. But more Republicans than Democratic seats are in jeopardy, and many observers think the Democrats have an excellent chance for a net gain of several seats, including some of those which the Republicans grabbed unexpectedly in 1946, when the GOP-controlled 80th Congress, so frequently excoriated by President Truman came into power.

To those who are dubious about the possibility of a Democratic senate under a Republican president, it should be pointed out that in such an event Mr. Eisenhower would have to lean heavily on the Taft-Byrd strength and counsel. Americans can smile at that, recalling the bitterness of the Re-

NOTEBOOK

Or is its length—and the manner of his death—prescribed by higher powers even before his birth?

The possibility that they are merely pawns of hate has interested fools and philosophers since men first looked up at the stars and asked the eternal "Why?"

A baby falls from a seventh floor window and lives. . . another tumbles two floors and dies. Why? Is it doom or chance?

The other day a transient, sleeping 30 feet from a road, was killed when a passing car was forced off the highway and ran over him in the dark. Probably no man had napped at that exact spot since the beginning of time . . . And no car wheel had passed over it. What brought man and vehicle disastrously together at the exact moment . . . chance or destiny?

Life is full of such mishaps, and many people say, "Well, it was just in the cards" or "Everything is a matter of odds." And for some reason it comforts them, perhaps because they don't have to blame themselves for what happens.

War brings out this type of fatalism in many. "If a shell or a bullet has your number on it, well, brother, that's it," they say. However, I never knew a fellow like that who didn't duck like everybody else when a shell burst nearby.

All of which is preamble for a true-life story that has just come to our desk — an eerie little happening that DeMaupassant or O. Henry might have fashioned into a macabre tale.

The setting is in that continent of darkness — Africa. And the events were brought out at an inquest court in Salisbury, South Africa, which was investigating the death leap of a native fisherman into a river infested with crocodiles.

The crippled fisherman in time returned to his task, fishing the same river. Years later he again was seized by a crocodile. This time he was rescued by a companion who stabbed the crocodile with a spear.

At the hospital doctors amputated Mudunkwe's left arm.

Returning to his village he refused to eat or talk and sat alone, brooding.

One day he jumped up, muttering, "Crocodile calling me, crocodile calling me." He ran to the river, leaped in and was immediately dragged under and killed by a crocodile.

A policeman, summoned by the villagers, shot the reptile to death. When the villagers hauled it out, they were awed to find it was blind in both eyes and bore the scars of spear wounds on its body.

The duel between Mudungwe and his crocodile was over. What brought them together three times? Chance or destiny?

except for life insurance companies which go into the building of architectural monstrosities known as "projects." These are supposed to be low-renting but are generally so restricted to the private notions of the owners and managers as to be, at times, unpleasant for dwelling purposes. Imagine not being permitted to drive a nail into a wall to hang a picture!

The fact is that the overall value of the American dollar is 53 cents, and if we continue high government spending it is bound to go lower. It is interesting that according to this table, food has suffered most in the richest agricultural country in the world, the price of food going so high that in 1952 it is possible to get no more than 43 cents worth for the dollar.

This table reflects seriously on the actual value of wage increases, which, while they keep going up, do not produce more value in purchases. When the worker's wife takes a $10 bill to the market, she only gets $4.30 of food as compared with the 1935-39 period.

It would make an interesting debate if Messrs. Eisenhower and Stevenson could be got onto this subject: how do you plan to make a dollar in money equal a dollar in purchasing power? Maybe one of them knows how to do it. If he does, he is worth what it costs to pay an American to be our President.

publican convention and Taft-Eisenhower feud. But fortunately the U. S. government can function without impairment under such a a situation.

Gov. Stevenson of course would face the same outlook and very probably would accept it as something to reply upon rather than be annoyed over. A conservative senate control, which the dual leadership of Taft and Byrd amounts to, can take the heat off the White House on many occasions. In the case of a new President who wishes to proceed with appropriate caution, as the next one will, legislators with as much authority as those two can be tremendous help.

However the gap between the occupant of the White House and the conservative senate leaders on question of policy will not block the former's legislative program, if the new administration follows precedent. A new president usually has more success in promoting his program at the outset than after the "honeymoon" as the first six months of his term is called.

On matters of foreign policy the stand of the two parties is now so similar that their candidates are having difficulty in criticizing one another's position. But the Taft-Byrd following which will be in effect, a bi-partisan minority on subjects on which the party platforms are in virtual agreement, will act as a screen through which enabling legislation must pass.

If General Eisenhower is elected, the man whom he defeated for the nomination will wield a considerable influence in legislation and have a strong voice in his administration, whether the President likes it or not.

If Governor Stevenson is elected, he will soon learn how long the Democratic unity which was evidenced when Illinois swung its convention vote to support the right of the Virginia delegates to be seated will last. He will find Senator Byrd an important wheel in his administration, though sometimes revolving in an opposite direction.

Effort is to Save Taxpayers' Money

While the U. S. tried to persuade the Danish government not to make delivery, the Danes felt they had to live up to their contract.

The only alternative might have been for the U. S. to buy the tanker, and it didn't particularly want it. So the Danes made delivery and President Truman ruled that Denmark should not be barred from receiving further U. S. aid, as provided for in the Battle act.

Often the determining factor for the United States in trying to break up trade between a European country and the Soviet has been whether it should have the American taxpayers provide the commodities which the western European countries would be deprived of in exchange.

For instance, western Europe has been getting about 25 million tons of coal a year from the U.S., nine million tons from Poland. If these western European countries should refuse to sell their products to Poland, they might be unable to earn enough money to buy that much more coal from the U. S. The alternative would be to have the U. S. make up this coal deficiency for free.

So which becomes more important—shutting off trade in strategic materials to the Iron Curtain countires or saving the U. S. taxpayers some money?

Over the long haul, it isn't such a tremendous amount of trade between East and West that has to be blocked. Estimates put the figure at less than a billion dollars a year But it's a tremendously important billion dollars worth.

When the Russians called their Moscow trade conference last year they had a reason. The allied strategic list of banned exports to Russia was having its effect. And the Commies wanted to let out some propaganda screams against it.

George E. Sokolsky: THESE DAYS

except for life insurance companies which go into the building of architectural monstrosities known as "projects." These are supposed to be low-renting but are generally so restricted to the private notions of the owners and managers as to be, at times, unpleasant for dwelling purposes. Imagine not being permitted to drive a nail into a wall to hang a picture!

The fact is that the overall value of the American dollar is 53 cents, and if we continue high government spending it is bound to go lower. It is interesting that according to this table, food has suffered most in the richest agricultural country in the world, the price of food going so high that in 1952 it is possible to get no more than 43 cents worth for the dollar.

This table reflects seriously on the actual value of wage increases, which, while they keep going up, do not produce more value in purchases. When the worker's wife takes a $10 bill to the market, she only gets $4.30 of food as compared with the 1935-39 period.

It would make an interesting debate if Messrs. Eisenhower and Stevenson could be got onto this subject: how do you plan to make a dollar in money equal a dollar in purchasing power? Maybe one of them knows how to do it. If he does, he is worth what it costs to pay an American to be our President.

publican convention and Taft-Eisenhower feud. But fortunately the U. S. government can function without impairment under such a a situation.

Gov. Stevenson of course would face the same outlook and very probably would accept it as something to reply upon rather than be annoyed over. A conservative senate control, which the dual leadership of Taft and Byrd amounts to, can take the heat off the White House on many occasions. In the case of a new President who wishes to proceed with appropriate caution, as the next one will, legislators with as much authority as those two can be tremendous help.

However the gap between the occupant of the White House and the conservative senate leaders on question of policy will not block the former's legislative program, if the new administration follows precedent. A new president usually has more success in promoting his program at the outset than after the "honeymoon" as the first six months of his term is called.

On matters of foreign policy the stand of the two parties is now so similar that their candidates are having difficulty in criticizing one another's position. But the Taft-Byrd following which will be in effect, a bi-partisan minority on subjects on which the party platforms are in virtual agreement, will act as a screen through which enabling legislation must pass.

If General Eisenhower is elected, the man whom he defeated for the nomination will wield a considerable influence in legislation and have a strong voice in his administration, whether the President likes it or not.

If Governor Stevenson is elected, he will soon learn how long the Democratic unity which was evidenced when Illinois swung its convention vote to support the right of the Virginia delegates to be seated will last. He will find Senator Byrd an important wheel in his administration, though sometimes revolving in an opposite direction.

Effort is to Save Taxpayers' Money

While the U. S. tried to persuade the Danish government not to make delivery, the Danes felt they had to live up to their contract.

The only alternative might have been for the U. S. to buy the tanker, and it didn't particularly want it. So the Danes made delivery and President Truman ruled that Denmark should not be barred from receiving further U. S. aid, as provided for in the Battle act.

Often the determining factor for the United States in trying to break up trade between a European country and the Soviet has been whether it should have the American taxpayers provide the commodities which the western European countries would be deprived of in exchange.

For instance, western Europe has been getting about 25 million tons of coal a year from the U.S., nine million tons from Poland. If these western European countries should refuse to sell their products to Poland, they might be unable to earn enough money to buy that much more coal from the U. S. The alternative would be to have the U. S. make up this coal deficiency for free.

So which becomes more important—shutting off trade in strategic materials to the Iron Curtain countires or saving the U. S. taxpayers some money?

Over the long haul, it isn't such a tremendous amount of trade between East and West that has to be blocked. Estimates put the figure at less than a billion dollars a year. But it's a tremendously important billion dollars worth.

When the Russians called their Moscow trade conference last year they had a reason. The allied strategic list of banned exports to Russia was having its effect. And the Commies wanted to let out some propaganda screams against it.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. Two sociologists studied this problem in 177 cities of the United States and found no relationship between the percentages of marriages and percentages of divorces. In some cities where the marriage rate was low, the divorce rate was high—and vice versa. Another popular notion proved wrong—as is usual in many cases.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. It's unwise. Advanced education should prepare a person to make a living, but paraphrasing one authority, college exists to change human behavior and ideals. It's object is to develop personality, to produce all round good men and women—individuals who are mature and well-balanced physically, mentally, emotionally and socially, rather than mere economic producers. Students should learn from college counselors what occupation they will like, which is usually the one they are best fitted for.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes, many are. As announced by a leading technical magazine, a new drug is proving helpful as an antidote to morphine addiction. It isn't a cure but it helps the patient's will power. It temporarily reduces the craving, while other treatments are being undertaken. It is now available to doctors working to cure morphine addicts. Some new drugs help the will power of alcoholics in much the same way. They can only be prescribed by physicians.

Winnsboro Negro Injured In Fight

WINNSBORO, Aug. 16. (Special)—One Winnsboro Negro was sent to the Monroe Charity hospital and another locked in the Franklin parish jail following a neighborhood fight late Friday night.

Sheriff Hiram Waller of Franklin parish, who investigated the shooting with Deputy Sheriff Mack Rogillio, said Booker T. Jackson, about 40, was taken to the Monroe hospital after being shot by a next door neighbor, Sam Anderson, 30.

The Franklin parish sheriff department received a call about 10 p. m. Friday about a disturbance in the Liddiville community, five miles from Winnsboro. An investigation revealed that Jackson had beat up his wife and forced her to leave the house after he had found her with Anderson. Jackson had taken a shotgun and was going to find Anderson, when he was shot.

The weapon which Anderson had used, Sheriff Waller said, was an old 44 calibre frontier Colt six - shooter which was used during the Spanish American war and immediately following. Anderson had used .38 calibre Winchester rifle cartridges in the pistol.

No charge had been filed pending the outcome of Jackson's condition.

SWEPTBACK WINGS COMING

Farmingdale, N. Y. (AP)—Sweptback wing effect will be standard for every first - line combat plane in the Air Force by 1955, says Alexander Kartveli, vice-president of Republic Aviation Corp.

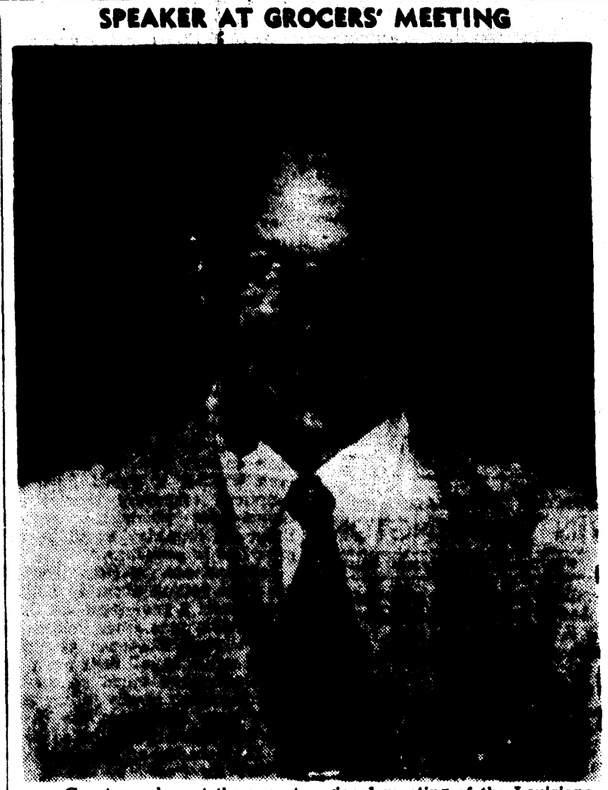

"It's sweptback wings that help man fly faster than sound," he said "Sweptback wings cut down on what airmen call drag. For example, a plane with wings swept back 45 degrees flying at the speed of sound (760 miles an hour at sea level) reacts to the pilot's control like a straight - wing plane at only 540 mph.

"Thus a plane with sweptback wings is more maneuverable at high speeds, can turn, wheel, climb and dive easier," he said.

Dr. Amacker Will Represent Council

DELHI, Aug. 16. (Special)—Dr. David M. Amacker of Lake Providence will represent the Louisiana Delta Council at a meeting in Memphis Monday with the American delegation to the International Cotton Textile Conference, which is slated to convene in England September 17 through 26.

The American delegation has been invited to England to confer with groups from the United Kingdom, Western Europe, Japan and India.

The participating countries will attempt to formulate a policy based not on sharing the present export market but on expanding the market so that there will be ample opportunity for all of the free western world to share in it.

At the Memphis meeting representatives of the National Cotton Council and shipping and textile organizations will confer with producers on the problems to be considered at the England conference.

Dr. Amacker will address the group at Memphis on the beneficial effects of international trade governing the producers interest.

It's Your Deal

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

Most Hearts enthusiasts begin each hand with a pass of three cards to the player at the left. As soon as the last card has been dealt, each player picks up his hand, assorts it and selects three cards to be passed.

He puts these cards face down on the table between him and the player at his left. It takes some players longer to make up their minds than others, but eventually each player has put three cards down on the table, and then everybody moves his three cards to the left and accepts three cards from the player at the right

The privilege of getting rid of three cards is very valuable. Properly used. it can help you win—or, at least, cut down your losses. Moreover, you can often deduce, from the three new cards that you get, something about the hand of the player at your right.

What should you pass? For one thing, you practically never pass a low spade. You may be passed the ace, king or queen of spades; and, if so, your low spades may save you.

High spades (queen or higher) are usually good cards to pass. Certainly, you should pass a high spade if your hand contains only two or three spades in all. With five or more spades, it is not important to pass a high spade.

Your length will protect you. If you have a good hand with a long spade suit you don't dream of passing the queen of spades. You have a better chance to get rid of the black lady if you hold it than if you give it away.

The heart suit is much like the spades Never pass very low hearts (unless you are planning an attempt to take all of the hearts and the queen of spades); they are not dangerous in your hand, and they may protect you if you receive a high heart or two from the player at your right.

It is often wise to pass a high heart from any short holding in hearts. There is no particular need, however to pass high hearts if you have five or more cards in the suit, particularly if they include two or three very low cards.

If you have no problems in either spades or hearts, you must consider the advisability of passing clubs or diamonds. Here again a long suit is no problem, particularly if it includes a couple of very low cards

With a short holding, pass it all on, leaving yourself with a void suit. You may receive cards in that same suit from the player at your right, but if you don't you will probably get early chances to discard when your void suit is led.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. Two sociologists studied this problem in 177 cities of the United States and found no relationship between the percentages of marriages and percentages of divorces. In some cities where the marriage rate was low, the divorce rate was high—and vice versa. Another popular notion proved wrong—as is usual in many cases.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. It's unwise. Advanced education should prepare a person to make a living, but paraphrasing one authority, college exists to change human behavior and ideals. It's object is to develop personality, to produce all round good men and women—individuals who are mature and well-balanced physically, mentally, emotionally and socially, rather than mere economic producers. Students should learn from college counselors what occupation they will like, which is usually the one they are best fitted for.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes, many are. As announced by a leading technical magazine, a new drug is proving helpful as an antidote to morphine addiction. It isn't a cure but it helps the patient's will power. It temporarily reduces the craving, while other treatments are being undertaken. It is now available to doctors working to cure morphine addicts. Some new drugs help the will power of alcoholics in much the same way. They can only be prescribed by physicians.

Winnsboro Negro Injured In Fight

WINNSBORO, Aug. 16. (Special)—One Winnsboro Negro was sent to the Monroe Charity hospital and another locked in the Franklin parish jail following a neighborhood fight late Friday night.

Sheriff Hiram Waller of Franklin parish, who investigated the shooting with Deputy Sheriff Mack Rogillio, said Booker T. Jackson, about 40, was taken to the Monroe hospital after being shot by a next door neighbor, Sam Anderson, 30.

The Franklin parish sheriff department received a call about 10 p. m. Friday about a disturbance in the Liddiville community, five miles from Winnsboro. An investigation revealed that Jackson had beat up his wife and forced her to leave the house after he had found her with Anderson. Jackson had taken a shotgun and was going to find Anderson, when he was shot.

The weapon which Anderson had used, Sheriff Waller said, was an old 44 calibre frontier Colt six-shooter which was used during the Spanish American war and immediately following. Anderson had used .38 calibre Winchester rifle cartridges in the pistol.

No charge had been filed pending the outcome of Jackson's condition.

SWEPTBACK WINGS COMING

Farmingdale, N. Y. (AP)—Sweptback wing effect will be standard for every first-line combat plane in the Air Force by 1955, says Alexander Kartveli, vice-president of Republic Aviation Corp.

"It's sweptback wings that help man fly faster than sound," he said "Sweptback wings cut down on what airmen call drag. For example, a plane with wings swept back 45 degrees flying at the speed of sound (760 miles an hour at sea level) reacts to the pilot's control like a straight-wing plane at only 540 mph.

"Thus a plane with sweptback wings is more maneuverable at high speeds, can turn, wheel, climb and dive easier," he said.

SPEAKER AT GROCERS' MEETING

Guest speaker at the recent regional meeting of the Louisiana Wholesale Grocers' Association, which was held at the Francis Hotel, was Harold O. Smith, Jr., executive vice-president of the United States Wholesale Grocers' Association. The association, Smith pointed out, is continually striving to help the wholesale grocer and his retail grocer customer keep down operating costs and to increase merchandising efficiency.

BOYS START FIRE

NEW YORK (AP)—Three small boys playing on the roof of a Bronx apartment house dropped a burning mop over the edge and set four fires.

The mop ignited drying laundry on window sills of the fifth, fourth, third and second floors which in turn set fire to window curtains. Fire apparatus extinguished the multiple blazes before flames spread to the structure itself.

The boys fled.

Bert, 38, has made 74 exhibition and training jumps in his 11-year jumping career. He packs his own parachutes.

A specialist in delayed jumps, he usually leaps from 3,500 feet and waits until he's 1,000 feet from the ground to pull the ripcord.

Dr. Amacker Will Represent Council

DELHI, Aug. 16. (Special)—Dr. David M. Amacker of Lake Providence will represent the Louisiana Delta Council at a meeting in Memphis Monday with the American delegation to the International Cotton Textile Conference, which is slated to convene in England September 17 through 26.

The American delegation has been invited to England to confer with groups from the United Kingdom, Western Europe, Japan and India.

The participating countries will attempt to formulate a policy based not on sharing the present export market but on expanding the market so that there will be ample opportunity for all of the free western world to share in it.

At the Memphis meeting representatives of the National Cotton Council and shipping and textile organizations will confer with producers on the problems to be considered at the England conference.

Dr. Amacker will address the group at Memphis on the beneficial effects of international trade governing the producers interest.

SEEK CHAMP

MADRID (AP)—Top Spanish beer drinkers are "fighting" for the right to represent Spain in the European beer drinking championship this summer.

The Spanish contest is organized by the recently constituted National Federation of Beer Drinkers. The federation which already has 5,000 members, is also the organizer of the European championship to be held in Madrid. Countries invited are Germany, England, Italy Belgium and Switzerland.

Every foreign competitor will compete with the beer of his own country. The Spanish record is 7.9 quarts drunk in an hour in a tourney in Barcelona last year.

It's Your Deal

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Written for NEA Service

Most Hearts enthusiasts begin each hand with a pass of three cards to the player at the left. As soon as the last card has been dealt, each player picks up his hand, assorts it and selects three cards to be passed.

He puts these cards face down on the table between him and the player at his left. It takes some players longer to make up their minds than others, but eventually each player has put three cards down on the table, and then everybody moves his three cards to the left and accepts three cards from the player at the right

The privilege of getting rid of three cards is very valuable. Properly used, it can help you win—or, at least, cut down your losses. Moreover, you can often deduce, from the three new cards that you get, something about the hand of the player at your right.

What should you pass? For one thing, you practically never pass a low spade. You may be passed the ace, king or queen of spades; and, if so, your low spades may save you.

High spades (queen or higher) are usually good cards to pass. Certainly, you should pass a high spade if your hand contains only two or three spades in all. With five or more spades, it is not important to pass a high spade.

Your length will protect you. If you have a good hand with a long spade suit you don't dream of passing the queen of spades. You have a better chance to get rid of the black lady if you hold it than if you give it away.

The heart suit is much like the spades. Never pass very low hearts (unless you are planning an attempt to take all of the hearts and the queen of spades); they are not dangerous in your hand, and they may protect you if you receive a high heart or two from the player at your right.

It is often wise to pass a high heart from any short holding in hearts. There is no particular need, however to pass high hearts if you have five or more cards in the suit, particularly if they include two or three very low cards.

If you have no problems in either spades or hearts, you must consider the advisability of passing clubs or diamonds. Here again a long suit is no problem, particularly if it includes a couple of very low cards

With a short holding, pass it all on, leaving yourself with a void suit. You may receive cards in that same suit from the player at your right, but if you don't you will probably get early chances to discard when your void suit is led.

DOUGHBOYS DEFEAT M'CAIN-RICHARDS, 5 TO 1

MONROE JUNIORS LOST 1ST REGION PLAYOFF BATTLE

Locals Play Jackson, Miss., In 3 O'clock Game Today

PONCHATOULA, La., Aug 16—(Special)— The Little Rock Doughboys, champions of Arkansas, defeated McCain-Richards Motors of Monroe, Louisiana's kingpins, 5 to 1 here Saturday night in the second game of the national region American Legion playoffs. Earlier in the day Austin's champions of Texas had defeated the Mississippi titlists from Jackson, 10 to 2.

The double elimination tournament setup still leaves the losers a chance. Monroe and Jackson clash Sunday afternoon here at 3 o'clock in the game that will send the loser home. Little Rock and Austin play an 8 o'clock night game here Sunday.

The tournament will last through Tuesday.

Big Johnny Venable, Little Rock hurler, was more than the Monroe batters could fathom. He held the Louisiana champs to four hits, two of them going to Outfielder Ike McMullen. Venable fanned 15 and walked five.

Arthur "Little Red" Swanson worked eight innings for Monroe and was charged with the loss, serving up eight hits, but errors hurt his cause. Gene Barham worked the last inning for McCain-Richards.

The Doughboys scored again in the third when Ashley singled, advanced on an infield out and scored when Golson, who had walked, was being caught in a run-down off first.

Monroe tallied in the bottom of the fourth when Gannaway, after forcing Bennett, who had walked, advanced on an error and scored on a single by Causey.

Two runs scored for the Doughboys in the seventh after the first two batters in the frame had been retired. Successive singles by Venable, Galloway, Robinson and Landerdale Venable and Galloway to score.

Brooks Jump Lead To 8 Games As Giants Rained Out

BROOKLYN, Aug. 16 (AP)— Billy Loes, backed by a vicious 15 - hit attack, coasted to his 11th victory of the season today as the Brooklyn Dodgers mauled the Philadelphia Phillies, 15-0, in a game that was called in the seventh inning because of rain.

The triumph boosted Brooklyn's National League lead to eight games over the second place New York Giants. The Giants' game with Boston was rained out.

Home runs by Andy Pafko and Carl Furillo featured the Dodger bombardment of Curt Simmons, Andy Hansen and Jim Konstanty. The Phillies also kicked in with four errors to hand the Dodgers seven unearned runs.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP)— Ralph Kiner and Howie Pollet teamed up to help the Pittsburgh Pirates snap a five - game losing streak against tall Paul Minner as the Bucs nipped the Cubs, 2-1, today to hand the Chicago southpaw his eighth loss of the season.

Kiner blasted two run - making doubles to help Pollet spin a six-hitter in fashioning his sixth 1952 decision as the eighth place Pirates grabbed the opener of a four - game series.

John Paul Jones Moves Into Stretch Lead For Cotton States Mace Crown

Don Allen, Natchez, Duels Monroe Star For Title

By J. P. FRIEND

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., August 16 — (Special)— The Cotton States League batting leadership is in another two-way snarl.

John Paul Jones, Monroe's slugging first baseman, who apparently has been biding his time all season turned on the steam last week and climbed into the driver's seat with Don Allen, rival Natchez initial sacker, each boasting a mark of .330 for the period ending August 12, as compiled by the Friend News Service.

The Sport star enjoyed a prosperous plate dessert during the eight games since the records were last released. He blasted 12 hits in 28 times at bat, running his season total to 144, added 17 total bases for 201, batted in 13 runs for the year's record of 84, all his laurels. He showed a net gain of seven points for his batting average. His biggest splurge of the week came at Hot Springs Sunday when he cracked a single, double and home run that drove in eight mates.

On the otherhand, Allen was having his troubles getting drives to drop safely. He was able to show but seven connections in 25 tries that cost him four decimals.

John Tidwell, Greenwood out - fielder who led the loop hitters for most of the season, wound up in third place with .315, despite a seven point drop to .315. Thanks to a perfect 5-5 Sunday, Trey Mitchell, Natchez catcher - manager, picked up a point and came in fourth at .313. Hugh Glass, Meridian third baseman, participated in but two games, once as a successful pinch hitter, and added a point for fifth place with .311. Ray Perry, El Dorado pilot and co-leader with Allen last week, collected but three hits, one his 14th home run, and dropped 20 points to .310 and the sixth slot. Hillis Layne, Pine Bluff, holds forth in seventh with .302, a loss of five. Nelson Daehn, Monroe outfielder, spurted upward six points to earn an eighth-place tie with Greenville's slugging Bob Churchill, each with .300. Tom Davis, Meridian boss, fell outside the .300 circle to .297 to round out the Big 10.

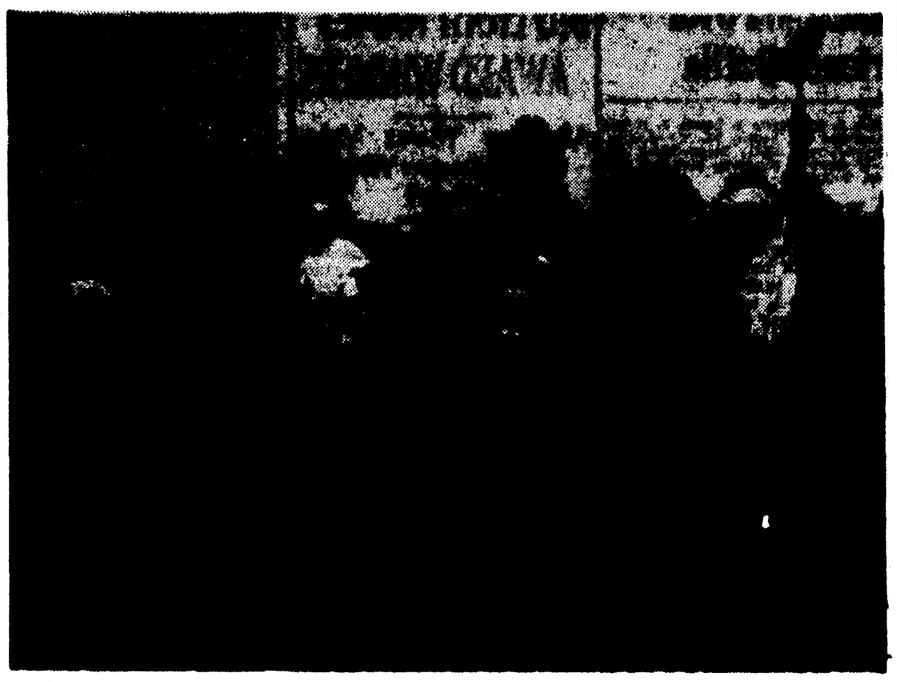

Hal Walther, Natchez, (.284), continues to creep up on Tidwell in the doubles race. Hal notched No. 30, one behind the Dodger. George Wegeruk, Pine Bluff (.221) regained the lead in triples by getting his 11th. Roxie Humberson, El Dorado, (.264) smote his 12th and 13th homers but trails Perry in that department. Gene Pompella, Meridian, (.285) hasn't yet reached the century mark in runs, lacking only four. Bill Carr, Natchez (.256) stole two bases, one less than his rival, Marty Devlin, Greenwood, but kept out in front of the pilfering with 44 thefts, to 43.

Five batters joined the 100 - hit club during the week: Allen, Pel Austin, El Dorado (.273); Bill Polubiatka, Greenville (.283); Jess Van Winkle (.288) and George Andrews (.256), both of Monroe.

Stan Wasiak, Greenwood's playing manager, turned in one of the outstanding batting cards with 28-13 that added 16 points to his mace mark to .281.

Bobby Harrison, Meridian ace, continues to spiral his victories. Holding the Greenwood Dodgers to five scattered hits, the Newton, Miss., flash racked up his 24th triumph against three losses, and third shutout of the season. John Ferins, Greenwood, has 13-7, and has a 224 - 214 strikeout edge over teammate Dan McDevitt. Pete Bardin, Natchez, posted 17-8. Joe Kopach, Meridian, has won 16 and lost 10. Darvin Chrisco, Monroe, has an outstanding 13-4 record.

SULTAN BATTLES RAY AT BASTROP

Headline Fight Card Billed For Next Saturday Night

BASTROP, La., Aug. 16 (Special)—Monroe and Bastrop fighters claim top billing on the second professional boxing card to be promoted here by the Campbell brothers, Ray and Larche, next Saturday night when middleweights Norris Ray, Bastrop, and Joe Sultan, Monroe, clash in the ten-round feature at the Barons' baseball park.

It will mark the professional debut for Ray who scored 47 victories, 36 by knockouts, as an amateur here. His record shows only four losses by decisions, two of them in National Golden Glove semi-finals at Chicago.

Sultan, being handled by Charlie Rodriguez, former lightweight contender, made his last outing a winning one when he knocked out Lonnie Rylant, New Orleans, in the secod round of a match at New Orleans August 4.

The Campbells listed two other matches as follows:

Jones last season won A. A. U. tourneys at Greenville and Jackson, Miss., while Moreau was a high school champion for Oak Grove. Elledge fought for Tallulah High a few years ago while Hightower, a former Bastrop High boxer, is only recently out of the navy where he fought in naval rings in Japan.

Whitaker was S. A. A. U. champion in 1948, and A. E. F. light-heavy champion in the marines. "No one apparently wants any of Whitaker," said Ray Campbell who has been seeking an opponent for the big Bastrop mauler.

Pardon was a state high school champion in 1949 and fought in the Memphis Golden Glove tourney this year.

A four-bout card is promised with the best of the last three to go as a six-round semi-final with the others to be billed for four rounds.

CRAFTY ADMIRAL WINS IN WHIRLY

Takes $44,300 Event Under Arcaro's Expert Handling

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP) — Crafty Admiral, ridden by Jockey Eddie Arcaro, greatest money rider of them all, today galloped to an easy three-length triumph in the $44,300 Whirlaway Handicap before 26,182 spectators at Washington Park.

The Eastern Invader, owned by Charles and Francis Cohen of Miami Beach, Fla., strengthened his position in the race as the nation's No. 1 handicap champion for 1952, by scoring today's victory.

Only one horse in the eight horse field challenged the winner. That was Oil Capitol, owned by Hasty House farms and Mrs. Harry Trotsky, Louisville, Ky.

Oil Capitol made a strong bid at the far turn, while Arcaro still had a slight lead, and was in bristling pursuit all down the stretch but failed to gain and finished second.

Ruhe, which raced as an entry with Oil Capitol, finished a distant third, eight lengths behind his stablemate.

Crafty Admiral galloped over the muddy course in 1:58 3-5 and by hauling down first prize of $27,230 boosted his season's earnings to $159,825. His next big test comes in the $170,000 Washington Park Handicap on Labor Day.

The winner, which has come home in front in eight of 14 races this year, went to the post a three to five favorite and paid $3.40, $2.20 and $2.40. The entry of Oil Capitol and Ruhe returned $3.80 to place and $2.60 to show.

DOUGHBOYS DEFEAT M'CAIN-RICHARDS, 5 TO 1

MONROE JUNIORS LOST 1ST REGION PLAYOFF BATTLE

Locals Play Jackson, Miss., In 3 O'clock Game Today

PONCHATOULA, La., Aug 16—(Special)— The Little Rock Doughboys, champions of Arkansas, defeated McCain-Richards Motors of Monroe, Louisiana's kingpins, 5 to 1 here Saturday night in the second game of the national region American Legion playoffs. Earlier in the day Austin's champions of Texas had defeated the Mississippi titlists from Jackson, 10 to 2.

The double elimination tournament setup still leaves the losers a chance. Monroe and Jackson clash Sunday afternoon here at 3 o'clock in the game that will send the loser home. Little Rock and Austin play an 8 o'clock night game here Sunday.

The tournament will last through Tuesday.

Big Johnny Venable, Little Rock hurler, was more than the Monroe batters could fathom. He held the Louisiana champs to four hits, two of them going to Outfielder Ike McMullen. Venable fanned 15 and walked five.

Arthur "Little Red" Swanson worked eight innings for Monroe and was charged with the loss, serving up eight hits, but errors hurt his cause. Gene Barham worked the last inning for McCain-Richards.

The Doughboys scored again in the third when Ashley singled, advanced on an infield out and scored when Golson, who had walked, was being caught in a run-down off first.

Monroe tallied in the bottom of the fourth when Gannaway, after forcing Bennett, who had walked, advanced on an error and scored on a single by Causey.

Two runs scored for the Doughboys in the seventh after the first two batters in the frame had been retired. Successive singles by Venable, Galloway, Robinson and Landerdale Venable and Galloway to score.

SULTAN BATTLES RAY AT BASTROP

Headline Fight Card Billed For Next Saturday Night

BASTROP, La., Aug. 16 (Special)—Monroe and Bastrop fighters claim top billing on the second professional boxing card to be promoted here by the Campbell brothers, Ray and Larche, next Saturday night when middleweights Norris Ray, Bastrop, and Joe Sultan, Monroe, clash in the ten-round feature at the Barons' baseball park.

It will mark the professional debut for Ray who scored 47 victories, 36 by knockouts, as an amateur here. His record shows only four losses by decisions, two of them in National Golden Glove semi-finals at Chicago.

Sultan, being handled by Charlie Rodriguez, former lightweight contender, made his last outing a winning one when he knocked out Lonnie Rylant, New Orleans, in the secod round of a match at New Orleans August 4.

The Campbells listed two other matches as follows:

Jones last season won A. A. U. tourneys at Greenville and Jackson, Miss., while Moreau was a high school champion for Oak Grove. Elledge fought for Tallulah High a few years ago while Hightower, a former Bastrop High boxer, is only recently out of the navy where he fought in naval rings in Japan.

Whitaker was S. A. A. U. champion in 1948, and A. E. F. light-heavy champion in the marines. "No one apparently wants any of Whitaker," said Ray Campbell who has been seeking an opponent for the big Bastrop mauler.

Pardon was a state high school champion in 1949 and fought in the Memphis Golden Glove tourney this year.

A four-bout card is promised with the best of the last three to go as a six-round semi-final with the others to be billed for four rounds.

By J. P. FRIEND

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., August 16 — (Special)— The Cotton States League batting leadership is in another two-way snarl.

John Paul Jones, Monroe's slugging first baseman, who apparently has been biding his time all season turned on the steam last week and climbed into the driver's seat with Don Allen, rival Natchez initial sacker, each boasting a mark of .330 for the period ending August 12, as compiled by the Friend News Service.

The Sport star enjoyed a prosperous plate dessert during the eight games since the records were last released. He blasted 12 hits in 28 times at bat, running his season total to 144, added 17 total bases for 201, batted in 13 runs for the year's record of 84, all his laurels. He showed a net gain of seven points for his batting average. His biggest splurge of the week came at Hot Springs Sunday when he cracked a single, double and home run that drove in eight mates.

On the otherhand, Allen was having his troubles getting drives to drop safely. He was able to show but seven connections in 25 tries that cost him four decimals.

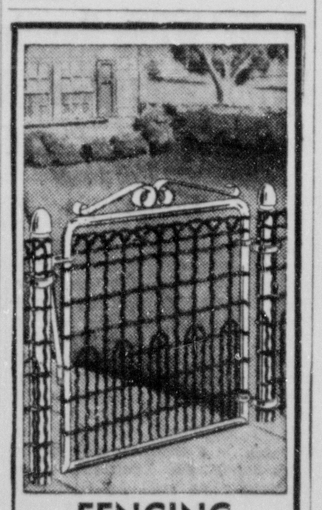

John Tidwell, Greenwood out - fielder who led the loop hitters for most of the season, wound up in third place with .315, despite a seven point drop to .315. Thanks to a perfect 5-5 Sunday, Troy Mitchell, Natchez catcher - manager, picked up a point and came in fourth at .313. ## CRAFTY ADMIRAL WINS IN WHIRLY

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP) — Crafty Admiral, ridden by Jockey Eddie Arcaro, greatest money rider of them all, today galloped to an easy three-length triumph in the $44,300 Whirlaway Handicap before 26,192 spectators at Washington Park.

The Eastern Invader, owned by Charles and Francis Cohen of Miami Beach, Fla., strengthened his position in the race as the nation's No. 1 handicap champion for 1952, by scoring today's victory.

Only one horse in the eight horse field challenged the winner. That was Oil Capitol, owned by Hasty House farms and Mrs. Harry Trotsky, Louisville, Ky.

Oil Capitol made a strong bid at the far turn, while Arcaro still had a slight lead, and was in bristling pursuit all down the stretch but failed to gain and finished second.

Ruhe, which raced as an entry with Oil Capitol, finished a distant third, eight lengths behind his stablemate.

Crafty Admiral galloped over the muddy course in 1:58 3-5 and by hauling down first prize of $27,850 boosted his season's earnings to $159,825. His next big test comes in the $170,000 Washington Park Handicap on Labor Day.

The winner, which has come home in front in eight of 14 races this year, went to the post a three to five favorite and paid $3.40, $2.20 and $2.40. The entry of Oil Capitol and Ruhe returned $2.20 to place and $2.60 to show.

MONROE VISITS NATCHEZ FOR 3-GAME STAND

EL DORADO CHIEF RIVAL OF SPORTS IN SERIES DRIVE

Ten More Games Close Schedule For Cotton States

The Monroe Sports, resting through an open date yesterday, face an uphill fight in the last stages of the Cotton States League pennant race as the charges of Manager Charley Harrington seek to win a place in the championship playoffs.

Monroe, with ten games to go, finds the El Dorado's Oilers as the No. 1 threat in the duel for at least fourth place. Greenwood is just two and a half games ahead of Monroe in third place, while Natchez is an even ten games ahead of the Sports in second place and a cinch for no worse than a fourth place tie.

El Dorado and Monroe will be facing the same clubs in the stretch drive — Natchez, Meridian and each other.

The Sports are in Natchez today to open a three-game series, while El Dorado is at Meridian for a three - game stand.

Wednesday and Thursday the Sports and Oilers will be playing cut - throat at El Dorado.

Friday the Sports return to Monroe for two games with Natchez while Meridian is at El Dorado for two. The league - leading Millers come here next Sunday for two games while Natchez is at El Dorado.

At the rate the Oilers and Sports have been running virtually tied for the past several days, its quite possible they'll come down to final just as tight and the prospect of their season - closing single game here August 26 having plenty bearing on the playoff lineup.

The injury to Pat Saviano, Monroe outfielder who was hit in the head by a pitched ball at Pine Bluff Friday night, has been described as not serious, but whether or not he will start against Natchez today was not definite.

Catcher Ray Rogers is due to be returning to the Sports after two weeks in a national guard camp, and Catcher Virgil Bivens, who has been benched the past week with a knee injury, is also expected to be taking his turns behind the plate again soon. Second Baseman Jesse Van Winkle has been handling the catching chores since the injury to Bivens and Rogers' absence.

Brookmeade's Greek Ship Wins Ocean City Heat

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 16 (AP) — Brookmeade stable's Greek Ship came a-flying in the stretch today and beat Hi Billee by a half length to win the $15,000 - added Ocean City Handicap at the Atlantic City race track.

Before a record crowd of 20,640, Jockey Joe Culmone guided Greek Ship over the mile and a sixteenth in 1:47 4-5. Hooked up with the Brookmeade's Going Away, Greek Ship paid $4, $2.60 and $2.40.

Hi Billee finished a length ahead of Montmartre.

It was the fourth running of the Ocean City — and the third time Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade scored with Pleador last year and with Going Away in 1949.

SMUGGLED OPIUM

SINGAPORE (AP)—Opium confiscated in Singapore is sent to the Crown agents for the colonies in London for sale to manufacturing pharmaceutical chemists.

Last year 8,000 pounds of the drug was seized by Customs Department officers, the 1951 report of the Customs and Excise Department said. Despite continued activity against opium smugglers and keepers of opium-smoking saloons, the smoking of opium was still rife in the colony, the report said.

Berra Homer Gives Yanks Win Over Red Sox In Rain-Shortened Battle

Three-Run Blast Brings 5-4 Victory In Six Innings

BOSTON, Aug. 16 (AP)— Yogi Berra slammed relief Pitcher Maury McDermott's first pitch for three - run homer in the sixth inning today when the New York Yankees chased their Fenway Park jinx by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 5-4. Rain halted the action in the top of the seventh inning and, after an hour and a half delay, the game finally was called.

Veteran Allie Reynolds tuned in his 15th win against seven losses but he was trailing, 4-2, until Berra banged his 24th homer of the season into the right field stand. Phil Rizzuto had singled and starter Ray Scarborough had walked Mickey Mantle with none out before Berra's clout.

Racer Cracks Up In Stock Car As New Records Set

WENDOVER, Utah, Aug. 16 (AP) —Lt. Col A. T. (Goldie) Gardner, 61, British racing driver, was injured today when his souped-up stock car crashed into a mileage marker on the salt flats at more than 150 miles an hour.

He suffered cuts on the lower part of his face when the marker shattered the enclosed cockpit of his special six - cylinder M-G racer.

Gardner lost control of the car during his run around the 10-mile closed course on the Bonneville salt flats, in Western Utah. He went into the infield and the car spun around for 2,000 yards before he righted it.

The marker is 10 feet off the track.

The sun warms the salt flats and turns the granulated salt into crystals as moisture rises from under the surface. It makes the track mushy and slower.

The Britisher said he wouldn't race on Sunday, but would try some 10-mile straightaway trials on Monday.

Officials of the American Automobile Association said Gardner set five American class E records and three international records before he cracked up.

They listed them as follows:

JUDGE TAKES ADVICE

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—An old man with no previous convictions appeared in court on a charge of riding a bicycle against traffic regulations.

Asked if he had anything to say, he said, "I do not quite know what to say. Sir, what would you say if you were in my place?" he asked a lawyer nearby.

The magistrate smiled. "Tell me," he addressed the old man, "what would you say if you were in my place?"

In a flash came the answer: "Old man you are discharged." And he was.

ONE COUNT COPS TRAVERS STAKE

Returns $10.20 For Win Over Armageddon, Tom Fool

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 16. (AP)—One Count, a son of Count Fleet from the stable of Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords of Media, Pa., strengthened his bid for the three-year old championship as he soundly whipped seven others of his age in the 83rd Travers Stake today.

Sidelined by a foot injury since winning the Belmont Stakes early in June, the Count pulled away in the stretch and at the end of the sloppy mile and one - quarter was three lengths in front of Cain Hoy stables's Armageddon. Greentree stable's Tom Fool, the 1951 two - year old champion and the favorite today, trailed by another length in third place.

Eric Guerin, who earlier in the day won the six - furlongs of the winner - take - all Saratoga Special with Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Native Dancer guided Mrs. Jefford's fleet colt over the route in 2:07 2-5 under top weight of 126 pounds.

Although he had beaten Blue Man, the Preakness winner, in the Belmont, One Count was allowed to go off at 4 to 1 by the rain-soaked crowd of 22,236. He paid $10.20, $5.20 and $3.20 for his fifth victory in 12 starts this year.

Armageddon, third in the Belmont, returned $4.70 and $3.20 while Tom Fool, an in- and - outer all season, paid $2.50 to show.

Native Dancer shalked up his fourth victory in as many starts in taking the $17,000 purse of the Special. As the favorite he paid $3.40, $2.90 and $2.60.

J. C. Brady's Doe Walker, an outsider in the field of eight two-year olds, was second, four lengths in front of J. M. Roebling's South Point, another neglected in the wagering.

'Bully' Willis Appointed Trainer At Northeast; Glad To Come 'Home'

Reports To Indians Well Qualified For New Duties

Andrew Jackson "Bully" Willis, Jr., has been appointed trainer of athletes at Northeast Louisiana State College here, and the former Northeast student trainer will be coming "home" to take over what has developed into a major job since the Monroe institution graduated from the junior college ranks into a senior educational school.

Willis, beginning his new duties this fall, is a graduate of Rayville High School and Louisiana State University as well as Northeast Junior College. He received a bachelor of science degree as a physical education major at L. S. U. in 1950.

Experience in his chosen field included student manager of the Rayville High School football team, student trainer at N. J. C., assistant trainer at L. S. U., and he was athletic instructor, the equivalent of trainer, during 16 months of naval service. He has been associated with the Richland parish school system since graduation from L. S. U., and last year coached the first football team to be turned out at Holly Ridge High.

Willis played basketball at Northeast, held membership in the "L" club and Physical Education club.

"Ive always been interested in Northeast State, so it's like coming home," Willis said yesterday.

"Woody Boyles, like myself, came up as a student under Coach Malone. Woody is already a valuable member of Malone's coaching staff, and I hope to be an equally welcome addition," Willis continued. "There should be splendid harmony as the three of us work together this year."

Jim Malone is beginning his eighteenth year as head football coach here. Boyles is assistant football coach and head baseball coach. Both Boyles and Willis came up under the Malone system, thus being well qualified to follow the course set by Malone.

Willis is married to the former Peggy Jean Taylor of Rayville. She was a cheerleader at Northeast State when "Bully" was student trainer. The couple will live in the new dormitory for men boarding students. Willis will also have supervision of boys in Brown Stadium.

Tag Feud To Be Resumed In 5-Fall, No-Time-Limit Battle Here Tuesday

Kallio Brings Back Curtis Boys, Phantom, Kelly

A bitter feud, which began several weeks ago with Jack and George Curtis siding against Jack Kelly and the Black Phantom ends Tuesday night with the winner of three out of five falls no time limit declared the unchallenged victor, promoter Gus Kallio announced yesterday.

Last week's match left referee, fans and wrestlers confused as to the final decision, but this battle will acclaim the unquestionable winning team, Kallio asserted.

George, younger of the Curtis gladiators, will meet Kelly in the opening bout at 8:15 p.m. with a 10-minute time limit with one fall to win.

Next on the card isJack, former world's light heavyweight champion, who faces the Black Phantom in one fall match with a 10 - minute time limit.

The turmoil that marked the close of last Tuesday's match started when Referee Bill Roberts lay unconscious on the mat while George held Kelly pinned with the crowd chanting the count. When the referee crawled to his hands and knees, the situation was reversed with Kelly pinning George.

The referee gave Kelly and the Black Phantom the fall. The fans booed the decision. Roberts was immediately informed of the by play and ruled the Curtis brothers winners.

Promoter Kallio says that from this Tuesday's battle will arise victors who can claim a clear cut triumph with no question of superiority.

MONROE VISITS NATCHEZ FOR 3-GAME STAND

Ten More Games Close Schedule For Cotton States

The Monroe Sports, resting through an open date yesterday, face an uphill fight in the last stages of the Cotton States League pennant race as the charges of Manager Charley Harrington seek to win a place in the championship playoffs.

Monroe, with ten games to go, finds the El Dorado's Oilers as the No. 1 threat in the duel for at least fourth place. Greenwood is just two and a half games ahead of Monroe in third place, while Natchez is an even ten games ahead of the Sports in second place and a cinch for no worse than a fourth place tie.

El Dorado and Monroe will be facing the same clubs in the stretch drive — Natchez, Meridian and each other.

The Sports are in Natchez today to open a three-game series, while El Dorado is at Meridian and each other.

The Sports are in Natchez today to open a three-game series, while El Dorado is at Meridian for a three - game stand.

Wednesday and Thursday the Sports and Oilers will be playing cut - throat at El Dorado.

Friday the Sports return to Monroe for two games with Natchez while Meridian is at El Dorado for two. The league - leading Millers come here next Sunday for two games while Natchez is at El Dorado.

At the rate the Oilers and Sports have been running virtually tied for the past several days, its quite possible they'll come down to final just as tight and the prospect of their season - closing single game here August 26 having plenty bearing on the playoff lineup.

The injury to Pat Saviano, Monroe outfielder who was hit in the head by a pitched ball at Pine Bluff Friday night, has been described as not serious, but whether or not he will start against Natchez today was not definite.

Catcher Ray Rogers is due to be returning to the Sports after two weeks in a national guard camp, and Catcher Virgil Bivens, who has been benched the past week with a knee injury, is also expected to be taking his turns behind the plate again soon. Second Baseman Jesse Van Winkle has been handling the catching chores since the injury to Bivens and Rogers' absence.

Berra Homer Gives Yanks Win Over Red Sox In Rain-Shortened Battle

Three-Run Blast Brings 5-4 Victory In Six Innings

BOSTON, Aug. 16 (AP)— Yogi Berra slammed relief Pitcher Maury McDermott's first pitch for three - run homer in the sixth inning today when the New York Yankees chased their Fenway Park jinx by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 5-4. Rain halted the action in the top of the seventh inning and, after an hour and a half delay, the game finally was called.

Veteran Allie Reynolds tuned in his 15th win against seven losses but he was trailing, 4-2, until Berra banged his 24th homer of the season into the right field stand. Phil Rizzuto had singled and starter Ray Scarborough had walked Mickey Mantle with none out before Berra's clout.

Racer Cracks Up In Stock Car As New Records Set

WENDOVER, Utah, Aug. 16 (AP) —Lt. Col A. T. (Goldie) Gardner, 61, British racing driver, was injured today when his souped-up stock car crashed into a mileage marker on the salt flats at more than 150 miles an hour.

He suffered cuts on the lower part of his face when the marker shattered the enclosed cockpit of his special six - cylinder M-G racer.

Gardner lost control of the car during his run around the 10-mile closed course on the Bonneville salt flats, in Western Utah. He went into the infield and the car spun around for 2,000 yards before he righted it.

The marker is 10 feet off the track.

The sun warms the salt flats and turns the granulated salt into crystals as moisture rises from under the surface. It makes the track mushy and slower.

The Britisher said he wouldn't race on Sunday, but would try some 10-mile straightaway trials on Monday.

Officials of the American Automobile Association said Gardner set five American class E records and three international records before he cracked up.

They listed them as follows:

International: 50 kilometers 143.23 miles an hour; 50 miles 147.39 mph, and 100 kilometers 148.72 mph.

JUDGE TAKES ADVICE

Asked if he had anything to say, he said, "I do not quite know what to say. Sir, what would you say if you were in my place?" he asked a lawyer nearby.

The magistrate smiled. "Tell me," he addressed the old man, "what would you say if you were in my place?"

In a flash came the answer: "Old man you are discharged." And he was.

Reports To Indians Well Qualified For New Duties

Andrew Jackson "Bully" Willis, Jr., has been appointed trainer of athletes at Northeast Louisiana State College here, and the former Northeast student trainer will be coming "home" to take over what has developed into a major job since the Monroe institution graduated from the junior college ranks into a senior educational school.

Willis, beginning his new duties this fall, is a graduate of Rayville High School and Louisiana State University as well as Northeast Junior College. He received a bachelor of science degree as a physical education major at L. S. U. in 1950.

Experience in his chosen field included student manager of the Rayville High School football team, student trainer at N. J. C., assistant trainer at L. S. U., and he was athletic instructor, the equivalent of trainer, during 16 months of naval service. He has been associated with the Richland parish school system since graduation from L. S. U., and last year coached the first football team to be turned out at Holly Ridge High.

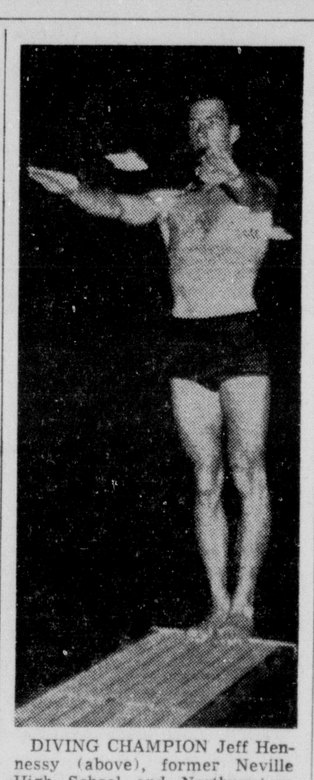

Willis played basketball at Northeast, held membership in the "L" club and Physical Education club.

"Ive always been interested in Northeast State, so it's like coming home," Willis said yesterday.

"Woody Boyles, like myself, came up as a student under Coach Malone. Woody is already a valuable member of Malone's coaching staff and I hope to be an equally welcome addition," Willis continued. "There should be splendid harmony as the three of us work together this year."

Jim Malone is beginning his eighteenth year as head football coach here. Boyles is assistant football coach and head baseball coach. Both Boyles and Willis came up under the Malone system, thus being well qualified to follow the course set by Malone.

Willis is married to the former Peggy Jean Taylor of Rayville. She was a cheerleader at Northeast State when "Bully" was student trainer. The couple will live in the new dormitory for men boarding students. Willis will also have supervision of boys in Brown Stadium.

FERRIDAY OPENS FOOTBALL WORK

Bulldogs Have Tough Schedule, Many Gaps To Fill

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 16 — (Special) — Coaches "Red" Robertson and James Otto Lancaster of the Ferriday High School Bulldogs have issued a call to candidates for the Ferriday football team to start practice on Monday. This will begin the second year for the coaches who last year compiled the higly satisfactory record of nine wins and two losses in their first year.

The schedule this year is just as tough as that of 1951, with the Bulldogs playing four Class A teams in their first four games. Line Coach Lancaster will be hardcut to find replacements for such star athletes — Lloyd Perkins, a four - year letter man at guard; the late Lamar Edwards, a two-year letter man at guard who drowned last month in Lake St. John, who although light for the position, was pound for pound one of the best players ever to represent Ferriday on the gridiron; Dusne Storms, tackle for four years, a standout on defense; Everett Westbrook, place kicker and all-around utility man who could play at center, guard, or tackle and also back up the line on defense; Dean Stevens, tackle, who showed great promise as a first year man in 1951; Charles Murray Green, who is now a member of the United States marine corps, a three year letter man at end, and Harold Wright, guard; Don Siddon, guard; Johnny McBride, end; and Gregory Zettler, end.

Backfield Coach Robertson is faced with the prospects of replacing three members of his first-string backfield; among them Frederick Stuart, a first year man who last year led the conference in scoring, who is now living in Baton Rouge, Bobby Marks, first-string fullback, and Carl Able, first string right halfback, who has graduated. Moreland Book, a reserve quarterback has moved to Natchitoches and James Davis has enlisted in the United States army air force.

With their crying towels very much in evidence, the coaches at F. H. S. are faced with the following schedule:

Sept. 12 — Westlake, there.
Sept. 19 — Winnsboro, — here.
Sept. 26 — Olla (LaSalle), there.
Oct. 3 — Oak Grove, — here.
Oct. 10 — Columbia, there.
Oct. 17 — Wisner, there.
Oct. 24 — Lake Providence, here.
Nov. 7 — Sicily Island, here.
Nov. 14 — Newellton, here.
Nov. 21 — Open.
Nov. 27 — Waterproof, here.

Eligibility Woes Hits Illini Squad

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 16 (AP)—The University of Illinois' Big Ten champion football squad has lost six players through scholastic ineligibility, it was disclosed today with the release of the Illini invitation grid list of 58, smallest in several years.

Top loss is that of Jim Baughman, 220-pound junior tackle from Pontiac, Ill., who was tabbed a first-line offensive tackle by Coach Ray Eliot. Eliot now has only three lettermen tackles.

Others lost include Claude Taliaferro, junior halfback from Gary, Ind., brother of former Indiana star back, George; Hugh Woodson, Chicago junior halfback; Tom Poore, sophomore center from Mishawaka, Ind.; Don Econe, sophomore tackle from Benld, Ill.; and Gene Hansen, senior end from Oak Park, Ill. Hansen may regain eligibility in summer school.

Partially offsetting these losses was the return to eligibility of Joe Hall, letterman linebacker in 1950.

Ruston Lions Push Ticket Sales For Friday Spectacle

RUSTON, August 16 — (Special) — An all - out drive was launched by members of the Ruston Lions Club this week to promote sales of tickets to the first annual Football Jamboree, to be held in the Louisiana Tech Stadium on Friday night, August 22, at 8 o'clock. Additional efforts will be made to sell tickets in the cities represented by the grid teams participating in the jamboree. A large number of circulars which advertise the game will be distributed in the cities of Arcadia, Bastrop, Farmerville, Jena, Jonesboro-Hodge, Menard (Alexandria), Ruston, and Winnfield. Members of the Ruston Lions Club will visit the various Lions clubs in these cities to present the features of the jamboree next week.

Announcement has been made of the appearance of Governor and Mrs. Kennon at the jamboree, along with Lieutenant - Governor and Mrs. Barham, and other dignitaries. Acceptance of the invitation to attend the jamboree was received in a letter to A. B. Post, Jr., president of the Ruston Lions Club. The governor stated that he and the first lady of Louisiana definitely would attend the grid attraction. They will occupy the president's box in the stadium, along with President and Mrs. Ropp of Tech, Miss Barbara Barker, "Miss Louisiana of 1952," and Miss Jenna Faye Whatley, "Miss V. F. W. of the United States," who have been invited to attend the jamboree.

Bulldogs Have Tough Schedule, Many Gaps To Fill

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 16 — (Special) — Coaches "Red" Robertson and James Otto Lancaster of the Ferriday High School Bulldogs have issued a call to candidates for the Ferriday football team to start practice on Monday. This will begin the second year for the coaches who last year compiled the higly satisfactory record of nine wins and two losses in their first year.

The schedule this year is just as tough as that of 1951, with the Bulldogs playing four Class A teams in their first four games. Line Coach Lancaster will be hardcut to find replacements for such star athletes — Lloyd Perkins, a four - year letter man at guard; the late Lamar Edwards, a two-year letter man at guard who drowned last month in Lake St. John, who although light for the position was pound for pound one of the best players ever to represent Ferriday on the gridiron; Duane Storms, tackle for four years, a standout on defense; Everett Westbrook, place kicker and all-around utility man who could play at center, guard, or tackle and also back up the line on defense; Dean Stevens, tackle, who showed great promise as a first year man in 1951; Charles Murray Green, who is now a member of the United States marine corps, a three year letter man at end, and Harold Wright, guard; Don Siddon, guard; Johnny McBride, end; and Gregory Zettler, end.

Backfield Coach Robertson is faced with the prospects of replacing three members of his first-string backfield; among them Frederick Stuart, a first year man who last year led the conference in scoring, who is now living in Baton Rouge, Bobby Marks, first-string fullback, and Carl Able, first string right halfback, who has graduated. Moreland Book, a reserve quarterback has moved to Natchitoches and James Davis has enlisted in the United States army air force.

With their crying towels very much in evidence, the coaches at F. H. S. are faced with the following schedule:

Sept. 12 — Westlake, there.
Sept. 19 — Winnsboro, — here.
Sept. 26 — Olla (LaSalle), there.
Oct. 3 — Oak Grove, — here.
Oct. 10 — Columbia, there.
Oct. 17 — Wisner, there.
Oct. 24 — Lake Providence, here.
Nov. 7 — Sicily Island, here.
Nov. 14 — Newellton, here.
Nov. 21 — Open.
Nov. 27 — Waterproof, here.

SORORITY ACTIVITIES ENTERTAIN GIRLS ENTERING COLLEGE THIS FALL

Monroe girls who will enter college this fall are already getting a sample of the busy days ahead of them during "Rush Week." Although Pan - Hellenic silence prevents summer rushing, sorority alumnae are permitted, by including representatives from at least eight sororities, to give parties which enable them to meet prospective rushees and rushees to meet them.

This custom of Greek letter entertaining was initiated three years ago by Kappa Delta Alumnae Association when the KD's had a Pan-Hellenic Coke hour at the home of Mrs. Ivy Jordan. The idea seemed a good one for everyone concerned and now most of the organized alumnae groups in the city entertain at some type of gathering.

Last Tuesday Delta Delta Delta Alliance gave an informal Coke party at Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Tomorrow afternoon the Kappa Deltas have planned a KD Karnival at Riley's Camp. Tuesday the college bound honorees will go to a Chi Omega party at the home of Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr. Thursday members of Kappa Kappa Gamma will be hostesses at a barbecue supper in Mrs. Tom Fortenberry, Jr.'s garden.

Yes, it seems a busy schedule now, but it's nothing to compare with the real sorority "Rush Week" which the girls will find aptly named but lots of fun.

BRIDE AND GROOM

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Overton Antony shown above at the reception following their marriage which was solemnized at the First Baptist Church in Delhi on Tuesday, August 5. The bride is the former Zona Mae Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Fisk Morris, of Delhi. Mr. Antony is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. George Antony of Pineville.

Miss Zona Mae Morrise Is Bride Of Samuel O. Antony

Early Evening Ceremony Is Solemnized At First Baptist Church In Delhi

A wedding of beauty and charming simplicity was solemnized at the First Baptist Church in Delhi on Tuesday evening, August 5, at 7:00 o'clock, when Miss Zona Mae Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Fisk Morris of Delhi, became the bride of Mr. Samuel Overton Antony, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. George Antony of Pineville. The Rev. G. F. Stinebaugh, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bridal couple exchanged their vows of the impressive service before an arch of fern mingled throughout with white blossoms. A trio of white floor baskets, filled with graceful arrangements of woodwardia fern, white baby mums and white gladioli, banked each side of the altar; each arrangement being separated by large candelabra bearing lighted blue tapers. Large blue satin bows holding small sprays of white gladioli served as markers for the family pews.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Doyle R. Hamilton of Belzoni, Miss. rendered several selections including "Liebestraum" and "I Love You Truly"; and during the ceremony "Claire de Lune." She accompanied Miss Beryl Lynn DeLoach of West Monroe, who sang "I Love Thee" and "O Promise Me." As the benediction Miss DeLoach sang "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her attendants, Miss Genie Claxton of Texas City, Tex.; Miss Lillian Ann Kealer of Delhi; Mrs. Bruce Landis III of Winnsboro, with Miss Carol Kay Caillouet of Alexandria, cousin of the groom, as junior bridesmaid. Miss Amy Lou Smith of Delhi, as maid of honor, was last of the attendants to enter the church.

The bridesmaids were identically gowned in net dresses fashioned in shades of blue over taffeta forming bouffant skirts. The full stoles which covered the strapless bodices, and the crescent shaped hats of matching color, completed the effect. Their bouquets were crescent arrangements of tinted blue daisies. The maid of honor's gown was an exact duplicate of the bridesmaids, only in a lighter shade of blue. Her bouquet was a crescent arrangement of white daisies.

The bride was a picture of ethereal loveliness as she entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her gown of imported ice blue Chantilly lace over satin was fashioned with a basque bodice with long fitted sleeves which ended in tapers over the hand. It buttoned down the back with tiny self-covered buttons and a deep yoke of nylon tulle appliqued with lace was traced in tiny blue seed pearls. The motif was repeated at the throat as a necklace was formed of the tiny pearls. Over her dark hair she wore a matching Chantilly lace Juliet cap encircled with ice blue graduated pearls, from which fell clouds of imported tulle which drifted into a fingertip veil. On a white testament she carried a single white orchid centering a cascade of tuberoses, valley lilies and ribbon.

Lem Ross Antony of Monroe, a cousin, attended Mr. Antony as best man. Groomsmen were his cousins, David Leatherman of Pineville; J. E. Peters, Jr., of Monroe; Hershel Morris, Jr., of Delhi, brother of the bride; and David Lee Buxton, Jr. of Dallas, Tex., cousin of the bride serving as junior groomsman. Candlelighters were Jerry Jordan, and Lloyd Higgins, both of Alexandria.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were greeted by the bride's aunt, Mrs. D. W. Chandler of Houston, Tex. Mrs. Morris, lovely in a blue chiffon with lace peplum, received the guests, assisted by Mrs. Harvey Bardwell, who wore a smartly fashioned gown of blue chiffon. Both wore shoulder corsages of magnets orchids. Completing the receiving line were the bridal couple and feminine members of the wedding party.

The bride's table, overlaid with an imported linen cloth, had as the focal point the five - tiered wedding cake, ornamented with tiny lilies of the valley and white maline. A lace heart topped the cake and furnished the background for the miniature bride and groom. Double branched candelabra burning blue tapers were placed on each side of the cake and dainty confections of mints completed the decor for the table.

Attending the bride's guest book was Miss Beverly Smith of Delhi. At the cake service was Mrs. J. G. Waters and Mrs. C. B. Cutler, both of Delhi, with Mrs. Doyle R. Hamilton presiding at the punch bowl. Also assisting in the dining room were Miss Lou Ferrington of Baskin and Miss Beryl DeLoach. Mrs. Zella Bachemin, aunt of the bride, served as hostess throughout the reception rooms.

First Baptist Church Of Delhi Is Setting For Impressive Double-Ring Ceremony

One of the loveliest weddings of the season was that of Miss Marianne Washburne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hugh Washburne of Delhi, to James Everette Graham of Tallulah, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Graham of Forest, Miss.

The marriage was solemnized Friday July 25, at three o'clock in the afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Delhi. The day marked the thirty - eighth anniversary of the wedding of the bride's parents.

Rev Ralph Edward Webber of Jonesville heard their vows in a double-ring ceremony before an arch of woodwardia fern interspersed with pink and white gladiolias. Pink cathedral tapers glowed in the branched wrought iron candelabrum. Large floor standards holding beautiful arrangements of white gladiolias and fern were placed at the dias ends and double rosettes of wide pink satin ribbon adorned with garlands of white blossoms and greenery marked the family pews.

Prior to the exchanging of vows a program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Doyle Roach Hamilton, pianist of Belzon, Miss. She accompanied Miss Elizabeth Carolyn Wicker, soloist, of Forest, Miss., as she sang "Through the Years". As a benediction Miss Wicker sang Malott's "The Lord's Prayer".

The guests were seated by the ushers James T. Strahan of Shreveport, and Sidmore Hall of Forest, and while the murmur of Clair de Lune lingered in the air, the groom and his best man, Claude Shuttleworth of Forest, awaited the bride and her attendants at the altar.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Janet Washburne of Drew, Miss., as maid of honor, and Misses Kay Freeman and Jo Nell O'Neal, bridesmaids. They were gowned in identical frocks of petal pink marquisette and lace over taffeta. Little shoulder boleros of lace were worn over the strapless basques and the very full skirts were patio length. The maid of honor carried an organdie basket of miniature asters in shades of orchid and bridesmaid's baskets were filled with shaded pink asters. Nape corsages of rainbow asters were fastened in their hair. White satin opera slippers completed their costumes.

To the strains of "The Bridal Chorus" by Lohengrin the bride entered on the arm of her father and was a vision of loveliness as she was presented to her groom. Her gown of fleur de boquet lace and nylon tulle over satin was fashioned with an illusion yoke. The lace bodice was moulded to the figure and fastened with tiny self covered buttons down the back and on the sleeves which ended in calla points over her hands. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle was overlaid with lace. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion fell in tiers from a Juliet cap of satin embellished with seed pearls. Her bouquet was of tuberoses centered with an orchid, touched with tulle and tied with satin shower ribbons. As her only ornament the bride wore a lovely heirloom cameo set with pearls on a delicate golden chain about her throat. This was a gift from her mother who had worn it on her own wedding day.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the bridal couple slowly descended the chancel stens as Reverend Webber quoted with deep and tender sentiment the timeless words of the pledge from the Book of Ruth.

For the occasion Mrs. Washburne chose an afternoon dress of beige Chantilly lace with accessories of a darker shade. The grooms mother was wearing a soft rose sheer model and her accessories were white. Shoulder corsages of lavender orchids complimented their ensembles.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in their home. Guests were received by the newly married couple, their mothers, and the feminine members of the wedding party. Profusions of pink and white flowers were placed throughout the reception suite and music softly played provided the perfect background for the happy throng partaking of the wedding cake and refreshments.

The bride's table was covered with a handsome imported cut - work cloth of pure linen. At one end of the table the beautiful three tiered wedding confection was placed on a reflector encircled with white fleur de armour and lacy fern. The crystal punch bowl at the opposite end was arranged in a similar manner. White tapers in crystal candelabra and compotes holding pastel mints furthered the decorative theme.

Assisting in the courtesies of the afternoon were Mrs. Jack Washburne sister - in - law of the bride, Mrs. George E. French of Lake Village, Ark., and Mrs. J. E. Harper of Jonesville, sisters of the bride.

Among the out - of - town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. U. Craig, Misses Billie Joyce Boyles, Jobyna Scales, Charlotte Wicker, and Mary Sue Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Beaman Triplett, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Graham and son, and Mrs J. P. Craig, all of Forest, Miss. ### Early Evening Ceremony Is Solemnized At First Baptist Church In Delhi

A wedding of beauty and charming simplicity was solemnized at the First Baptist Church in Delhi on Tuesday evening, August 5, at 7:00 o'clock, when Miss Zona Mae Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Fisk Morris of Delhi, became the bride of Mr. Samuel Overton Antony, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. George Antony of Pineville. The Rev. G. F. Stinebaugh, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bridal couple exchanged their vows of the impressive service before an arch of fern mingled throughout with white blossoms. A trio of white floor baskets, filled with graceful arrangements of woodwardia fern, white baby mums and white gladioli, banked each side of the altar; each arrangement being separated by large candelabra bearing lighted blue tapers. Large blue satin bows holding small sprays of white gladioli served as markers for the family pews.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Doyle R. Hamilton of Belzoni, Miss. rendered several selections including "Liebestraum" and "I Love You Truly"; and during the ceremony "Claire de Lune." She accompanied Miss Beryl Lynn DeLoach of West Monroe, who sang "I Love Thee" and "O Promise Me." As the benediction Miss DeLoach sang "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her attendants, Miss Genie Claxton of Texas City, Tex.; Miss Lillian Ann Kealer of Delhi; Mrs. Bruce Landis III of Winnsboro; with Miss Carol Kay Caillouet of Alexandria, cousin of the groom, as junior bridesmaid. ## LOUISIANA BRANCHES OF AAUW HOLD WORKSHOP IN ALEXANDRIA Branches of the Louisiana division of the American Association of University Women met in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church in Alexandria Saturday during the state workshop.

Guest speaker was Dr. Ella R. Welhing McKee of Sturgis, Ky., vice president of the southeast central region of the A. A. U. W.

Dr. McKee said that the number in an A. A. U. W. study group did not necessarily guarantee its efficacy. She urged a thorough study of the program planning number of the general director's letter so that the branches might work out more coordinated programs for their organizations.

The group voted that each branch of A. A. U. W. will work toward a coordinated program on some phase of education in the state of Louisiana and that wherever possible a research into the teacher certification laws be included.

This action was taken following a talk by Mrs. Gordon Atwater of New Orleans, state educational chairman, who emphasized the importance of making a serious study of standards of teacher certification.

She pointed out the trends in these certification laws and stressed the importance of improved and uniformity in requirements.

Mrs. Malcolm Triche of Baton Rouge, A. A. U. W. member on the state legislative council, spoke on the slogan for the year, "Every member an alerted citizen" and suggested that members of every branch should be "alerted for action and work to awaken the interest and cooperation of other civic groups."

Mrs. Louis Abramson, of New Orleans, member of the national legislative committee and the A. A. U. W. representative on the Louisiana legislative council, then spoke. She was followed by Miss Mamie Bowman of Natchitoches, state fellowship chairman.

The group voted to adopt as a state division project a request to national headquarters that the editors of the most widely circulated periodicals publish during United Nations Week in October, comprehensive articles on the accomplishments of the U. N. and its related agencies.

Miss Eleanor Patrick, of Lake Charles, state president, presided and gave an interesting report on the recent president's conference in Washington, D. C. Mrs. O. L. Aubin, president of the Alexandria branch, welcomed the group in behalf of the hostess unit.

Attending the workshop from the Monroe A. A. U. W. was Miss Mary Clay, state secretary.

Miss Emma Lee Calhoun Is Bride Of Lamar Stapleton

Bridal Couple Exchange Vows Of Impressive Service At First Methodist Church Of West Monroe

The First Methodist Church of West Monroe was the scene of one of the season's loveliest weddings which united in marriage Miss Emma Lee Calhoun, daughter of Mrs. H. G. Crouch of Eva, La., and Lewis Lamar Stapleton, son of Mrs. R. A. Stapleton of Mobile Ala., on Saturday, August 9th at seven o'clock in the evening.

Beauty and simplicity characterized the impressive double-ring ceremony which was performed by the pastor, the Rev. R. H. Staples, before a gathering of relatives and close friends.

The vows were exchanged before the altar which was decorated with floor baskets of white gladioli against a background of greenery and branched candelbras supporting tall white tapers.

For a quarter of an hour preceding the ceremony, Mrs. W. W. Watson, wearing a black sheer with corsage of white mums, rendered an organ concert of the bride's favorites including: "Oh, Promise Me," "Just A Kiss In the Dark," "Be My Love," and "Thine Alone." While the guests were being seated the candles were lighted by ushers Jack Simmons and James Edward Ferguson.

Mrs. Watson accompanied Kenneth Adams as he sang "Because" and later as his wife, Mrs. Kenneth Adams, joined him and they blended their voices together in "I Love You Truly."

The bride's only attendant was her aunt, Mrs. Fred B. Cook, who was lovely in street length model of pink lace with matching hat and shoes of pink linen. Her bouquet was of blue crown asters centered with a single pink glamelia surrounded with tulle and tied with streamers of blue satin ribbon.

She was a picture of beauty in a street - length gown of white lace over net and satin, fashioned of a fitted bodice with sweetheart neckline, full gathered skirt, and a short jacket of the same lovely lace with long sleeves and a Mary Stuart collar. The jacket was buttoned down the front and at the wrists with self-covered buttons. Her three - tiered veil of shoulder length was caught to a cap of lace. Her slippers were of white satin. She carried a single white orchid on a white Bible with satin streamers and tuberoses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Crouch was wearing a black nylon dress with pink hat and gloves. Her corsage was of white mums. Mrs. Stapleton, mother of the bride - groom was wearing a black sheer with black velvet hat and white gloves. Her corsage was also of white mums.

A reception followed immediately in the social hall of the church. In the receiving line were Mrs. Crouch, Mrs. Stapleton, the bride and groom and Mrs. Fred Cook.

The table was overlaid with a lovely white linen hand-embroidered cloth. At one end the bride's cake, an exquisite three - tiered confection iced in white and pale green, was placed on a large mirror bordered with icing of pale green leaves and surmounted with a miniature bride and groom beneath an archway to which was tied a wedding bell with pale green and white satin ribbons.

The centerpiece was of white mums and tuberoses intermingled with fern. Single silver candle holders supported white tapers on either side. At the other end of the table was the crystal punch bowl of pale green fruit punch.

The cake was then served to the guests by Mrs. Kenneth Adams, who was wearing a black taffeta strapless model of ankle length with white nylon stole and a corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Charles Chisholm, attired in pink lace with a corsage of pink and blue baby asters, presided at the punch service.

Mrs. Aimee C. Cook, in pink mesh with a corsage of pink and blue baby asters, presided over the bride's book.

Mrs. Clifford La France in navy blue sheer and Mrs. C. H. Jordan in grey voile assisted in extending courtesies to the guests.

For her going-away the bride changed to a maroon velveteen suit, with pink hat and gloves. Her shoes and bag were of brown lizard and she was wearing the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. R. A. Stapleton, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Cannon and two children of Mobile, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Stapleton and two children of Houston, Tex.; Mrs. H. G. Crouch, of Eva, La.; Mrs. Vivian Blunt of Monterey, La.; Miss Shirley Calhoun of La Marque, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. K. C. McClendon of Eva, La.

Rehearsal Supper

On Friday night, August 8th, immediately following the wedding rehearsal, the bridal party was entertained with a rehearsal supper at "The Barn" by Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Cook.

The unusually clever table arrangement consisted of the centerpiece of a barnyard fence surrounding rooster and hen vases of red and yellow chrysanthemums and dwarf zinnias. Red and yellow autumn leaves covered the candle holders which held red candles. Extending from one end of the table to the other was a rope which entertwined and tied together the names "Lee" and "Lamar" outlined in rope.

On the place cards were miniature horse shoes signifying "Good Luck."

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Crouch was wearing a black nylon dress with pink hat and gloves. Her corsage was of white mums. Mrs. Stapleton, mother of the bride - groom was wearing a black sheer with black velvet hat and white gloves. Her corsage was also of white mums.

A reception followed immediately in the social hall of the church. In the receiving line were Mrs. Crouch, Mrs. Stapleton, the bride and groom and Mrs. Fred Cook.

The table was overlaid with a lovely white linen hand-embroidered cloth. At one end the bride's cake, an exquisite three - tiered confection iced in white and pale green, was placed on a large mirror bordered with icing of pale green leaves and surmounted with a miniature bride and groom beneath an archway to which was tied a wedding bell with pale green and white satin ribbons.

The centerpiece was of white mums and tuberoses intermingled with fern. Single silver candle holders supported white tapers on either side. At the other end of the table was the crystal punch bowl of pale green fruit punch.

The cake was then served to the guests by Mrs. Kenneth Adams, who was wearing a black taffeta strapless model of ankle length with white nylon stole and a corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Charles Chisholm, attired in pink lace with a corsage of pink and blue baby asters, presided at the punch service.

Mrs. Aimee C. Cook, in pink mesh with a corsage of pink and blue baby asters, presided over the bride's book.

Mrs. Clifford La France in navy blue sheer and Mrs. C. H. Jordan in grey voile assisted in extending courtesies to the guests.

For her going-away the bride changed to a maroon velveteen suit, with pink hat and gloves. Her shoes and bag were of brown lizard and she was wearing the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. R. A. Stapleton, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Cannon and two children of Mobile, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Stapleton and two children of Houston, Tex.; Mrs. H. G. Crouch, of Eva, La.; Mrs. Vivian Blunt of Monterey, La.; Miss Shirley Calhoun of La Marque, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. K. C. McClendon of Eva, La.

Rehearsal Supper

On Friday night, August 8th, immediately following the wedding rehearsal, the bridal party was entertained with a rehearsal supper at "The Barn" by Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Cook.

The unusually clever table arrangement consisted of the centerpiece of a barnyard fence surrounding rooster and hen vases of red and yellow chrysanthemums and dwarf zinnias. Red and yellow autumn leaves covered the candle holders which held red candles. Extending from one end of the table to the other was a rope which entertwined and tied together the names "Lee" and "Lamar" outlined in rope.

On the place cards were miniature horse shoes signifying "Good Luck."

College Girl Wardrobe Of Fashions To Make Shown In August Vogue

"Take back your mink, we need sweaters and skirts". This statement sums up the nearly unanimous, and trend - indicating view of what fashions the college girl of 1952 wants for fall; as indicated by August 1 Vogue magazine. Not for her the one grand extravagance of a fashion that may perish without pampering; that will hang idle much of the time while the wearables take over. The smart young student today likes clothes in her wardrobe, designed to meld the idea of "need and news". Using this point as their main premise, Vogue collected a small-but-compact wardrobe of fashions for a girl to make herself, or have made. The economy and tailored-to-fit feature of such a plan is always an important point in sewing's favor.

Most Popular Fashion

The safest choice you can make if you want to be remembered, and are looking for a many-occasion design, Vogue thinks might be this. It's bright lipstick red; it's in wool jersey; and it's one of the newest outlines in a dress. You'll find it's the main feature for sewing, shown in August 1 Vogue. The neckline is surplice cut, a very flattering point. There's a strong accent on the little middle, in the high midriff of the dress. The skirt falls softly from an all -round circle of cluster pleats at the waist. Here's a college fashion to go where you go, and easily. Football week ends, freshman tea, a little evening date; this is the dress you asked for, in a pretty new Vogue pattern.

More On The Essential List

You'll cast your votes for these candidates, we predict, as needed and newsy additions to your college clothes list: one unmarked black dress; a collection of skirts and sweaters; and fashions to study in, called fancifully enough, "free - wheeling" dormitory clothes These pattern fashion ideas are also illustrated in the Vogue feature. The black dress has a sweater - simple top, the better to add different accessories, and a skirt that's moderately full. In the skirt forecast, there are three distinctly separate, silhouette shapes. The flared below the hip skirt cut in heavy coat - weight tweed, and this is the news. A narrow - look skirt with knife pleating is smartest this fall, when done in silky gabardine. The skirt every girl wants at least one of, is the slim ever - good flannel. All of the skirts illustrated by Vogue have sweater partners that you can knit for yourself, by following the directions found in the fall - winter issue of Vogue Knitting Book.

When it comes to studying, preference runs high for the kind of clothes that sit well on the floor, the best seat in the house. Vogue shows an exactly right bathrobe for college, classie in line, warm, and it's in the new short-as-day length. Another favorite in the dormitory will be the frontier pants design, with the ease of dungarees, but much improved fit. Also good in this lounging group are gabardine slacks, narrowly tapering to the ankle.

Now while there's still the whole month of August ahead, ready, get set, sew. Select your patterns for sewing by Vogue from The Palace today.

The speaker went on to relate the increasing importance of women in the Democratic party and how women at the convention went to classes to learn how to campaign and organize effectively. Dwelling briefly on press coverage of the convention, Mrs. Tisdale said that television viewers in particular knew what was going on before delegates to the convention knew themselves. 'Much of what we found out we learned from television," she said

Jaycee Jayne president, Mrs. Bill Inabnet presided over the luncheon meeting which the women's group had been holding.

In a brief business session the Jaynes learned that their Wishing Well project at Bernstein Park was progressing and that their candidate to Girl's State would still attend the session whenever it is held. The Girl's State meeting had been postponed.

The Home Shift

BY MILDRED SWIFT

Last week during a slip cover class somebody said, "I wish I could remember all the plants you have mentioned in your column this year. When it comes planting time I won't remember half of them nor what they look like." So, that gave me an idea — when it's planting time I'll just fill one Sunday column with a summary of all plants that I've called your attention to the last year — with a description of each and the yards that have featured that plant.

Landscaping School

For those of you who have new homes, you'll be interested in an all day school on fundamentals of landscaping. Mr. Donald Spurlock, associate horticulturist has given me a temporary date of October to conduct this school. I'll give you the exact date later. Or —maybe you're not a new home owner but just feel the need of this information. Mr. Spurlock will have slides and charts for illustration. When I talked to him last, he was planning to use two of Dr. Reich's star pupils to help him.

The class will last all day and I believe you will actually learn some of those principles of arrangement and selection that you've heard and read but couldn't quite get on such short exposure. I'll give you the go signal for signing up in September. The class will be limited to 25. If we have more than that Mr. Spurlock says he'll give the class two days. Several men have asked if they could come, and of course they can. I'm sure wives will be delighted that the man of the house is interested. Of course, not many men can get off from work to attend.

I hope the young garden clubs will send representatives to take the information back to those members who can't attend. Mr. Spurlock believes you can draw your own landscape plan after attending the all day class, maybe with just a little help.

Garden Jobs

Keep the beds weeded and mulched. If the lawn looks a little sick an application of nitrate or a complete fertilizer will bring out the green. Be sure to soak this down well or it will burn.

Have you noticed the gorgeous white lilies blooming around town? They're Philippine lilies. Remember to put out some bulbs later on because they give you so much beauty for so little labor. You'll see these blooming in Mrs. Jewel McQuiller and Miss Pearl Le-Fevre's yards, 2702, 2704 South Grand Street. Miss Jewel and I were planning a continuous bloom lily bed the other day. We decided that Easter, Regal, and Philippine lilies all planted in one large bed would give almost continuous bloom from May until September. All three require about the same type soil too, and plenty of bone meal.

I am convinced that when early spring comes, the first plant to be put in my yard is a night blooming jasmine. Forgot about this plant until a friend was talking about the merits of the shrub. Had one outside my window when I was a child. As Margaret Downing says, the odor is like Guerlains blue hour perfume. The plant dies in the winter and should be covered with leaves. Mr. Roach says spring is the time to plant them. Two of the nurseries will carry the shrub next year. I forgot to say the jasmine blooms from June 15 till frost, opening a star shaped, creamed colored flower at night.

News From The Public Library

A number of new books have recently been added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public library. The titles received within the past week should appeal to a variety of readers. Let's look first at the fiction.

"Lament for Four Virgins" by Lael Tucker is the story of four girls raised in a southern town and how their lives turned out. It is not an especially pleasant book, but it is an interesting one. "The Heaven on Horseback" by Paul Cranston is a fictionized biography of Narcissa Whitman, one of the pioneer settlers of Oregon. This book gives us an interesting picture of the hardships that she endured on the way to Oregon and of the great love she had for her husband Marcus Whitman.

"Campbell's Kingdom" by Hammond Innes is another suspense story by a writer who is the master of the art. It is spine - tingling and thrilling. "The Mountains Remain" by Haname Tasaki is a story about present day Japan written by a brilliant young Japanese, "Escape from Paradise" by Katharine Newlin Burt is a story of the gay nineties and Aunt Kinny who attempted to make an earthly paradise for her three young protegees. One of them was a rebel and could not take this sort of life. Out of these conflicting emotions, Mrs. Burt has created a haunting novel of evil ranged against good, of like against hate. For the mystery readers there are two new titles: "Appointment with Venus" by Jerrard Tickell and "Nets To Catch the Wind" by Dolores Hitchens.

New non-fiction books appeal to various types of readers. "Restyle Your Hats" by Drucella Lowrie contains a great deal of interesting and valuable information about this art which has become very popular within the past few months. "Everyone Can Paint Fabrics" by Pearl Fulton Ashton contains explicit directions for various types of painting on fabrics. Those with the slightest bit of artistic ability will enjoy using this book very much.

A perfectly beautiful book, which should interest every member of the Methodist church is "An Album of Methodist History" by Elmer Talmadge Clark. This book is beautifully illustrated and is fascinating to look at as well as extremely informative. "Living in Balance" by Frank Samuel Caprio is a most valuable book for those who are troubled in spirit. It gives a well-balanced course of action and should help anyone who has a neuroses of any sort.

A new and different type of reference book is "A Short Chronology of American History, 1492 - 1950" by Irving S. Kull. This book is arranged by years and takes up the most important events of each year. There has long been a need for this sort of book and it should be most valuable.

The Ouachita Parish Public Library exists for the use of the people of the parish.

This book gives us an interesting picture of the hardships that she endured on the way to Oregon and of the great love she had for her husband Marcus Whitman.

"Campbell's Kingdom" by Hammond Innes is another suspense story by a writer who is the master of the art. It is spine - tingling and thrilling. "The Mountains Remain" by Haname Tasaki is a story about present day Japan written by a brilliant young Japanese, "Escape from Paradise" by Katharine Newlin Burt is a story of the gay nineties and Aunt Kinny who attempted to make an earthly paradise for her three young protegees. One of them was a rebel and could not take this sort of life. Out of these conflicting emotions, Mrs. Burt has created a haunting novel of evil ranged against good, of like against hate. For the mystery readers there are two new titles: "Appointment with Venus" by Jerrard Tickell and "Nets To Catch the Wind" by Dolores Hitchens.

New non-fiction books appeal to various types of readers. "Restyle Your Hats" by Drucella Lowrie contains a great deal of interesting and valuable information about this art which has become very popular within the past few months. "Everyone Can Paint Fabrics" by Pearl Fulton Ashton contains explicit directions for various types of painting on fabrics. Those with the slightest bit of artistic ability will enjoy using this book very much.

A perfectly beautiful book, which should interest every member of the Methodist church is "An Album of Methodist History" by Elmer Talmadge Clark. This book is beautifully illustrated and is fascinating to look at as well as extremely informative. "Living in Balance" by Frank Samuel Caprio is a most valuable book for those who are troubled in spirit. It gives a well-balanced course of action and should help anyone who has a neuroses of any sort.

A new and different type of reference book is "A Short Chronology of American History, 1492 - 1950" by Irving S. Kull. This book is arranged by years and takes up the most important events of each year. There has long been a need for this sort of book and it should be most valuable.

The Ouachita Parish Public Library exists for the use of the people of the parish.

"All my life I've wanted to own a Buick"

It seems that owning a Buick is something that a lot of folks dream about—plan for—and finally do.

We say that because, so many times, they say so in words like those above.

Those words make us happy, of course—happy to know we sell a car which means so much to those who own it.

But they make us feel just a little bit sad as well—sad to realize all the years of fun such folks have been missing for no good reason at all.

For the fact is this:
If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.
You can afford the thrill of bossing around that big Fireball 8 Engine that purrs forth a mighty flow of power.

You can afford the gas bills—as any owner of a 1952 Buick will tell you—because that high-compression, valve-in-head marvel gets a lot of miles from a gallon of fuel.

You can afford the extra luxury of a real million dollar ride—the silken smoothness of Dynaflow Drive*—the extra room and comfort and style that have put Buick popularity right up at the top of the list, next to the "low-priced three."

So if you want to own a Buick—there's just one thing to do:

Come in—pick the one of your choice—and let us show you how close the figure that goes on the bill of sale comes to what you'd pay elsewhere.

As we've said before, your first car can be a Buick. Why not take the Big Step right away—today?

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

"All my life I've wanted to own a Buick"

IT seems that owning a Buick is something that a lot of folks dream about—plan for—and finally do.

We say that because, so many times, they say so in words like those above.

Those words make us happy, of course—happy to know we sell a car which means so much to those who own it.

But they make us feel just a little bit sad as well—sad to realize all the years of fun such folks have been missing for no good reason at all.

For the fact is this:
If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.
You can afford the thrill of bossing around that big Fireball 8 Engine that purrs forth a mighty flow of power.

You can afford the gas bills—as any owner of a 1952 Buick will tell you—because that high-compression, valve-in-head marvel gets a lot of miles from a gallon of fuel.

You can afford the extra luxury of a real million dollar ride—the silken smoothness of Dynaflow Drive*—the extra room and comfort and style that have put Buick popularity right up at the top of the list, next to the "low-priced three."

So if you want to own a Buick—there's just one thing to do:

Come in—pick the one of your choice—and let us show you how close the figure that goes on the bill of sale comes to what you'd pay elsewhere.

As we've said before, your first car can be a Buick. Why not take the Big Step right away—today?

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

DEAD VETERANS' CHILDREN CAN GO TO COLLEGE

College And University Scholarships Are Made Available

College and university scholarships are now abailable to the children of deceased veterans of World War 1, World War 11, and the Korean campaign, H. B. McClendon, parish service officer, said today.

Mr. McClendon pointed out that these scholarships, which are administered through his department of veterans' affairs office, have been open to the children of deceased World War II veterans since 1948, State Act 562 of 1952 maended the original scholarship legislation to include the children of deceased WWI and Korean Conflict veterans, he said.

The veteran's representative explained that the scholarship entitles the eligible child to attend the State college or university of his choice without having to pay tuition, matriculation, registration, laboratory, athletic, medical and other special fees. In addition, a subsistence and maintenance allowance of up to $300 per year is payable to the student while he is in school.

To be eligible, the child must be between the ages of 16 and 21 and be able to meet the entrance requirements of the State College of his selection. The child's deceased parent must have been a resident of the State of Louisiana for at least twelve (12) months preceeding his entrance into active military or naval service and death of the parent must have been as a result of World War 1, World War II, or Korean Conflict service. For the purpose of these scholarships, the delimiting dates for World War I are from April 6, 1917 to November 11, 1918, inclusive; World War II, from December 7, 1941 to June 30, 1946, inclusive; the Korean Conflict, from June 27, 1950 and prior to a date yet to be established.

Since the Fall Semester for all the State's colleges and universities will open next month, Mr. McClendon urged all interested young people in Ouachita parish who believe themselves eligible for one of these scholarships to contact him immediately at his office located in Room 204, Parish Courthouse, Monroe, Louisiana.

EAST CARROLL HIT BY DROUTH

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Aug. 16.—(Special)— Crop conditions in East Carroll parish justify disaster loans to the farmers, according to a survey made by the defense mobilization board as stated by county agent C. A. Rose. The survey showed the corn crop is an almost complete failure; hay crops have been reduced 90 per cent, and there will be produced an approximately 21,000 bales of cotton compared to last year's 33,900. Beef cattle herds, in extreme cases will have to be liquidated. There has already been some forced marketing of beef cattle and an almost complete lack of pasturage and forage for dairy cattle. Unless the soybeans receive heavy rains within the next week the yield will be reduced over 50 per cent. Only about 20 per cent of the crop land of the parish has had any rain since the last of May, and these rains were insufficient to give relief to the areas on which it fell.

The thinking of the defense mobilization board, is that disaster loans should be made available to those farmers suffering from the drouth conditions. In the event East Carroll is declared a disaster area loans will be handled by the F. H. A., and applicants should contact the Lake Providence office, according to statement of Parish Supervisor M. E. McBride.

Of the 1,000 farm operators of the parish there will be about 250 that could qualify for disaster loans. This number does not reflect the extent of farmers who will make failures, as many of those who are failures would be able to operate another year from their reserve or from loans made by lending agencies.

East Carroll parish farmers are resorting to every means of salvaging their corn crops. The corn is being cut and stored in trench silos, and within the next few days, with assistance and advice of the county agent and his assistant, temporary wire silos will be erected in which to store remnants of the corn crops not completely destroyed.

CHURCH MUSIC SCHOOL TO END

Sermon In Song Will Be Presented At First Baptist Church

Monroe's First Baptist Church school of music, led by Dr. Edwin McNeely, will end Sunday evening after the presentation of a sermon in song at the worship service beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

Dr. McNeely, a faculty member of the School of Sacred Music at the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary for 31 years, has taught 75 private voice lessons to members of the choirs at Monroe's First Baptist Church this past week. The members of the choirs have been offered five night sessions of class work in voice, vowel formation and diction.

It will be divided into three parts which include (1) God Loved Us and Sent His Son (2) Christ Died to Redeem Us (3) A Redeemed Soul Sings Praises. # EAST CARROLL HIT BY DROUTH

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Aug. 16.—(Special)— Crop conditions in East Carroll parish justify disaster loans to the farmers, according to a survey made by the defense mobilization board as stated by county agent C. A. Rose. The survey showed the corn crop is an almost complete failure; hay crops have been reduced 90 per cent, and there will be produced an approximately 21,000 bales of cotton compared to last year's 33,900. Beef cattle herds, in extreme cases will have to be liquidated. There has already been some forced marketing of beef cattle and an almost complete lack of pasturage and forage for dairy cattle. Unless the soybeans receive heavy rains within the next week the yield will be reduced over 50 per cent. Only about 20 per cent of the crop land of the parish has had any rain since the last of May, and these rains were insufficient to give relief to the areas on which it fell.

The thinking of the defense mobilization board, is that disaster loans should be made available to those farmers suffering from the drouth conditions. In the event East Carroll is declared a disaster area loans will be handled by the F. H. A., and applicants should contact the Lake Providence office, according to statement of Parish Supervisor M. E. McBride.

Of the 1,000 farm operators of the parish there will be about 250 that could qualify for disaster loans. This number does not reflect the extent of farmers who will make failures, as many of those who are failures would be able to operate another year from their reserve or from loans made by lending agencies.

East Carroll parish farmers are resorting to every means of salvaging their corn crops. The corn is being cut and stored in trench silos, and within the next few days, with assistance and advice of the county agent and his assistant, temporary wire silos will be erected in which to store remnants of the corn crops not completely destroyed.

Expert Can Often Mess Up His Hand

By Oswald Jacoby

Written for NEA Service

Maybe you think only a bad player jeopardizes his contract in the attempt to make an overtrick or two. Don't you believe it. South, in today's hand, was one of the best players in the country—but he wouldn't use this hand as an advertisement.

West had a hard time picking an effective opening lead. The major suits were obviously hopeless, and West had to choose between diamonds and clubs. Fortunately for his side, he selected the jack of diamonds as the opening lead. Declarer won in dummy with the ace of diamonds in order to begin the clubs with a finesse. East signalled enthusiastically with the queen of diamonds, knowing that his partner would read this as a signal, but that South might consider it an unblock.

Declarer began immediately on the clubs by leading the queen from dummy. East covered with the king, and South won with the ace. South next entered dummy with a spade to finesse the nine of clubs, after which he cashed the jack. When the ten of clubs failed to drop, declarer led a fourth round of clubs to give East his trick.

East promptly returned the seven of diamonds, trying to preserve the impression that West had the long diamonds. South won with the king of diamonds and cashed his last club. At this point he was sure of his contract with four clubs, two diamonds, one heart, and two spades.

Having lost only one trick, South hoped to make an extra trick or two. He was sure that West had all the rest of the diamonds and that East had started with only the queen and the seven. South therefore finessed dummy's ten of spades at the next trick.

East naturally won with the jack of spades, and set the contract by taking three diamond tricks. South is still explaining how he happened to lose this hand.

Expert Can Often Mess Up His Hand

By Oswald Jacoby

Written for NEA Service

Maybe you think that only a bad ayer jeopardizes his contract in e attempt to make an overtrick two. Don't you believe it. South, today's hand, was one of the st players in the country—but wouldn't use this hand as an vertisement.

West had a hard time picking effective opening lead. The ma- suits were obviously hopeless, West had to choose between amonds and clubs. Fortunately r his side, he selected the jack diamonds as the opening lead. Declarer won in dummy with e ace of diamonds in order to gin the clubs with a finesse. East signalled enthusiastically with the queen of diamonds, knowing that his partner would read this as a signal, but that South might consider it an unblock.

Declarer began immediately on the clubs by leading the queen from dummy. East covered with the king, and South won with the ace. South next entered dummy with a spade to finesse the nine of clubs, after which he cashed the jack. When the ten of clubs failed to drop, declarer led a fourth round of clubs to give East his trick.

East promptly returned the seven of diamonds, trying to preserve the impression that West had the long diamonds. South won with the king of diamonds and cashed his last club. At this point he was sure of his contract with four clubs, two diamonds, one heart, and two spades.

Let Young Child Use Typewriter!

Authorities say that using a typewriter at an early age helps to teach children the alphabet and facilitates learning to read.

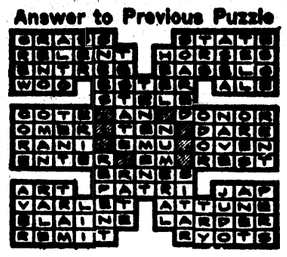

Parents should instruct the child on the machine operation; how to insert the paper, how to strike the keys, move the carriage and roller . . . to start a new line. The child should be permitted to take his time tapping out the letters.

Will Rogers, Jr., Jane Wyman Playing

One of the most popular Americans of this century, perhaps, is that immortal homespun philosopher, cowboy, Ziegfeld star, humorist, politician and world traveler, friend of great and small, Will Rogers. And it is the story of this amazingly versatile man that Warner Bros. is bringing to the screen on Thursday at the Tem Theatre in "The Story of Will Rogers."

Jr. Plays Dad

Starring the man's own son, Will Jr. who plays his Dad in the title role, with Jane Wyman as Mrs. Will Rogers, the Technicolor film takes the beloved sage from his early rip - roaring and colorful days as a cowpuncher on the Oklahoma range through a career that found him riding broncos, twirling a rope in the Ziegfeld Follies, and addressing national political conventions as a presidential contender. Such was the career of Will Rogers.

Star Of Follies

It was while appearing in the Ziegfeld Follies with Eddie Cantor that Will Rogers became known as a man who could tell the American people what was ailing them, but in the humorous kind of way that they loved. When President Wilson himself asked Will to become the voice of the people and write for newspapers, Will shied away and went to Hollywood where he became a movie star.

Later he did start writing and his everyday column bits became regular household phrases all over America. His last interest was aviation and it was this pastime which brought him together with famed flier Wiley Post.

Has Eddie Cantor

Eddie Cantor plays himself in the film, while Jimmy Gleason supports Will Jr. and Jane Wyman in the key roles. Directed by Michael Curtiz, "The Story of Will Rogers" is the story of a great American who left his mark on the life and times of America in the glorious period in which he lived.

SENIORS IN DEMAND

DALLAS (AP)—Southern Methodist University shares with other U. S. Colleges in the "seller's market" on 1952 college seniors.

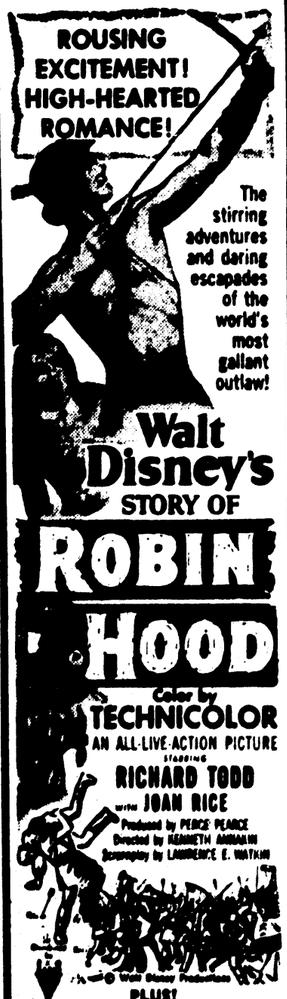

D. Y. Robb, director of student placement at S. M. U., says the demand for college grads by business and industry and the salaries they can command have reached a record high this year.

Engineers and scientists especially are in demand. Salaries are up 1- to 20 per cent, Robb says. Starting salaries for engineers are between $300 to $400 a month.

Ostrich farms were first developed as a commercial source of ostrich plumes about 1857.

Let Young Child Use Typewriter!

Authorities say that using a typewriter at an early age helps to teach children the alphabet and facilitates learning to read.

Parents should instruct the child on the machine operation; how to insert the paper, how to strike the keys, move the carriage and roller . . . to start a new line. The child should be permitted to take his time tapping out the letters.

Will Rogers, Jr., Jane Wyman Playing

One of the most popular Americans of this century, perhaps, is that immortal homespun philosopher, cowboy, Ziegfeld star, humorist, politician and world traveler, friend of great and small, Will Rogers. And it is the story of this amazingly versatile man that Warner Bros. is bringing to the screen on Thursday at the Tem Theatre in "The Story of Will Rogers."

Jr. Plays Dad

Starring the man's own son, Will Jr. who plays his Dad in the title role, with Jane Wyman as Mrs. Will Rogers, the Technicolor film takes the beloved sage from his early rip - roaring and colorful days as a cowpuncher on the Oklahoma range through a career that found him riding broncos, twirling a rope in the Ziegfeld Follies, and addressing national political conventions as a presidential contender. Such was the career of Will Rogers.

Star Of Follies

It was while appearing in the Ziegfeld Follies with Eddie Cantor that Will Rogers became known as a man who could tell the American people what was ailing them, but in the humorous kind of way that they loved. When President Wilson himself asked Will to become the voice of the people and write for newspapers, Will shied away and went to Hollywood where he became a movie star.

Later he did start writing and his everyday column bits became regular household phrases all over America. His last interest was aviation and it was this pastime which brought him together with famed flier Wiley Post.

Has Eddie Cantor

Eddie Cantor plays himself in the film, while Jimmy Gleason supports Will Jr. and Jane Wyman in the key roles. Directed by Michael Curtiz, "The Story of Will Rogers" is the story of a great American who left his mark on the life and times of America in the glorious period in which he lived.

ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAM OF WEST CARROLL PARISH

Officials of the adult education program are shown above examining a chair which students of the class are in process of remaking. Reading left to right are D. W. McBride, principal of Oak Grove High School, C. C. Ferguson, co-ordinator of the Ouachita Vocational School, S. W. Jackson, director of the Ouachita Vocational School, and A. Larriviere, executive assistant of the vocational education program for the state department of education.

Adult Vocational Education At Oak Grove High School Surveyed

Program Far Surpasses Expectations At End Of First Year

A survey was conducted last week of the adult vocational education program at Oak Grove High School, one of two schools used as an experiment for the program by the Louisiana state department of education.

A Larriviere executive assistant of vocational education for the department, reported that at the completion of a one-year trial period the program in West Caroll parish had far surpassed the set goal.

D. W. McBride, principal of Oak Grove High School, who also is in charge of the adult education program, has devoted a large part of his time to the program and officials state that the program is a success largely due to his efforts.

The classes conducted at the high school, which run through an eight week basis, are under the direction of the Ouachita Valley Vocational School. Classes which are held in the evening are classified as trade extension courses with instructors being furnished by the vocational school.

The 1950 Legislature appropriated $25,000 for development of the adult education field. The 1952 Legislature appropriated $100,000 for the program. At the present time the only two schools in the state conducting the program are Oak Grove and Epps. The two schools were picked for the experiment due to the location of the parishes and the need found within their boundries for adult education.

The motto of the school is "learning by doing." This motto is carried throughout all courses and students are given every opportunity for practical experience. The program for adult education also helps people become more employable, reported officials.

Principal McBride stated that results of the program were already in effect in his parish and stated that citizens of the community were becoming more interested in progress as the school expanded. "The program gives adults, who in their youth did not have the opportunity for education, a means to become qualified for different positions and also to earn a better living wage for their families."

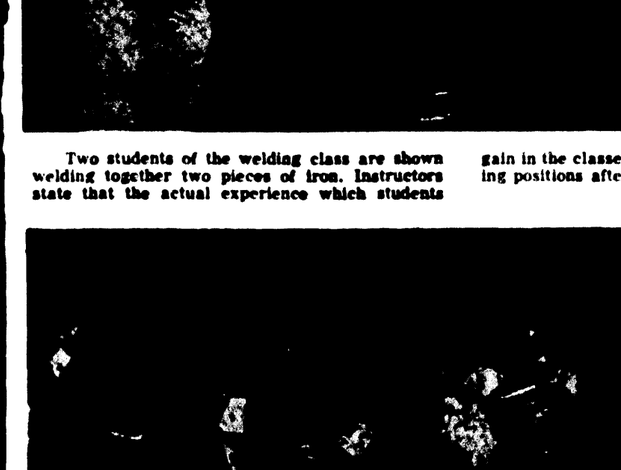

The enrollment at Oak Grove High School is 234 students. The students enrolled in the various courses are as follows: four classes of welding, total of 58 students; two commerce classes, typing bookkeeping and shorthand, 66; one refrigeration class, 16; one small engines course, 12; two farm mechanics classes, 31; two upholstering classes, 19; one class of dramatics, 22; one home nursing course, 10.

After the opening of the high school in the fall the adult education program will continue without interruption with classes being conducted after regular school hours.

The state department of education is planning an expansion of the program at an early date due to the large success of the two schools where the experiment has been held.

The advancement of the adult education program will give every adult an opportunity to better qualify himself for a position.

TWO BROTHERS IN U. S. NAVY

Sam LeCara, Jr., Supply Officer in the U. S. Navy, has been stationed in Pearl Harbor for the past two years while his brother, Seaman John LeCara, right, will arrive home September 1st for his first leave, since enlisting three months ago. Sam and John are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Sam LeCara of this city.

Payee Is Changed On War Insurance

All checks for premium payments on Government life insurance either USGLI or NSLI, should now be made payable to the "Veterans Administration" rather than to the Treasurer of the United States, today announced H. B. McClendon, parish veterans' service officer.

The service officer pointed out that the arrangement to have premiums made payable to the "Veterans Administration" recently had been made with the Treasurer in the interest of simplification, both for veterans and the Veterans Administration.

Kruger National Park in South Africa has an estimated 500,000 game animals.

OPENS AT PARAMOUNT

Shown above is an artist's conception of one of the tender love scenes from Jean Renoir's Technicolor film of life along the banks of a famous river in India, where a visiting American brings love to three English girls. This scene from "The River" which will open a popular engagement today at the Paramount Theatre, shows Tom Breen and Adrienne Corri. Kenneth McEldowney filmed the United Artists release in India. Jean Renoir directed and adapted Rumer Godden's novel to the screen.

ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAM OF WEST CARROLL PARISH

Typing students of the adult education program are shown busily engaged in actual practice. Mrs. J. D. Sanford, instructor, reported that 12 students were enrolled in the typing course, which is only one of the commerce courses being taught.

Officials of the adult education program are shown above examining a chair which students of the class are in process of remaking. Reading left to right are D. W. McBride, principal of Oak Grove High School, C. C. Ferguson, co-ordinator of the Ouachita Vocational School, S. W. Jackson, director of the Ouachita Vocational School, and A. Larriviere, executive assistant of the vocational education program for the state department of education.

Two students of the welding class are shown welding together two pieces of iron. Instructors state that the actual experience which students gain in the classes has unlimited value when seeking positions after completion of their courses.

Adult Vocational Education At Oak Grove High School Surveyed

Program Far Surpasses Expectations At End Of First Year

A survey was conducted last week of the adult vocational education program at Oak Grove High School, one of two schools used as an experiment for the program by the Louisiana state department of education.

A Larriviere executive assistant of vocational education for the department, reported that at the completion of a one-year trial period the program in West Caroll parish had far surpassed the set goal.

D. W. McBride, principal of Oak Grove High School, who also is in charge of the adult education program, has devoted a large part of his time to the program and officials state that the program is a success largely due to his efforts.

The classes conducted at the high school, which run through an eight week basis, are under the direction of the Ouachita Valley Vocational School. Classes which are held in the evening are classified as trade extension courses with instructors being furnished by the vocational school.

The 1950 Legislature appropriated $25,000 for development of the adult education field. The 1952 Legislature appropriated $100,000 for the program. At the present time the only two schools in the state conducting the program are Oak Grove and Epps. The two schools were picked for the experiment due to the location of the parishes and the need found within their boundries for adult education.

The motto of the school is "learning by doing." This motto is carried throughout all courses and students are given every opportunity for practical experience. The program for adult education also helps people become more employable, reported officials.

Principal McBride stated that results of the program were already in effect in his parish and stated that citizens of the community were becoming more interested in progress as the school expanded. "The program gives adults, who in their youth did not have the opportunity for education, a means to become qualified for different positions and also to earn a better living wage for their families."

The enrollment at Oak Grove Higs School is 234 students. The students enrolled in the various courses are as follows: four classes of welding, total of 58 students; two commerce classes, typing bookkeeping and shorthand, 66; one refrigeration class, 16; one small engines course, 12; two farm mechanics classes, 31; two upholstering classes, 19; one class of dramatics, 22; one home nursing course, 10.

After the opening of the high school in the fall the adult education program will continue without interruption with classes being conducted after regular school hours.

The state department of education is planning an expansion of the program at an early date due to the large success of the two schools where the experiment has been held.

The advancement of the adult education program will give every adult an opportunity to better qualify himself for a position.

TWO BROTHERS IN U. S. NAVY

Sam LaCara, Jr., Supply Officer in the U. S. Navy, has been stationed in Pearl Harbor for the past two years while his brother, Seaman John LaCara, right, will arrive home September 1st for his first leave, since enlisting three months ago. Sam and John are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Sam LaCara of this city.

Payee Is Changed On War Insurance

All checks for premium payments on Government life insurance either USGLI or NSLI, should now be made payable to the "Veterans Administration" rather than to the Treasurer of the United States, today announced H. B. McClendon, parish veterans' service officer.

The service officer pointed out that the arrangement to have premiums made payable to the "Veterans Administration" recently had been made with the Treasurer in the interest of simplification, both for veterans and the Veterans Administration.

Kruger National Park in South Africa has an estimated 500,000 game animals.

OPENS AT PARAMOUNT

Shown above is an artist's conception of one of the tender love scenes from Jean Renoir's Technicolor film of life along the banks of a famous river in India, where a visiting American brings love to three English girls. This scene from "The River" which will open a popular engagement today at the Paramount Theatre, shows Tom Breen and Adrienne Corri. Kenneth McEldowney filmed the United Artists release in India. Jean Renoir directed and adapted Rumer Godden's novel to the screen.

Jesus is our authority in religion. About all the things of which he spoke he spoke truly. The world has taken him at his word, and all he said about goodness, greatness, character, religious service, the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. We are only striving to grow up to his levels. Not one word he said is antiquated; not one truth is outgrown; not one promise has failed. Trusting him and proving him right in all beside, shall I not trust him in this question of eternal life?

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson - Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 17, 1952.

The Golden Text is: "I have longed for thy salvation, O Lord; and thy law is my delight. Let my soul live, and it shall praise thee; and let thy judgments help me" (Ps. 119:174, 175).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon" (Matt. 6:24).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If we have triumphed sufficiently over the errors of material sense to allow Soul to hold the control, we shall loathe sin and rebuke it under every mask" (p. 30).

As the gospel is a principle that emanates from God, like its author it is "the same yesterday, today, and for ever." — eternal and unchangeable. God ordained it before the morning stars sang together for joy or ere this world rolled into existence, for the salvation of the human race. It has been in the mind of God, and as often as developed, it has been manifested as an eternal, unchangeable, undeviating plan by which to save, bless, exalt, and dignify man, and to accomplish this end by one certain, unalterable method of salvation, regardless of how the individual or the religious group interprets the scriptures, this original plan remains the same — unchanged and eternal!

Bible Comment
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The story of King Saul, first King of Israel, is not just the tragedy of an ancient king.

It is a story that has been re-enacted again and again in the history of both kings and commoners, and the cause has been their lack of self-discipline.

The evidence in Saul's case, especially in his actions toward David, would seem to suggest that Saul had gone mad; but if so, it would also seem that that madness developed out of a jealousy that Saul could have controlled, if he had exercised determined self-discipline.

The Bible has its rich account of wise and great women, but if one wanted an example of foolish and thoughtless women, it might surely be in those women, who hailed young David from his giant-killing, with their silly song, "Saul hath slain his thousands, And David his ten thousand."

Praise of David was worthy, but why should it have been necessary to humiliate a King and warrior, who had been chosen to be a military leader of his people? The song struck in his humiliation at Saul's weakness, and aroused that jealousy that became his undoing.

The average man might well have reacted similarly in such a situation. But how differently a great-souled, magnanimous man, like Abraham Lincoln, would have reacted!

With the greatness of Lincoln now universally acknowledged, we are apt to forget the savageness of the attacks of his enemeies in presidential days, and the humiliating condescension, sometimes amounting almost to scorn, with which some of his associates regarded him.

He refused to be humiliated. No trace of smallness or jealousy marred his character and career

If Lincoln had been in Saul's place, he would have joined in the acclaim of the young David, and have gone about his kingly tasks and duties as if nothing had happened.

Saul, himself, in fact had shown greater strength and wisdom, when, at the outset of his kingship, opposed by "men of Belial," he had held his peace.

So, the story of Saul presents a great warning, just as the story of Lincoln presents a positive example of guidance in avoiding the pitfall of jealousy.

There are circumstances in life under which we cannot help "feeling sore," and often our resentment may have very just cause. Not only do we often fail to get our proper deserts, but we are fortunate if we are not the object of unfair, humiliating criticism, and disparagement.

Our Chidren

Nancy loved animals with an enduring love. From the age of three ,when she clasped a kitten to her breast, until now, at the time when she must choose her career, animals meant more than any other form of life to her. "I'm going to be a veterinarian," she announced. "I want to help the hurt and sick animals."

The family was shocked. They had suffered the pets, endured the presence of sore-eyed cats, lame dogs, birds with broken wings or legs about the place, but this was too much. "Tending sick cows and horses? Messing with mangy dogs and flea-y cats? Nancy, you make me sick, really sick. You can't mean it."

"But I do mean it. Please let me have my way. There is nothing I want to do so much. I love animals and I'm happiest when I am tending them when they are sick or playing with them when they are well."

"Couldn't you compromise and shed some of this affection on ailing human beings, children for instance?"

"There are lots of people attending to human beings, and there are better pediatricians than I could ever hope to be. But there are not so many people who want to attend to animals. I want to and that is what counts."

"Whoever heard of a woman veterinarian? What farmer will call on a woman for help when his cow has trouble in calving?"

So Nancy went her disapproved way and is about ready to hang out her shingle. Her mother said, "You'll never be married. Nobody will want to marry a woman vet. You'll see."

Nancy is engaged to a young veterinarian and they plan to share an office and a home as soon as possible. Nancy is very happy about it all, and, I imagine, so will be the kittens and cats and dogs and horses and the cows.

Today there is no field in which a woman cannot function as well as a man. Be the job what it may, there is a woman fit and able for it if called upon. When a girl announces that she wants to be an engineer, a physician, a farmer, a painter, a scientist, don't faint. The probabilities are that he knows what she can do better than anybody else can know. Help her on her way.

The modern home allows time for outside service and modern girls have the minds, the bodies and the characters that enable them to take home and careers in their strides. More power to them.

A HAPPY NOTE OR TWO
By J. PAUL HEWITT

"Dierest, dhe nait is passin uneith dhe trembling mun. Harc! Hau dhe vind araiseth. Morn vil be iar so sun. Tel me aghein iu lov mi. Kiss mi on lips end brau!" . . . This was written on a scrap of paper . . . and the paper is now a museum item . . . Wondering what it's all about? The writer of the above quotation was none other than the famed ENRICO CARUSO . . . and this was his way of learning an English song. It was the phonetic translation to Italian . . .

The paper was found in some mysterious crates, recently sent from Italy to Caruso's window. . . The crates were filled with a hoard of "Carusian" items . . . opera costumes . . . letters, photographs albums showing the great man strutting down the Atlantic Boardwalk . . or play acting on the steps of some Mexican villa . . . always acting the masquerader, the clown . . . No wonder he captured such a world-wide audience, for besides possessing the remarkable tenor voice, he had an overflowing love of life . . . and everywhere he persuaded people to laugh with him . . .

Why not learn to love the great opera arias, overtures and other highlights by playing them yourself? We have a top-notch selection of piano rentals, guaranteed for the finest service . . . and can be renting, what piano . . . best suited to your needs. . . . always glad to serve you . . . ## Bible Words to Live by

PHILIPPIANS 4:19 —"But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

I choose that for the following reasons:

This verse commends to the reader the only Saviour who is adequate to meet every need of any individual. It is adequate to meet needs as varied as human experiences. It is the verse that gives unlimited assurance to troubled minds and burdened hearts, and if accepted and appropriated it can empower anyone to translate any human experience into a gloriously triumphant event. It is the verse that gives to the triumphant heart the incentive to praise and recognize Him who is all things to all men.

Jesus is our authority in religion. About all the things of which he spoke he spoke truly. The world has taken him at his word, and all he said about goodness, greatness, character, religious service, the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. We are only striving to grow up to his levels. Not one word he said is antiquated; not one truth is outgrown; not one promise has failed. Trusting him and proving him right in all beside, shall I not trust him in this question of eternal life?

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson - Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 17, 1952.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon" (Matt. 6:24).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If we have triumphed sufficiently over the errors of material sense to allow Soul to hold the control, we shall loathe sin and rebuke it under every mask" (p. 30).

As the gospel is a principle that emanates from God, like its author it is "the same yesterday, today, and for ever." — eternal and unchangeable. God ordained it before the morning stars sang together for joy or ere this world rolled into existence, for the salvation of the human race. It has been in the mind of God, and as often as developed, it has been manifested as an eternal, unchangeable, undeviating plan by which to save, bless, exalt, and dignify man, and to accomplish this end by one certain, unalterable method of salvation. Regardless of how the individual or the religious group interprets the scriptures, this original plan remains the same — unchanged and eternal!

Bible Comment
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The story of King Saul, first King of Israel, is not just the tragedy of an ancient king.

It is a story that has been re-enacted again and again in the history of both kings and commoners, and the cause has been their lack of self-discipline.

The evidence in Saul's case, especially in his actions toward David, would seem to suggest that Saul had gone mad; but if so, it would also seem that that madness developed out of a jealousy that Saul could have controlled, if he had exercised determined self-discipline.

The Bible has its rich account of wise and great women, but if one wanted an example of foolish and thoughtless women, it might surely be in those women, who hailed young David from his giant-killing, with their silly song, "Saul hath slain his thousands, And David his ten thousand."

Praise of David was worthy, but why should it have been necessary to humiliate a King and warrior, who had been chosen to be a military leader of his people? The song struck in his humiliation at Saul's weakness, and aroused that jealousy that became his undoing.

The average man might well have reacted similarly in such a situation. But how differently a great-souled, magnanimous man, like Abraham Lincoln, would have reacted!

With the greatness of Lincoln now universally acknowledged, we are apt to forget the savageness of the attacks of his enemeies in presidential days, and the humiliating condescension, sometimes amounting almost to scorn, with which some of his associates regarded him.

He refused to be humiliated. No trace of smallness or jealousy marred his character and career

If Lincoln had been in Saul's place, he would have joined in the acclaim of the young David, and have gone about his kingly tasks and duties as if nothing had happened.

Saul, himself, in fact had shown greater strength and wisdom, when, at the outset of his kingship, opposed by "men of Belial," he had held his peace.

So, the story of Saul presents a great warning, just as the story of Lincoln presents a positive example of guidance in avoiding the pitfall of jealousy.

There are circumstances in life under which we cannot help "feeling sore," and often our resentment may have very just cause. Not only do we often fail to get our proper deserts, but we are fortunate if we are not the object of unfair, humiliating criticism, and disparagement.

Our Chidren

Nancy loved animals with an enduring love. From the age of three ,when she clasped a kitten to her breast, until now, at the time when she must choose her career, animals meant more than any other form of life to her. "I'm going to be a veterinarian," she announced. "I want to help the hurt and sick animals."

The family was shocked. They had suffered the pets, endured the presence of sore-eyed cats, lame dogs, birds with broken wings or legs about the place, but this was too much. "Tending sick cows and horses? Messing with mangy dogs and flea-y cats? Nancy, you make me sick, really sick. You can't mean it."

"But I do mean it. Please let me have my way. There is nothing I want to do so much. I love animals and I'm happiest when I am tending them when they are sick or playing with them when they are well."

"Couldn't you compromise and shed some of this affection on ailing human beings, children for instance?"

"There are lots of people attending to human beings, and there are better pediatricians than I could ever hope to be. But there are not so many people who want to attend to animals. I want to and that is what counts."

"Whoever heard of a woman veterinarian? What farmer will call on a woman for help when his cow has trouble in calving?"

So Nancy went her disapproved way and is about ready to hang out her shingle. Her mother said, "You'll never be married. Nobody will want to marry a woman vet. You'll see."

Nancy is engaged to a young veterinarian and they plan to share an office and a home as soon as possible. Nancy is very happy about it all, and, I imagine, so will be the kittens and cats and dogs and horses and the cows.

Today there is no field in which a woman cannot function as well as a man. Be the job what it may, there is a woman fit and able for it if called upon. When a girl announces that she wants to be an engineer, a physician, a farmer, a painter, a scientist, don't faint. The probabilities are that he knows what she can do better than anybody else can know. Help her on her way.

The modern home allows time for outside service and modern girls have the minds, the bodies and the characters that enable them to take home and careers in their strides. More power to them.

A HAPPY NOTE OR TWO

By J. PAUL HEWITT

"Dierest, d h e nait is passin uneith dhe trembling mun. Harc! Hau dhe vind araiseth. Morn vil be iar so sun. Tel me aghein iu lov mi. Kiss mi on lips end brau!" . . . This was written on a scrap of paper . . . and the paper is now a museum item . . . Wondering what it's all about? The writer of the above quotation was none other than the famed ENRICO CARUSO . . . and this was his way of learning an English song. It was the phonetic translation to Italian . . .

The paper was found in some mysterious crates, recently sent from Italy to Caruso's window. . . The crates were filled with a hoard of "Carusian" items . . . opera costumes . . . letters, photographs albums showing the great man strutting down the Atlantic Boardwalk . . or play acting on the steps of some Mexican villa . . . always acting the masquerader, the clown . . . No wonder he captured such a world-wide audience, for besides possessing the remarkable tenor voice, he had an overflowing love of life . . . and everywhere he persuaded people to laugh with him . . .

Why not learn to love the great opera arias, overtures and other highlights by playing them yourself? We have a top-notch selection of piano rentals, guaranteed for the finest service . . . ## Bible Words to Live by

PHILIPPIANS 4:19 —"But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

I choose that for the following reasons:

This verse commends to the reader the only Saviour who is adequate to meet every need of any individual. It is adequate to meet needs as varied as human experiences. It is the verse that gives unlimited assurance to troubled minds and burdened hearts, and if accepted and appropriated it can empower anyone to translate any human experience into a gloriously triumphant event. It is the verse that gives to the triumphant heart the incentive to praise and recognize Him who is all things to all men.

Portrait of a Soul

Did You Think A Soul Was Invisible?

Did you ever suspect that it was a theological concept that only ministers could understand?

Well, look into this baby's eyes . . . do you see happiness . . . the certainty of beauty and truth that is unchanged by the things of this world? Do you see hope . . . the assurance of every tomorrow will be better than every today? Do you see courage . . . the fortitude that will look through defeat to victory? Do you see faith . . . the confidence that God hears, and knows, and cares, and helps?

You're looking into a soul. You're seeing the spark of Himself which God has put into every one of us. And more, you're seeing it still unblemished by the cares and disappointments of life.

You can see a soul through your own child's eyes. But unless you give that soul a chance to grow up with the body and mind that possess it . . . soon you'll no longer see it in your child's eyes . . . and perhaps, someday, you'll no longer see it in his life.

The Church, through careful religious education, develops that spiritual inner-being which we call the soul . . . Your child deserves the advantage of the Church's instruction. And in church worship you will rediscover the beauty and strength of your own soul. Your child is entitled to a religious background and education. His character, while on earth depends largely on what he learns in his early years. And what lies at the end of the journey after his life on earth is finished? That too depends on his early training . . . AND YOU, TO A LARGE DEGREE, WILL BE HELD RESPONSIBLE AS TO WHERE THIS SOUL SPENDS ETERNITY. Give your child a fair chance . . . come with him to Sunday school and Church.

Portrait of a Soul

Did You Think A Soul Was Invisible?

Did you ever suspect that it was a theological concept that only ministers could understand?

Well, look into this baby's eyes . . . do you see happiness . . . the certainty of beauty and truth that is unchanged by the things of this world? Do you see hope . . . the assurance of every tomorrow will be better than every today? Do you see courage . . . the fortitude that will look through defeat to victory? Do you see faith . . . the confidence that God hears, and knows, and cares, and helps?

You're looking into a soul. You're seeing the spark of Himself which God has put into every one of us. And more, you're seeing it still unblemished by the cares and disappointments of life.

You can see a soul through your own child's eyes. But unless you give that soul a chance to grow up with the body and mind that possess it . . . soon you'll no longer see it in your child's eyes . . . and perhaps, someday, you'll no longer see it in his life.

The Church, through careful religious education, develops that spiritual inner-being which we call the soul . . . Your child deserves the advantage of the Church's instruction. And in church worship you will rediscover the beauty and strength of your own soul. Your child is entitled to a religious background and education. His character, while on earth depends largely on what he learns in his early years. And what lies at the end of the journey after his life on earth is finished? That too depends on his early training . . . AND YOU, TO A LARGE DEGREE, WILL BE HELD RESPONSIBLE AS TO WHERE THIS SOUL SPENDS ETERNITY. Give your child a fair chance . . . come with him to Sunday school and Church.

POLIO VICTIM SHARES BOOK

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married five years and have three small children. During this time he has gradually battered my love into an unrecognizable pulp through his being so totally selfish. He seems to delight in tormenting everyone who cares for him.

For instance, he will suggest we go to the show and then, when I have everyone ready, he sits around not doing anything until we're so disgusted we don't care whether we go or not.

At mealtime, I call him when dinner is ready, then he fiddles around until the food is cold before he comes to the table. Now the children and I go ahead and eat without waiting for him. He is the same outside the family and, while I have learned to live with him, I don't think it is a good hom. life for the children.

He has never helped me with the youngsters. He is very hard on them. He beat the older boy once, and I have caught him squeezing their heads, pulling their hair, twisting their arms and things of that sort.

I keep telling myself one marries for better or worse, and no marriage is perfect, but is this carrying things to extremes? I still love my husband, but feel as if it will never be a normal love.

MRS. R. C.

ANSWER: You have shown remarkable patience in dealing with your husband, but I'm afraid his case is not one that will yield to that sort of treatment. His petty, tyrannical treatment of you would be cause enough for concern but remedies might be found for it. However, his cruelty to his own children indicates an aberration so sadistic that skilled medical or psychiatric treatment is indicated. In his present condition, the youngsters aren't even safe with him, and serious physical injury may result if your household continues under these circumstances.

YOUNGSTERS IN DANGER

Your sincere efforts to maintain your home are commendable, but a separation will certainly be necessary if your husband continues to mistreat the children. Their physical danger is acute, and the mental conflicts that can result when babies of such tender age are abused by their own father are not to be risked.

Your husband is apparently a person of extreme possessiveness, and has been irked by the fact that three small children take up most of your time and attention, leaving him with somewhat less than the lion's share—to which he feels he is entitled. A normal husband and father, loving his wife and children, accepts these changes in domestic situations as they come along, realizing that his wife has enough love to cover her entire family. A neurotic mind, such as your husband's, can never accept a situation in which anyone usurps to the least degree the homage to which he has been accustomed.

His temperamental sulkiness as exhibited by failure to be ready on time, or come to meals when called, have been handled admirably. You could go further along these lines. After waiting a reasonable time for him to take you out, go ahead without him; sit down to dinner with the children and when you have finished, clear the food and put it away. However, these are minor matters compared to the cruelty towards the youngsters. This is your big headache, and the one that should send you scurrying for expert personal advice. A family counselor, trusted doctor or recommended psychiatrist should be consulted. Even though you hate to burden your own family with these troubles, the situation is of such seriousness that their help should be invoked, if you feel it will aid you in this trouble. I do sincerely hope you can find the assistance you need.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a young married woman who has a good husband and a lovely 4-year-old daughter. I thought I was contented with everything, until I went to work and fell in love with a young man there. I know he loves me. We have been seeing each other secretly for two months and he says I must choose between my husband and him. I don't want to hurt my husband but I just can't give up the other man.

CORA

ANSWER: There is no question of can or can't. You absolutely must give this man up—he will do nothing for you but wreck your home and the happiness you have with your little family. The overwhelming chances are that if you leave your husband he won't marry you anyway. A man who is so unprincipled as to make love to a married woman is a very, very poor risk for a future. Lucky you to have a fine husband and good home. Give up the outside work and stay with your daughter, but above all, give up your foolish, romantic notions.

DEAR MISS DIX: Within the next few months I shall be married, but I have one worry. I am getting tired of hearing my fiance talk about his mother and father so much. As we will be living near them, do you think this attitude will make for a happy married life for us? I am 17.

TROUBLED

ANSWER: You are far too young to marry, or to have any conception of the obligations you will assume as a wife. One of them is consideration for your in-laws and, since you are already annoyed with your fiance because he talks of them to you, you face a very sorry mess of a marriage. The only topic of conversation that would probably interest you is you! And at 17 that is understandable. Better wait awhile until your toleration quotient is ready to include more of the world than yourself.

If your domestic problems hinge on money, Dorothy Dix's leaflet D-12, "Financial Trouble," is for you. To obtain a copy, send a 5-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Dix, c/o this newspaper.

BLACKWOOD BROTHERS QUARTET

FARMERVILLE MAN RECEIVES NAVY WINGS

Ensign Durwood R. Grafton, son of Mr. and Mrs William A. Grafton of Farmerville, recently completed his flight training and was designated a naval aviator. He was awarded his commission by Rear Admiral J. P. Whitney, USN, chief of the naval air station at Pensacola, Florida.

Ensign Grafton attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute before entering the Naval Aviation Cadet program through the Naval Air Station at New Orleans. He began his active flight training in February of 1951, when he reported to the U. S. Naval School of preflight at NAS, Pensacola, Florida, where he completed a strenuous schedule in military, academic and physical training. From preflight, he was advanced to basic training, which consisted of primary, aerobatics, instruments, gunnery and tactics, and was climaxed by six take-offs and landings in his SNJ "Texan" trainer aboard the aircraft carrier USS Cabot.

He was then sent to advanced training at Corpus Christi, Texas, for a four month syllabus in combat type aircraft. After this, he returned to Pensacola to qualify aboard the USS Cabot in his combat type aircraft before receiving his wings.

Ensign Grafton has been ordered to report to the Helicopter Training Unit, at Ellyson Field near Pensacola, where he will receive training in the helicopter type aircraft.

UNITED STATES POLL

By Princeton Research Service, Kenneth Fink, Director

(Following is a poll on the race for president of the United States which will be a regular feature in the Monroe Morning World until November 3, the day before the general elections.)

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 16. — The relative strength now of the two major presidential candidates, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson, is indicated in the first "trial heat" survey, just completed by the United States Poll among the nation's voters.

When Princeton Research Service reporters personally asked a representative sample of the nation's voters for the United States Poll: "Right now, which of the two candidates — Stevenson, the Democrat, or Eisenhower, the Republican — do you personally favor for president?", the vote was:

Nationwide

Stevenson, 44 per cent
No opinion, 8 per cent.

All those who voted "No opinion" on the question were then asked: "Well, if you had to decide right now, which of the two would you rather see win — the Republican candidate Eisenhower or the Democratic candidate Stevenson?"

Those who now expressed opinions divided evenly between the two candidates, with 2 per cent of the total still refusing to indicate a choice. The combined result:

Nationwide

Eisenhower, 51 per cent
Stevenson, 47 per cent
No opinion, 2 per cent

Three factors should be kept in mind in interpreting today's figures:

1. Today's survey results represent current sentiment and in no way are indicative of how the country might vote in November.

2. General Eisenhower is far better known to American voters at the present time than is Governor Stevenson. Princeton Research Service's experience in past election forecasts shows that the lesser known candidate tends to come up in popularity as his name becomes better known and voters become acquainted with his views and record.

3. Today's survey results give every indication that this year's presidential election should be a real horse race. The difference between Eisenhower and Stevenson in today's survey is only 4 per cent. All sampling surveys are subject to a margin of error, which in the case of the Princeton Research Service has averaged less than three percentage points.

Princeton Research Service's United States Poll will continue to follow shifts in voter preferences, reporting on election events and showing changes as they occur right up to election day.

Princeton Research Service holds a perfect record for published pre-election forecasts. It has a batting average of 1,000. It has never been wrong.

A new United States Poll report will appear in the Morning World on Wednesday.

SERVICEMAN'S PARENTS MAY RECEIVE AID

In order to qualify for a dependency allowance, which provides a substantial increase in a serviceman's pay, a parent must be more than 50 per cent dependent upon the son in service, H. B. McClendon, parish service officer, said today.

Mr. McClendon stated the dependency of the parent need not actually exist at the time the serviceman enters the Armed Forces, "It may rise at any time after entry into service," he said.

In determining whether more than 50 per cent dependency exists, the merits of each individual case are minutely examined by the proper officials of the military or naval service department concerned. As an example of how the new family allowances for dependent parents of men in service is operated, Mr. McClendon explained that a serviceman's father may die many months after the son enters service. Until that time, the son may not have been contributing any money at all to his mother's support. The father leaves his widow only partially provided for and there is need of financial support from the son in service. A fine point immediately arises as to whether the widowed mother will receive half her support from whatever funds are left by her late husband, or whether the son will now need to contribute more than 50 per cent to her support. In such a case the pay office of the service department must determine the mother's recognized standard of living, and whether or not her available support is sufficient to cover half or more of her normal expenses. Thus, the fact that the serviceman's father dies does not automatically entitle the son to claim his mother as a dependent for famliy allotment purposes. Each case must be decided upon the evidence submitted to the service department.

The service officer explained that there is no specified period of time during which dependency needs to arise in order to qualify one for the dependency allotment. But as soon as dependency of more than 50 per cent does exist, the serviceman should file application on behalf of his dependent.

Mr. McClendon invited interested persons to contact his department of veterans' affairs office located in Room 204 Uarish Courthouse, Monroe, Louisiana, for advice and assistance in submitting evidence in support of applications for dependency allotments.

THREE QUARTETS TO APPEAR HERE

Blackwoods, Statesmen And Le Fevre Groups Coming Tuesday

The Blackwood Brothers Quartet, known as America's favorite singers of gospel songs, hymns and spirituals will appear in person at Legion Memorial Stadium on August 19.

The Blackwood Brothers are in their 15th year of daily radio broadcasts and are now being heard on 110 radio stations from coast to coast with headquarters in Memphis, Tenn. Their many personal appearances take them all over the United States. In 1950 they appeared in 30 states, traveling 110,000 miles. They are greeted by packed houses everywhere they go with an average of 300,000 attending their personal appearances each year.

The accompanist, only 20 years of age, is known as one of the most outstanding pianists in the gospel field. The high tenor, singing half an octave above high C is a sensation. The bass, known as the smoothest low bass in America, together with record tenor and baritone singers unexcelled in their fields add up to what thousands rate as the number one quartet of the nation.

Also appearing with the Blackwood Brothers Quartet will be the sensational Statesmen's Quartet from Atlanta, Ga., with Hovie Lister and the famous Le Fevre quartet with little Troy Lumpkin in their first appearance here. All three groups will sing for four full hours in a battle of hymns, gospel and spiritual songs. The program will begin at 8 o'clock and run till 12 midnight.

Preacher Desires Strong Language

Strong language is reported to have its compensating benefits upon rare occasions, and it is understood that Rev. Jaroy Weber could verify this.

It seems that on a recent fishing expedition, the Reverend Weber flew to his destination and instructed the pilot to return the following day at a particular time, and in the meantime, Weber fished and frolicked as preachers sometimes do.

One of his companions on the fishing expedition, unaware that Reverend Weber was a minister and having in mind only good companionship was not particularly careful in the use of the English language, and in the presence of the pastor, used considerable invective with an explective thrown in now and then.

The following day, when the pilot failed to put in his appearance on schedule, and caused the pastor to wait beside a lonely air strip in the jungles of the hunting island, the preacher was heard to remark, "I certainly wish our strong language friend was here now."

"Why?" inquired his companion.

"Because, he could tell this pilot, just what I think about his being so late," said the pastor with an air of satisfaction.

The first compulsory pasteurization milk law was enacted in 1908 in Chicago.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married five years and have three small children. During this time he has gradually battered my love into an unrecognizable pulp through his being so totally selfish. He seems to delight in tormenting everyone who cares for him.

For instance, he will suggest we go to the show and then, when I have everyone ready, he sits around not doing anything until we're so disgusted we don't care whether we go or not.

At mealtime, I call him when dinner is ready, then he fiddles around until the food is cold before he comes to the table. Now the children and I go ahead and eat without waiting for him. He is the same outside the family and, while I have learned to live with him, I don't think it is a good home life for the children.

He has never helped me with the youngsters. He is very hard on them. He beat the older boy once, and I have caught him squeezing their heads, pulling their hair, twisting their arms and things of that sort.

I keep telling myself one marries for better or worse, and no marriage is perfect, but is this carrying things to extremes? I still love my husband, but feel as if it will never be a normal love.

MRS. R. C.

ANSWER: You have shown remarkable patience in dealing with your husband, but I'm afraid his case is not one that will yield to that sort of treatment. His petty, tyrannical treatment of you would be cause enough for concern but remedies might be found for it. However, his cruelty to his own children indicates an aberration so sadistic that skilled medical or psychiatric treatment is indicated. In his present condition, the youngsters aren't even safe with him, and serious physical injury may result if your household continues under these circumstances.

YOUNGSTERS IN DANGER

Your sincere efforts to maintain your home are commendable, but a separation will certainly be necessary if your husband continues to mistreat the children. Their physical danger is acute, and the mental conflicts that can result when babies of such tender age are abused by their own father are not to be risked.

Your husband is apparently a person of extreme possessiveness, and has been irked by the fact that three small children take up most of your time and attention, leaving him with somewhat less than the lion's share—to which he feels he is entitled. A normal husband and father, loving his wife and children, accepts these changes in domestic situations as they come along, realizing that his wife has enough love to cover her entire family. A neurotic mind, such as your husband's, can never accept a situation in which anyone usurps to the least degree the homage to which he has been accustomed.

His temperamental sulkiness as exhibited by failure to be ready on time, or come to meals when called, have been handled admirably. You could go further along these lines. After waiting a reasonable time for him to take you out, go ahead without him; sit down to dinner with the children and when you have finished, clear the food and put it away. However, these are minor matters compared to the cruelty towards the youngsters. This is your big headache, and the one that should send you scurrying for expert personal advice. A family counselor, trusted doctor or recommended psychiatrist should be consulted. Even though you hate to burden your own family with these troubles, the situation is of such seriousness that their help should be invoked, if you feel it will aid you in this trouble. I do sincerely hope you can find the assistance you need.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a young married woman who has a good husband and a lovely 4-year-old daughter. I thought I was contented with everything, until I went to work and fell in love with a young man there. I know he loves me. We have been seeing each other secretly for two months and he says I must choose between my husband and him. I don't want to hurt my husband but I just can't give up the other man.

CORA

ANSWER: There is no question of can or can't. You absolutely must give this man up—he will do nothing for you but wreck your home and the happiness you have with your little family. The overwhelming chances are that if you leave your husband he won't marry you anyway. A man who is so unprincipled as to make love to a married woman is a very, very poor risk for a future. Lucky you to have a fine husband and good home. Give up the outside work and stay with your daughter, but above all, give up your foolish, romantic notions.

DEAR MISS DIX: Within the next few months I shall be married, but I have one worry. I am getting tired of hearing my fiance talk about his mother and father so much. As we will be living near them, do you think this attitude will make for a happy married life for us? I am 17.

TROUBLED

ANSWER: You are far too young to marry, or to have any conception of the obligations you will assume as a wife. One of them is consideration for your in-laws and, since you are already annoyed with your fiance because he talks of them to you, you face a very sorry mess of a marriage. The only topic of conversation that would probably interest you is you! And at 17 that is understandable. Better wait awhile until your toleration quotient is ready to include more of the world than yourself.

FARMERVILLE MAN RECEIVES NAVY WINGS

Ensign Durwood R. Grafton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Grafton of Farmerville, recently completed his flight training and was designated a naval aviator. He was awarded his commission by Rear Admiral J. P. Whitney, USN, chief of the naval air station at Pensacola, Florida.

Ensign Grafton attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute before entering the Naval Aviation Cadet program through the Naval Air Station at New Orleans. He began his active flight training in February of 1951, when he reported to the U. S. Naval School of preflight at NAS, Pensacola, Florida, where he completed a strenuous schedule in military, academic and physical training. From preflight, he was advanced to basic training, which consisted of primary, aerobatics, instruments, gunnery and tactics, and was climaxed by six take-offs and landings in his SNJ "Texan" trainer aboard the aircraft carrier USS Cabot.

He was then sent to advanced training at Corpus Christi, Texas, for a four month syllabus in combat type aircraft. After this, he returned to Pensacola to qualify aboard the USS Cabot in his combat type aircraft before receiving his wings.

Ensign Grafton has been ordered to report to the Helicopter Training Unit, at Ellyson Field near Pensacola, where he will receive training in the helicopter type aircraft.

UNITED STATES POLL

By Princeton Research Service, Kenneth Fink, Director

(Following is a poll on the race for president of the United States which will be a regular feature in the Monroe Morning World until November 3, the day before the general elections.)

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 16. — The relative strength now of the two major presidential candidates, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson, is indicated in the first "trial heat" survey, just completed by the United States Poll among the nation's voters.

When Princeton Research Service reporters personally asked a representative sample of the nation's voters for the United States Poll: "Right now, which of the two candidates — Stevenson, the Democrat, or Eisenhower, the Republican — do you personally favor for president?", the vote was:

Nationwide
Eisenhower, 48 per cent.
Stevenson, 44 per cent

No opinion, 8 per cent.

All those who voted "No opinion" on the question were then asked: "Well, if you had to decide right now, which of the two would you rather see win — the Republican candidate Eisenhower or the Democratic candidate Stevenson?"

Those who now expressed opinions divided evenly between the two candidates, with 2 per cent of the total still refusing to indicate a choice. The combined result:

Nationwide
Eisenhower, 51 per cent
Stevenson, 47 per cent
No opinion, 2 per cent

Three factors should be kept in mind in interpreting today's figures:

1. Today's survey results represent current sentiment and in no way are indicative of how the country might vote in November.

2. General Eisenhower is far better known to American voters at the present time than is Governor Stevenson. Princeton Research Service's experience in past election forecasts shows that the lesser known candidate tends to come up in popularity as his name becomes better known and voters become acquainted with his views and record.

3. Today's survey results give every indication that this year's presidential election should be a real horse race. The difference between Eisenhower and Stevenson in today's survey is only 4 per cent. All sampling surveys are subject to a margin of error, which in the case of the Princeton Research Service has averaged less than three percentage points.

Princeton Research Service's United States Poll will continue to follow shifts in voter preferences, reporting on election events and showing changes as they occur right up to election day.

Princeton Research Service holds a perfect record for published pre-election forecasts. It has a batting average of 1,000. It has never been wrong.

SERVICEMAN'S PARENTS MAY RECEIVE AID

In order to qualify for a dependency allowance, which provides a substantial increase in a serviceman's pay, a parent must be more than 50 per cent dependent upon the son in service, H. B. McClendon, parish service officer, said today.

Mr. McClendon stated the dependency of the parent need not actually exist at the time the serviceman enters the Armed Forces, "It may rise at any time after entry into service," he said.

In determining whether more than 50 per cent dependency exists, the merits of each individual case are minutely examined by the proper officials of the military or naval service department concerned. As an example of how the new family allowances for dependent parents of men in service is operated, Mr. McClendon explained that a serviceman's father may die many months after the son enters service. Until that time, the son may not have been contributing any money at all to his mother's support. The father leaves his widow only partially provided for and there is need of financial support from the son in service. A fine point immediately arises as to whether the widowed mother will receive half her support from whatever funds are left by her late husband, or whether the son will now need to contribute more than 50 per cent to her support. In such a case the pay office of the service department must determine the mother's recognized standard of living, and whether or not her available support is sufficient to cover half or more of her normal expenses. Thus, the fact that the serviceman's father dies does not automatically entitle the son to claim his mother as a dependent for famliy allotment purposes. Each case must be decided upon the evidence submitted to the service department.

The service officer explained that there is no specified period of time during which dependency needs to arise in order to qualify one for the dependency allotment. But as soon as dependency of more than 50 per cent does exist, the serviceman should file application on behalf of his dependent.

Mr. McClendon invited interested persons to contact his department of veterans' affairs office located in Room 204 Uarish Courthouse, Monroe, Louisiana, for advice and assistance in submitting evidence in support of applications for dependency allotments.

YOUNG MONROE DESIGNER

SKILL SHOWN IN DESIGNING

Charles Allen Of Monroe Is Rapidly Gaining Distinction

Charles Allen, who is rapidly gaining recognition as one of our outstanding young designers, is responsible for creating the contemporary "Yucatan Collection" made by Regil de Yucatan.

Allen, who hails from Monroe, studied interior architecture and design at the Franklin School, New York, after two years in the army, and then joined the decorating staff of Friend - Piper in Shreveport. Following that, he spent two years as designer at Hemenway, New Orleans. While he was there, he also executed a sixty-foot, semi - abstract mural for the Claiborne Towers, the largest apartment building in New Orleans, and another one for the Roosevelt Hotel.

A staunch member of the contemporary school of design, Allen firmly believes that the honest use of materials with no distortions creates the type of furniture that is right for today's architecture and our way of living. He prefers natural finishes to stains or bleaches — thinks the latter are abortive. In designing furniture, he emphasizes comfort, function, and structure as an integral part of the appearance.

"Function and structure should never be concealed," Allen states. This is evident in the fact that all the joints in his frames are exposed and become an important part of the design.

Fine craftsmanship being of all-importance to Allen, he is extremely happy to be working in Yucatan where skilled craftsmen do all of the work by hand. For this reason, the pieces in the "Yucatan Collection" which are designed around the native woods and materials such as mahogany, rare Yucatan hardwoods, and sisal, have a fineness of detail that can only be accomplished by hand.

Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Allen, Whites Ferry Road, West Monroe. He, also has two sisters residing in West Monroe, Mrs. Lewis Lee and Mrs. Ted Woods.

YOUNG MONROE DESIGNER

SKILL SHOWN IN DESIGNING

Charles Allen Of Monroe Is Rapidly Gaining Distinction

Charles Allen, who is rapidly gaining recognition as one of our outstanding young designers, is responsible for creating the contemporary "Yucatan Collection" made by Regil de Yucatan.

Allen, who hails from Monroe, studied interior architecture and design at the Franklin School, New York, after two years in the army, and then joined the decorating staff of Friend - Piper in Shreveport. Following that, he spent two years as designer at Hemenway, New Orleans. While he was there, he also executed a sixty-foot, semi - abstract mural for the Claiborne Towers, the largest apartment building in New Orleans, and another one for the Roosevelt Hotel.

A staunch member of the contemporary school of design, Allen firmly believes that the honest use of materials with no distortions creates the type of furniture that is right for today's architecture and our way of living. He prefers natural finishes to stains or bleaches — thinks the latter are abortive. In designing furniture, he emphasizes comfort, function, and structure as an integral part of the appearance.

"Function and structure should never be concealed," Allen states. This is evident in the fact that all the joints in his frames are exposed and become an important part of the design.

Fine craftsmanship being of all-importance to Allen, he is extremely happy to be working in Yucatan where skilled craftsmen do all of the work by hand. For this reason, the pieces in the "Yucatan Collection" which are designed around the native woods and materials such as mahogany, rare Yucatan hardwoods, and sisal, have a fineness of detail that can only be accomplished by hand.

Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Allen, Whites Ferry Road, West Monroe. He, also has two sisters residing in West Monroe, Mrs. Lewis Lee and Mrs. Ted Woods.

SMILIN' JACK

MADELINE, WHEN WE MET JACK HEADING UP THE RIVER, HE LOOKED AWFUL ANORY!

HE AND SABLE MUST HAVE HAD ANOTHER FUSS WITH TROUBLE-MAKIN' PANDORA!

YES...AND LATER WE SAW THAT LI'L WITCH, PANDORA, ALSO HEADING UP TH' RIVER... I'M WORRIED!

...BUT RIGHT NOW, WE'D BETTER WORRY ABOUT REACHIN' 4TH ST DOCK BEFORE DARK, UNCLE BERT!

WELL, I CAUGHT A NICE TARPON AND HAD TIME TO THINK THINGS OVER!

...I CAN'T BLAME SABLE FOR BEIN' UPSET ABOUT PANDORA!

STUPIDLY, I'VE LET PANDORA WORM HER WAY INTO OUR LIVES... BECAUSE I THOUGHT SHE WAS A FRIEND!

...BUT NOW, I CAN SEE SHE IS JUST A TROUBLE-MAKER!

...AND NOTHING MUST COME BETWEEN SABLE AND ME!

I'LL SELL OUR HOME...MOVE TO PUERTO RICO AND FINISH MY BOOK THERE...

... THEN, PANDORA WILL BE SO FAR AWAY SHE CAN'T INTERFERE

I LOOSENED AN IGNITION WIRE IN A SPOT THAT WILL BE HARD TO FIND!

OH! I HEAR AN OUTBOARD...IT MUST BE JACK! HELP! HELP!

HELP! HELP! I CAN'T GET MY ENGINE STARTED!

WHAT TH'? OH, IT'S YOU AGAIN, PANDORA!

JACK MULEY

OH, JACK! I HAD STARTED TARPON FISHING AND MY ENGINE QUIT!

OH...I'M SO AFRAID A MOCCASIN OR AN ALLIGATOR WILL GET ME!

OH, PLEASE, HURRY, JACK! IT'S GETTIN' SO DARK!

STEVE CANYON

WE'VE ACCOUNTED FOR EVERY AIRPLANE WITH A FLIGHT PLAN THAT WAS CAUGHT IN THE FREAK STORM! ANY MAVERICKS?

ONE CIVILIAN L-20! WE LOST RADIO CONTACT BEFORE I COULD GET A FIX ON HIS POSITION!...HE'S TOO LOW AND INLAND TO BE PICKED UP BY THE RADAR NETWORK!

ADMIT IT, YOU STUPID GREASE EATER—WE'RE LOST!

NOPE, MISTER...I KNOW PRETTY MUCH WHERE WE ARE—BUT WITH THE RADIO OUT WE CAN'T EVEN BE TALKED DOWN!

THIS AREA WAS OPEN WHEN WE TOOK OFF, BUT I CAN'T TOUCH DOWN UNLESS I CAN SEE THE WATER!

OTHERWISE WHAT?

WE WILL HAVE TO GO IN AND TAKE OUR CHANCES...

HA!HA! HA!

WHAT ARE YOU LAUGHING ABOUT?

LOOKS AS IF I'M GOING TO GET A WISH!—FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MY LIFE!...BEFORE WE TOOK OFF I WAS WISHING I WAS DEAD—AND IT SEEMS AS IF IT'S COMING TRUE!

VERY FUNNY!

DON'T BE UPSET, MISTER—ANYBODY AS SOUR ON THE WORLD AS YOU, IS MAYBE BETTER OFF DEAD...

WHY, YOU...

BETTER NOT HIT ME, POPS, I MIGHT BE REINCARNATED AS A RINGWORM AND MAKE TROUBLE FOR YOU PIGS!

ENGINE'S SPITTING! NOW DO AS I TELL YOU...

TIGHTEN AND LOCK YOUR SAFETY BELTS AND HARNESS... PULL THE DOOR JETTISON HANDLES SO YOU CAN GET OUT QUICKLY...HOLD ONTO YOUR SEAT CUSHIONS! IF WE COME DOWN ON WATER, THEY'RE LIFE PRESERVERS! WHY ARE YOU LAUGHING AGAIN, MISS?...

THIS MAKES IT CONSISTENT...MY SEAT CUSHION IS MISSING!
